

Snowstorms, zero cold zap parts of nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow from autumn storms piled up to a foot or more in the northern Rockies and the eastern Great Lakes region today, and zero cold added an extra sting to the weather in parts of the West.

Five inches of fresh snow fell before dawn in Montana and New York state. The snow pack reached 14 inches at Syracuse, N.Y., and 9 inches at Rome, N.Y.

In Montana, the accumulation reached 13 inches at Livingston, 12 at Great Falls and 9 at Missoula. Mullan, Idaho, had 10 inches.

Temperatures tumbled below zero across northern Montana hours before daybreak.

The wintry blast spread into North Dakota with light snow at Grand Forks, freezing drizzle at Bismarck and 2 inches of snow on the runways at Minot Air Force Base.

Rapid City, S.D., was whitened with a 3-inch snowfall and farther east at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 4 inches of snow piled up.

Some snow lingered in parts of Washington and Oregon.

Fair skies dominated the Southwest and Southeast, but drizzle and fog crept from the Texas and southern Louisiana coasts northward over Oklahoma and Kansas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -6 at Cut Bank, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

AP Political Writer

In Virginia, conservative Republican Mills E. Godwin Jr., once the state's Democratic governor, eked out a narrow victory over liberal Lt. Gov. Henry E. Howell Jr., running as an independent in a race with no Democratic candidate.

Elsewhere, however, Republicans won few important races in the scattered off-year balloting Tuesday, a year after President Nixon's re-election landslide.

One of the GOP's potential 1976 candidates, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, suffered a setback on a constitutional amendment proposal. His plan to limit future state spending and taxation trailed by more than 300,000 votes with 90 per cent of the ballots counted and Reagan conceded defeat for the plan.

"The Republican party has taken a smashing defeat across the nation," said Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. of New Jersey, who suffered one of the GOP's biggest setbacks in that state's gubernatorial race.

Democrat Brendan T. Byrne, a 49-year-old former judge and prosecutor, whipped Sandman by a margin of 2-to-1 and led his party to control of both houses of the state legislature for only the third time in the 20th Century.

Democratic State Sen. Joseph Merlino said the victory was a signal to the nation that voters will punish the Republican party until it decides to "dump" President Nixon.

Although Watergate was a campaign issue in few places, leaders of both parties saw its influence in the returns.

In Kentucky, Democratic Gov. Wendell Ford said the returns showed the scandal hurt all politicians "but it has hurt the Republicans the most." Democrats retained control of the state legislature as well as the mayor's office in Louisville, where 37-year-old physician Harvey Sloane won.

In Minneapolis, Democrat Al Hofstad, a 33-year-old former alderman, upset two-term independent Mayor Charles Stenvig. Mrs. Gladys Brooks, a Republican who finished a distant third, said it wasn't a Republican year. "A great deal of Watergate has carried over here," she added.

In Philadelphia, Democrat F. Emmett Fitzpatrick stunned two-term Republican Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter after a campaign in which a major issue was Specter's role as 1972 state campaign manager for President Nixon.

In New York City, diminutive Democrat Abraham D. Beame led a citywide party sweep as he captured the mayoralty held for the past eight years by John V. Lindsay. The 67-year-old Beame will be the city's first Jewish mayor.

In Detroit, state Sen. Coleman Young, one of Michigan's top Democrats, became the city's first black mayor. He defeated former police chief John Nichols in a non-partisan election.

Wholesale index dips as farm prices fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another sharp decline in the cost of farm products pushed wholesale prices down for the second straight month in October, the government said today in a report promising consumers some relief from high grocery bills.

But, despite the decline, the Labor Department's Wholesale Price Index report disclosed a still highly inflationary economy. Wholesale prices of industrial commodities, mainly higher prices for fuels, went up a sharp 1.1 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Wholesale prices declined three-tenths of one per cent after seasonal adjustment in October, with a 3.3 per cent fall-off recorded in prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds.

Before any adjustment in the figures, the government said there was a five-tenths of one per cent decline in over-all wholesale prices and a 3.9 per cent drop in prices of arm products and processed foods and feeds.

It was the first time since late 1971 that whole prices have gone down two months in a row. In September, they fell a sharp 1.5 per cent.

And the report showed that wholesale prices have gone up 18.3 per cent at an annual rate in the past three months. Wholesale prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds have risen at an annual rate of 43.5 per cent in the same span.

Not all of the declines will be felt at the retail level, but government economists feel the sharp decreases should result in some lowering of retail food products.

The department said the drop in prices of farm products occurred mainly in livestock and oil seeds, live poultry, eggs, grains, and fresh fruit.

But wholesale prices of consumer finished foods rose nine-tenths of one per cent in October, with increases recorded for fresh and dried vegetables, eggs, milk, cereal and bakery products. These are prices for goods that are ready for the consumer.

Higher prices for fuels accounted for more than a third of the increases in wholesale prices of industrial commodities, which went up because of higher prices for refined petroleum products, electric power, liquefied petroleum gas, coal and metals. Clothing prices also were up substantially.

Just how long the sudden drop-off in wholesale prices will last is open to question. Even Nixon administration economists aren't expecting it to endure, saying that food prices should start going up again this winter as consumers' demands picks up.

Despite the over-all decrease in the prices of farm products, there were some important increases. Prices of milk and fresh and dried vegetables at the farm went up, along with fats and oils, cereal and bakery products, dairy products and other categories of food.

The price index rose to 139.5 of its 1967 average, meaning that it cost $13.95 for the same amount of wholesale goods that $10 would have bought in 1967.

9 slain in California

ACAMPO, Calif. (AP) —Nine persons were discovered today shot to death and strewn about a luxury ranch-style house in this small community about 30 miles south of Sacramento, the San Joaquin County sheriff's office reported.

Sheriff's deputies said the grisly discovery was made by the Acampo Fire Department this morning while answering a rescue call.

Investigators said the shootings apparently occurred about 9 p.m. Tuesday. A food market about a mile away from the house, owned by one of the victims, had been broken into and ransacked, the authorities said. A safe was looted of an unspecified amount of money, they said. "There was blood all over the place," a reporter said of the death scene.

Two adult victims in the house were tentatively identified by police as Walter Parkin, 32, and his wife, Joanne. The other identities given were of their two children, Lisa, 6, and Bob, 4. Other names were not immediately learned.

All the victims had been shot to death, deputies said. Some of the children were found in a bedroom. Mr. and Mrs. Parkin were found in a closet. Another body was found in the kitchen.

Cracks in fins delay launching of Skylab 3

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The launching of the Skylab 3 astronauts, which had been scheduled for Saturday, has been delayed at least five days until Nov. 15, because of cracks in all eight stabilizing fins in the first stage of the booster rocket, space officials said today.

A NASA spokesman said the launch crew had started draining fuel from the Saturn IB rocket and that plans were under way to replace the defective fins. Replacement fins were being flown here from a NASA facility at Michoud, La.

The spokesman said it was hoped the repair work could be accomplished on the launch pad. If the rocket had to be returned to an assembly building, the delay might have to be longer than five days.

The fins extend out about eight feet from the base of the 22-story rocket and are used to support the vehicle on the launch pad and to provide aerodynamic stability during the early portion of flight.

NASA said the hairline cracks were around bolts in a fitting that attaches the fins to the rocket. Most were less than an inch long and were described as "stress corrosion" cracks.

The cracks were discovered during a routine check Tuesday night.

There was no immediate report on what caused the cracks or why they had not been detected earlier.

The development came as astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson were concluding their training at Houston's Johnson Space Flight Center for their record 85-day flight.

Carr, Pogue and Gibson received their final major physical exam Tuesday and were pronounced medically fit for the long trip.

The astronauts are to ride into orbit in an Apollo ferry ship to start an eight-hour pursuit of the 85-ton Skylab station. If they remain aboard 85 days, they will exceed by nearly a month the present space endurance record of 59 days held by the Skylab 2 astronauts.

Worth polling?

An early snowfall in central New York failed to keep this Syracuse resident away from the polls, as she mails a letter in a snow-covered post box near her polling place. Nearly seven inches of the white stuff was dropped overnight Monday and seven inches more fell Tuesday during the general election. (AP wirephoto)

Nixon preparing energy policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will ask Congress to temporarily suspend nationwide clean air standards as part of a series of steps to meet the growing energy shortage, Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., said today.

Rhodes revealed Nixon's intention following a briefing of congressional leaders by White House energy experts.

Nixon was expected to outline his proposals in a broadcast speech tonight. Rhodes told a newsman that Nixon would also seek authority for the federal government to override the rights now given to state governments to establish clean air timetables, presumably to enable federal suspension of certain clean-up requirements.

Rhodes said, however, that Nixon was not expected to seek authority for nationwide curtailment of business hours. Nor would he seek authority to impose a nationwide highway speed limit of 50 miles per hour, Rhodes said.

Those proposals have been among a number submitted to Nixon for his consideration.

However, Senate Majority Lead Mike Mansfield of Montana said lower highway speed limits would be among the President's proposals.

Mansfield also said that Nixon would propose extending daylight savings time to a year-round basis.

Gasoline rationing is "not in the picture" at present, Mansfield said. But he said steps may be taken to prepare for it early next year if conditions warrant.

Mansfield said congressional leaders at the briefing were "uniformly affirmative" to Nixon's proposals.

Rhodes also said the President would seek to open production of oil from the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in an area was a continuing walkout by some 30,000 nonmedical workers at 48 voluntary hospitals and nursing homes.

Across the nation, a strike by flight attendants kept Trans World Airlines fully grounded and air travelers were reported encountering difficulty in switching to alternate carriers on some heavily traveled routes.

During the short-lived firemen's strike in New York, civilian volunteers lugged fire hoses and broke windows in smoke-filled buildings at several large blazes, assisting undermanned fire crews.

Fire officials said strikers had intimidated firemen in at least six firehouses and had lain in front of fire engines until they were forcibly removed by police.

The city moved to punish the firemen for walking out in violation of a state law which prohibits strikes by public employees.

Under the agreement signed by city and UFA officials, the impasse panel is to issue its binding decision no later than 6 p.m. Saturday. The firemen's union has been demanding a $2,000 hike over the current $14,300 annual base pay.

In Milwaukee, the number of firefighters staying home with "red flu" continued to grow despite a Circuit Court restraining order. But city officials said fire protection remained adequate because of substitute manpower supplied by National Guard units.

The strike shutting down TWA flights was called by the 5,000-member Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Association, a unit of the Transport Workers Union.

Seats on competing airlines were reported in short supply between New York and Chicago as well as New York and Los Angeles. Flights between New York and Denver, Las Vegas, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and other cities also were tight, according to airline officials.

The Daily News, the nation's most widely read paper with a 2.1 million circulation, was forced to halt publication as craft union members refused to cross picket lines mounted Monday by guild strikers.

Financier Vesco held in Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco has been arrested on a U.S. warrant and ordered to appear at an extradition hearing next week.

Vesco was arrested Tuesday in his office at the Bahamas Commonwealth Bank by Asst. Bahamas Police Commissioner John Crawley.

The Boonton, N.J., financier is wanted in the United States in a fraud case involving funds embezzled from a Vesco-headed firm.

He also is wanted by U.S. authorities in a conspiracy case involving former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and a $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's reelection effort, and in a civil suit filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Bahamian Magistrate Emanuel Osadebay, who signed the arrest warrant after it was sworn to by U.S. authorities in Nassau last Friday, released Vesco on $75,000 cash bond. Osadebay confiscated Vesco's passport and set the extradition hearing for next Tuesday.

Vesco, 37, had been sought by U.S. officials since early this year.

Extradition requests were sent to Nassau and to San Jose, Costa Rica, where Vesco also has financial interests. U.S. Atty. Paul Curran said in New York that the warrant on which Vesco was arrested was based on a July 20 fraud indictment opened last Wednesday.

It accuses Vesco of falsifying records to cover the embezzlement of $50,000 from International Controls Corp. (ICC) in 1972. The funds were deposited in a Swiss bank, the indictment said.

In the conspiracy case, the government claims that in return for a $200,000 campaign contribution, which was later returned, Mitchell and Stans agreed to use their influence in Vesco's behalf in an SEC probe of his financial empire.

The SEC's civil suit accuses Vesco and 40 others of milking $224 million from Investors Overseas Service (IOS) and three other mutual funds.

A federal judge in New York enjoined Vesco from engaging in stock violations and has set a hearing for this Friday. Court orders have also been issued freezing former Vesco assets, including a yacht and a 707 jetliner, pending the outcome of the suit.

In 1971, Vesco loaned $5 million to the then-founding IOS, founded by Bernard Cornfeld. Within months, Vesco's ICC had 38 per cent of IOS stock, Vesco was its chairman and Cornfeld was out.

Vesco quit as chairman of both IOS and ICC at about the same time the SEC filed the civil lawsuit.

Returns to prison

Former black militant leader H. Rap Brown is led to a police car after being cleared of charges stemming from the 1967 Cambridge, Md., riots, but he was found guilty Tuesday at Ellicott City, Md., of failing to appear at a 1970 hearing there. Brown, 30, will be returned to Attica prison in New York state where he is serving a 5 to 15-year sentence for the 1971 holdup at a bar and wounding of a policeman. (AP wirephoto)

Search for missing in Vietnam going slowly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for Americans missing in Indochina is slowing and Pentagon officials say it may be cut short in a few months.

There has been no U.S. decision to stop looking for the remains of 1,233 American servicemen still carried as missing in the Indochina fighting, which ended officially in January.

But three elements are contributing to doubts that more remains will be found and identified — including an impasse in negotiations with the North Vietnamese, continued heavy fighting in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

So far, Brig. Gen. Robert C. Kingston, chief of the Joint Casualty Resolution Center at Nakhon Phanom, Thailand, has located and positively identified the remains of nine missing men. The remains of six or seven others are undergoing laboratory examination.

Members of Kingston's 150-man staff have been limited to searches in untested areas of South Vietnam, although last January's cease-fire agreement calls for cooperation among South Vietnam, North Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos on the exchange of information about missing soldiers.

Pentagon officials report "only a handful" of sites in untested territory remain to be explored in the two months before the rainy season begins.

Those sites are described as much less likely to produce remains than the 20 explored so far.

In other parts of South Vietnam, where there are another 250 possible sites, any search must await the end of repeated cease-fire violations.

Recent reports of heavy North Vietnamese troop buildups and sharp fighting in central highlands make the opening of new search areas unlikely for at least several months.

Smith feels Nixon is basically innocent

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (AP) — Former Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine says she believes President Nixon is innocent of Watergate involvement, "except for failure to give full disclosure."

"I had hoped against hope that following the (1972) election the President would take to the air and give the people a full explanation (of Watergate)," the Maine Republican told a class at DePauw University Tuesday.

"I was very disappointed that he didn't," said Mrs. Smith, a visiting lecturer at DePauw.

But she added, "I go on the theory that people are innocent until proven guilty. And I believe the President is innocent except for failure to give full disclosure."

Reagan plan to cut back state spending defeated

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California voters rejected Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to put strict limits on how much the state could spend in the future and on how much it could tax them to finance its programs.

While his name was not on the ballot Tuesday, the vote was a defeat of sorts for the 62-year-old Reagan, who devoted most of his efforts this year to the tax control plan.

With 12,810, or 90 per cent, of 14,237 precincts reporting, the proposed amendment to the state constitution was losing by 54.5 per cent to 45.5 per cent. There were 1,723,034 yes votes and 2,662,711 no votes.

The proposal contained a formula intended to restrict spending to a percentage of the total personal income of state residents. The percentage is about 8.75 per cent this year, Reagan said. His proposal would have reduced it to 7 per cent over the next 15 years.

"How can trying to reduce the people's taxes be a political defeat?" Reagan asked at a midnight news conference. "Naturally I wish we could have won, but I do not regret the attempt we made."

"I look upon the campaign as a first step in alerting the people to the incredible rate of government growth," he said. "I shall continue to seize every opportunity to hold down spending, the size of government and the taxpayer's burden."

Reagan said he did not consider it a personal defeat, and he said it would have no effect on his political future.

Recent polls have shown Reagan to be the current frontrunner among Republican voters for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976. But he says that as of now he has no plans to be a candidate.

Democratic men defeat women of Asheville GOP

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Seven Republican women running for the City Council lost by a 3 to 1 margin to six Democratic men.

The top woman candidate in Tuesday's election got 3,458 votes and the lowest 2,996. The high Democrat, Mayor Richard Wood, got 9,743, and the low, Vice Mayor Calvin Marshall, got 8,850. The city councilmen pick a mayor from among their number.

The Republicans did not run as women's lib candidates but as a slate of representative women. They included a college student and a woman in her early 60s. Two blacks were among the six.

There were no major issues in the race.

The women, nominated by the Buncombe County Republican Women's Club, campaigned by ringing doorbells and speaking to civic clubs. They said they should be given a chance to govern this tourist and commercial city of 57,000 in the western North Carolina mountains.

Father fails to unseat son

QUASQUETON, Iowa (AP) — The father failed and the son prevailed in the race for Quasqueton mayor.

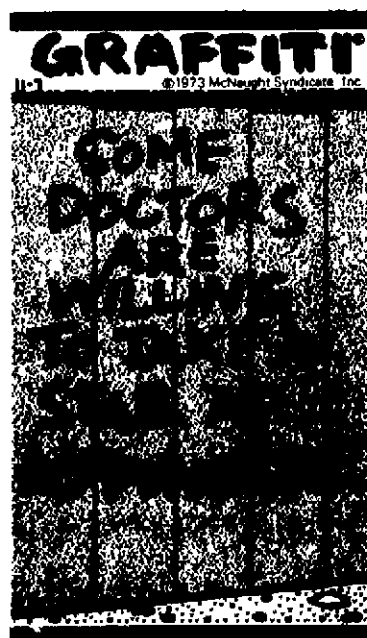

Reuben M. Hansen, 69, tried to oust his son from the mayoral post in Tuesday's municipal election.

But incumbent Ronald M. Hansen, 33, was returned to office in this Buchanan County town of 450 persons by a vote of 107 to 31. Third was Jerard Marxen with 24 write-in votes.

Mayor Hansen said before the election it was "a family squabble" rather than an issue-oriented campaign. The mayor is a union steward at the Collins Radio Co. plant in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 28 miles from here.

The father accused his son of "too much one-man rule" and said local residents wanted a mayor who would be in town all the time.

"He runs it his way and nobody else has anything to say," the father had complained of his son.

Kaukauna utility seeks to buy firm

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent staff writer

KAUKAUNA — Aldermen were informed Tuesday night that the city-owned electric and water utility has applied to the Public Service Commission for permission to purchase the assets of the Green Bay Mississippi Canal Co.

Purchase of the company is contingent on approval of sale by three fourths of the stockholders. The slightly fewer than 50 shareholders in the company hold 9,950 shares.

Utility Mgr. Ernest Mullen told aldermen that sale price would be determined at the end of the year at book value of all assets.

"We are interested in the fixed assets of the company only," said Mullen, "and we would dispose of stocks and bonds or other liquid assets immediately. It would make no sense to borrow money with which to buy money."

The utility operates five hydro-electric plants, only one of which is owned by the utility and is on utility land, that the Kaukauna city plant. The Little Chute plant is owned by the utility, but is on Green Bay Mississippi Canal Co. land and the Old Badger, New Badger and Rapid Croche plants are completely owned by the Canal Co. but operated and run by the utility.

The canal company receives a fee for each kilowatt hour generated at the plants, total fee amounting to about $230,000 annually, noted Mullen. He said this fee could be used to repay the loan needed to purchase the Canal Co. and that after 10 or 15 years when final payment was made it would reduce operating costs for the Utility.

The canal company secured water rights from the federal government in 1866. The company also owns properties along the river at Little Rapids, Rapid Croche, Kaukauna, Combined Locks and Appleton. Some paper mills and other industries are located on land owned by the canal company and also make annual payments to the firm.

The Utility Commission has been studying and negotiating for the purchase for over a year, according to Mullen, but information was kept confidential as it necessitated contacting stockholders from many parts of the country. The transaction hinges on approval of the Public Service Commission and Mullen felt approval would be given prior to the end of the year.

He termed the transaction "a real opportunity for the utility and one which would be of great benefit to customers as far as rates were concerned." He said the Utility Commission would seek council approval for the purchase as well as permission to float a bond issue for the purchase.

He was unable to give aldermen a definite price for the sale, but indicated it would be in the neighborhood of $1.9 million. He also noted that in addition to the $230,000 annual revenue from the utility, the canal company received an additional $100,000 from other sources which also would then be received by the Utility.

Neenah man dies in crash

A 22-year-old Neenah man was killed just after midnight today when his car slammed into an abutment on U.S. 41 at the overpass of Outagamie County Trunk OO west of Appleton.

Dead is Michael V. Huss, 1069 Holly Court. According to Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, the victim died at the scene from apparent massive internal chest injuries, although an autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

Police said Huss was alone in his car and driving north on 41. A witness driving behind the auto told authorities that the Huss car swerved first to the right and then to the left before angling back off the right side of the pavement. The car struck a guard rail and the abutment, and Huss was trapped in the wreckage.

Firemen from the Town of Grand Chute were summoned to cut away the vehicle so the body could be removed.

Kemps withheld a traffic fatality ruling pending further investigation into the circumstances surrounding the crash.

Huss was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Huss, 806 W. Capitol Drive, Appleton. He was a graduate of Appleton High School-West and was a Vietnam war veteran, having served in the Army. He had been employed by the Badger Globe division of Kimberly Clark Corp. in Neenah since his release from the service.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Valley Funeral Home in Appleton.

Kaukauna budget OK'd

KAUKAUNA — Aldermen approved a tentative budget for 1974 Tuesday night calling for total expenditures of $7,730,152, up $700,312 from last year, and set a public hearing on the budget for 7 p.m. Nov. 20 in the council chambers.

Total revenues anticipated next year amount to $7,740,632, compared to $6,933,940 received in 1973. Total to be raised by tax levy is $3,517,082 with a net tax rate of $26.95 in 1974. In 1973 the net tax rate was $27.75 to raise $3,366,416 in tax levy. Increased state and federal aids to both the city and the school district enabled aldermen to realize a decrease in the tax rate.

Largest single item in the budget is the $4,147,891 for schools compared to $3,768,723 in 1973. Costs for protection to

No luck

When Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Muthig, 206 S. Buchanan St., Friday night saw in the sky what they described as a large, football-shaped object with flashing, colored lights, they tried to photograph it. They exposed these frames of color film. No image was recorded except for an unidentified, colored speck, smaller than the head of a common pin, located in the top frame and likely too small to be seen in this enlargement. The Muthigs said they watched the object over southeast Appleton for about 15 minutes, "kind of scary," as Mrs. Muthig put it.

Vote possible tonight on Grand Chute water sale

BY FRANK CHURCH
Post-Crescent staff writer

The Appleton Council could vote tonight on whether to allow the sale of water to Grand Chute Sanitary District 1 by the city's water commission. The Board of Public Works gave its approval Tuesday.

The board, with three members absent, recommended the negotiation of a contract between the commission and the sanitary district that would set a gallon limit only on the amount of water the city utility could sell wholesale to the town.

That kind of agreement will allow the town sanitary district to expand its boundaries as far as it wants to, something the town district insisted on.

Under the arrangement, the town district would buy water from the city water department and do the billing in its own district.

If the City Council affirms the board's action tonight, a contract will still have to be negotiated between the two parties regarding price and other provisions.

The sanitary district commission has set a Nov. 21 deadline for negotiation for a contract. If that isn't done, the district is ready to drill its own wells and provide its own water.

The City Council has already approved the sale of water to the sanitary district, in a 19-1 vote on Oct. 3. That move didn't please the sanitary district, however, which wanted unlimited district expansion rights.

The authorization allowed only for the retail sale of water in the present Sanitary District 1, which is bounded by Casaloma Drive, Wisconsin Avenue, Spencer Street and the city's western limits.

The town district said it was ready to Favorable ruling on city's tax levy hike

Appleton may set a 1974 tax levy $1.6 million more than the 1973 amount, instead of the $284,000 increase limit first set by the state budget.

Word of the city's successful appeal to exceed the state's budget control limit came Tuesday to Finance Director Reynold Running from the state Department of Revenue.

If the appeal had failed, wholesale revisions would have been required in the city's proposed 1974 budget.

As the city budget now stands, next year's proposed levy for city purposes is nearly $1.5 million more than this year's levy. That, however, is with $228,000 in expenditures added by the finance committee in hearings last week that may or may not be added to the levy.

A revenue department spokesman today said that formal notice of permission will be mailed by early next week.

The City Council is scheduled to adopt the budget Monday.

Running and Mayor James Sutherland drew up the executive budget on the assumption that their carefully prepared appeal would be granted. But Running continually warned aldermen that, until he had final word from the state, they should be ready to make changes.

The reason for the large increase in the city tax levy this year is primarily that heavy doses of federal revenue sharing and general surplus monies budgeted last year will not be around for 1974.

The city budgeted $1,461,551 more in revenues from these two sources this year than they will be able to for 1974. The city plugged $1,574,017 in the 1973 budget for federal revenue sharing alone, a figure based on early estimates from the state Department of Revenue. It ended up with $399,445.

The original $284,000 levy limit announced by the state represented the average annual tax base growth throughout the state, or 9.8 per cent.

The levy increase proposed in Sutherland's initial executive budget was 26 per cent.

Despite that increase, the net tax rate carried by the total budget — which includes schools, counties and state and vocational school taxes as well — showed a net decrease in the mayor's proposed package. That was because the school budget, passed by the fiscal control body Monday, carries a $432,268 levy decrease, and anticipated levies from the state, Calumet and Outagamie counties and the vocational district were either down from this year or only slightly increased.

Another big reason for the net tax rate dip is a nearly 21 per cent increase in the state property tax credit for Outagamie County residents (from $9.05 to $10.92 per $1,000 of assessed valuation) and a nearly 31 per cent increase in the tax credit for Calumet County residents (from $10.89 to $14.22 per $1,000 of assessed valuation).

All the factors added up to a net tax rate decline in the mayor's proposed budget of 1.4 per cent, from $74.73 to $73.57 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, for Outagamie County residents.

The actual proposed net tax rate in the mayor's budget was $27.22, because Appleton property has been reassessed up from 38 to 100 per cent of market value this year, increasing the total valuation from $198,550,800 to $558,470,200, a much larger base on which to place the tax rate.

'Combat problems with awareness'

BY WILLIAM LEACH
Post-Crescent staff writer

The salvation of this country lies with young people, comedian-social activist Dick Gregory told a press conference peopled mainly by college students Tuesday night in Lawrence University's Sage Hall.

The black man, looking more like the night club comic in his dark leather sport jacket, beige double knit slacks and wide tie than the social critic-activist of the late 60s, when he wore the working man's denims, visited Appleton as a keynote speaker in Lawrence's annual black symposium which runs through Sunday.

"The power to turn this country around lies with young people. If they don't do it, this country is gonna fall," Gregory said. And they can do the trick, he added, only if they stay honest with themselves and keep informed.

He arrived for his press conference nearly 45 minutes late, but he packed a lot of hip talk and thought-provoking comments into the half hour session before heading for Xavier High School and "An Evening with Dick Gregory."

"Young people are gettin' within themselves," the man with the wry humor and expressive eyes told his small Sage Hall audience.

They know that morality means "how I act" and not "what I look like." He said one look at today's pimps, whores and Watergate culprits is enough to prove that a neat appearance can cover a multitude of sins.

"Watergate's wakin' up the country," Gregory said. "It's got the whole country up in arms," not just those left of center. He said it's leading a lot of politicians to clean up their acts. They're coming to realize that if the people can get rid of the President, they can get rid of them, too.

"If Germany had produced a Nixon, it might not have produced a Hitler," he said, referring to the uses each man had made of appeals to fear in his respective nation.

"Maybe Nixon's good for the United States," he theorized, adding that the nation has learned it can't make any more mistakes like it has made in recent years.

Gregory did have a kind word for the present administration: "Nixon's not as vicious as LBJ," who came clean only in statements and works released posthumously.

The comic is rumored to have "informants" all over the country who keep him posted on events. He dredges up that "data" to punctuate his running commentaries on the times.

Getting to the bottom of the Watergate scandal would lead investigators right to Dallas 10 years ago when John F. Kennedy was assassinated, Gregory claimed. He said former New Orleans Dist. Atty. James Garrison had information linking two of the four Cubans involved in the Watergate break-in to that Kennedy shooting.

Other claims: — "The military's takin' over the country and Gen. Haig's right at the front door."

— "The government is lyin' to us about the overabundance of crops and food. Nature has ways of tellin' what's about to happen," he said, referring to what could result in a famine in this country in light of recent rice crop failures and shortages in corn and other grains.

— "Government agencies are behind the drug scene in America. The drug business is getting by with the aid and consent of Washington."

— "We might not see Nixon in office after Thanksgiving." A West Coast newspaper has touted Gregory as a kind of seer, who predicted to the day when former Vice President Agnew would resign.

The comedian has been making the campus lecture circuit for eight years. The switch from the night club round came about because of a dichotomy in principle. "Here I was, tellin' kids on campus about the evils of alcohol and drugs. What am I supposed to do in a night club? Sip orange juice?"

So he revamped his priorities, his goals, and dedicated himself to informing others of the evils besetting the country and what they could do about them.

Alcohol is the No. 1 problem in America, he said, and the bane of

2 injured as flames gut Appleton home

Two persons were treated and released at St. Elizabeth Hospital after suffering injuries in a fire which gutted a portion of the Edward L. Unmuth residence, 222 E. Spring St., about 4:30 a.m. today.

Unmuth's wife Lorraine, 58, suffered second degree burns to both hands and the bottom of one foot, while a tenant, Richard McDermott, 67, was treated for smoke inhalation.

Firemen said the blaze apparently broke out after a discarded cigarette set fire to a living room couch, located on the first floor of the two-story structure. Mrs. Unmuth was burned while attempting to put out the flames.

Firemen said she had gotten up about 4 a.m. to fix herself a sandwich. Unmuth said she first detected the fire when she saw sparks coming from the living room. Five units from the Appleton Fire Department were called to the scene. They controlled the fire within 10 minutes, confining the flames to the living room area. They remained at the scene for about 1 1/2 hours.

Unmuth said he, McDermott and another tenant, Adrian Crumb, had been sleeping on the second floor, while Mrs. Unmuth and their son Mark, 11, were on the first floor.

Firemen said there was extensive heat, smoke and water damage to the entire home.

Red Cross officials said this morning they are conducting a clothing drive for the Unmuth family. Persons requesting information concerning the types and sizes of clothing desired should contact the office at 110 E. North St.

Man, 19, jailed, five sought in drug crackdown

FOND DU LAC — A New Holstein man, David A. Alten, 19, was arrested on drug charges here Tuesday along with five Fond du Lac men and a Princeton man. The arrests were part of a crackdown involving State Justice Department law officers and officers from Calumet and Fond du Lac Counties as well as New Holstein.

Alten was charged with one count of abetting the sale of LSD. He was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Warrants were issued for arrests of four other persons who still are being sought, according to officials.

The arrests were made after an 11 month investigation by the State Justice Department Division of Criminal Investigation.

Atty. Gen. Robert Warren said Tuesday in Madison that the investigation has not yet been completed and that state agents still are working on drug traffic in the Fox River Valley area.

Those arraigned Tuesday before Fond du Lac County Judge Hazen McEsey were Alten and:

— Lawrence E. Burkhardt, 23, Fond du Lac, charged with one count of selling amphetamines. He was ordered to appear Nov. 29 at a preliminary hearing.

— Gerald C. Cox, 23, Fond du Lac, charged with one count of selling hashish.

— James R. Wettstein, 23, Fond du Lac, charged with one count of selling amphetamines.

Bond for the defendants was set at $1,000 each. Burkhardt, Cox and Keonig have been released on bond. Several of those arrested were granted time to find attorneys prior to arraignment.

Conferences set for elementary, middle schools at Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — Parent-teacher conferences after the first quarter of the school year have been scheduled this week at the public elementary and middle schools.

Parents of children who attend morning kindergarten classes will meet teachers on Thursday morning, while those of pupils in afternoon kindergarten classes will have conferences on Friday. Children will bring schedules home.

Schedules also have been set up on Friday for parents of children in the elementary school, while parents may visit the middle school between 8:20 and 11:50 a.m. or 1:20 to 3:40 p.m. Friday. Elementary school children will receive report cards before visiting days but report cards of seventh and eighth graders will be kept in the school office to be picked up by parents before conferring with individual teachers.

Smaller budget in '74 proposed at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — The Village Board Monday night approved a tentative budget for 1974 calling for expenditures of $2,054,924, or $168,252 less than the 1973 figure, with $1,518,722 to be raised through a tax levy at a rate of $51 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

A public hearing on the proposed budget is set for 7 p.m. Nov. 15 at the municipal complex.

In 1973, the tax levy was $1,753.503, and the tax rate was $60 per $1,000 assessed value. The state tax credit in 1973 amounted to $5.79 per $1,000 and is expected to be $7 per $1,000, which would produce a net tax rate in 1974 $10.21 below that of this year.

Residential real estate in Kimberly is assessed at 50 per cent of market value. The owner of a home that would sell for

City policemen seek probe of DA's office

The Appleton Professional Policemen's Association has joined Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin L. Spice in requesting a state investigation of the district attorney's office.

"Numerous unwarranted plea bargaining incidents and dismissals of serious offenses without the arresting officer being contacted have become a common occurrence," the association stated in a letter this week to Atty. Gen. Robert Warren.

Spice wrote Warren and Gov. Patrick Lucey last week requesting an investigation into the operation of Dist. Atty. John Ensley's office. Spice charged Ensley with lack of effective prosecution on serious cases, abuse of plea bargaining and dismissing cases without consulting police.

Ensley, who is in the middle of his first term as district attorney, countered that Spice's request constituted "a cheap political maneuver," and he said Spice's department sometimes makes faulty investigations that result in decisions to alter charges.

Warren's and Lucey's offices have not said publicly whether they intend to investigate.

The Appleton police association letter to Warren was signed by president Del Roy Nitzband. All city policemen except Chief Earl O. Wolff belong to the association.

"The plea bargaining with members of the D.C. Eagles and the dismissal of felony charges against two Milwaukee men, along with numerous reductions of charges has caused the morale of law enforcement officers in Outagamie County to decline," the association stated.

"Citizens of Outagamie County expect and deserve excellence in law enforcement. We feel that with the present decisions being made by (Ensley) this cannot be accomplished."

Police efforts have been severely impeded by the actions of Ensley's office, the association stated.

Combined Locks man loses hand Monday

LITTLE CHUTE — Mark Hoh, 18, 605 Karlyn St., Combined Locks, a senior at Kimberly High School, lost his left hand above the wrist about 5:50 p.m. Monday when it became caught in a cheese grinding machine at the Kaukauna Klub Dairy, County Trunk 00.

Hoh was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital by an ambulance and was reported in good condition this morning. Fellow workers had applied a tourniquet prior to the arrival of the ambulance.

Talks between county, employes break off

Contract negotiations between Outagamie County and the professional employes union in the Department of Social Services have broken off, according to Supv. Marvin Babbitt, chairman of the personnel committee. Babbitt said mediation has been requested by Local 2416 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes which represents the professional workers.

regular price, while the city has stood behind the 25 per cent surcharge recommended by the state Department of Local Affairs and Development in a study which said sale of city water to the town would benefit both communities economically as well as foster inter-community cooperation.

Sutherland has noted that the 25 per cent surcharge is far below that suggested by city water plant engineering consultants. He has also said he is confident the price differences can be worked out, "if need be with the assistance of the Public Service Commission."

Sutherland told board members Tuesday that the new compromise agreement would offer the city more protection than it had before, because the limits now would be based on actual gallons rather than boundary lines. Conceivably, the town district could have added major water users and put strains on the water plant without expanding its boundaries, under the former arrangement.

City Atty. David Geenen said the city would not be obliged to furnish pressure for getting city water to the far reaches of an expanded town water district, and water plant Supt. Daniel Baer said the commission could offer water at zero pressure and the town would have to provide pumping facilities at the connection point.

Baer said water plant personnel will meet with town sanitary district consultants Thursday to work out details on this and other matters. The town consultants, however, have already anticipated providing a pumping station at the connection point.

"I like it. It's an excellent solution," said Geenen of the compromise contract proposal.

Ald. William Errington (15th) said some city residents fear the furnishing of service to the town will force the city to expand in the future with city users suffering as a consequence.

Baer said the department's "prime concern" will remain the retail customers in the city.

In other action Tuesday, the board: — Unanimously defeated a proposal to have the mayor appoint a committee to study solid waste disposal methods. At the same time, the board failed to act on a request from Errington that the city register its support for the proposed state regional recycling program.

The first district under that program would include Outagamie, Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties.

Errington said the county board's expression of reluctance to have the state take over that aspect of solid waste disposal was "totally ignorant," and he said it was the responsibility of Appleton officials to show the state they support the proposed effort.

Errington's original idea was to recommend that the county cooperate with the state effort, but he later suggested going to the state because the county would ignore such a suggestion.

While Errington was out of the board meeting room, however, commissioners voted to defeat the proposal for a mayor's study committee and moved on to other matters.

— Unanimously approved a proposal to keep one of four lots at the corner of Locust and Third streets for the possible relocation of a home at 215 Elm St., which the city must buy for its proposed police station site.

Ald. Thomas Kamps (8th), who offered the proposal, said the city should try and get a return on the investment it makes in the property by trying to move it and sell it at the new site.

Young scientists

The gallon of cold cream that ninth grade science students at Wilson Junior High School whipped up in the last couple weeks will keep Appleton Extended Care residents' faces soft and smooth for quite a while. Approximately 150 pupils, working under the direction of Mrs. Kay Brusky, science teacher, gathered ingredients from local druggists and combined them in the right amounts to come up with a product which passed inspection. The same pupils also made toothpaste earlier. The young scientists measuring and mixing cold cream ingredients above are, from left, Duane Fischer, Randy Helser and Bob Penkala. 16 persons sought on drug counts, 7 arrested OSHKOSH — City, county and state officials began early this morning to apprehend 16 persons who are being charged as drug offenders. By late morning, seven of them had been arrested and taken to the Winnebago County Jail. They were expected to be arraigned in County Court later in the day. All are being charged with either delivery or aiding in the delivery of controlled substances (dangerous drugs).

"We contemplate further arrests in Winnebago County," Daniel Hanley of the state attorney general's office told The Post-Crescent today.

"This is a continuing investigation, begun the first part of this year with the cooperation of local sheriffs and police departments in the Fox Valley area," Hanley said.

He said the investigation included undercover purchases "dealing with such things as LSD, amphetamines and prescription drugs which were illegally delivered." Also included in the investigation was the sale of cocaine.

Hanley said he could not release information "at the time" as to whether the investigation will result in arrests in Outagamie County.

State Justice Department agents and city and county officers began making the arrests about 6 a.m. today. Warrants for the 16 persons were issued late Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge William E. Crane.

All of the sales are alleged to have taken place in Winnebago County. The persons charged, however, are from several areas of the state. One is from Green Bay, one from Fond du Lac and one from Menomonee Falls. Several of the warrants were issued for persons who are students at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. Most of the persons named have Oshkosh addresses.

The names of those charged were not released, pending formal filing of charges in County Court.

Police & fire beat

Joan Sprangers, 49, 212 S. Schaefer St., sustained a forehead bump and sore shoulder in a two-car accident at the intersection of State 125 and Bluemound Road, Town of Grand Chute, about 3:10 p.m. Tuesday.

She was riding in a car driven by her son, Michael, 20, which police said was traveling east on 125 when the second car, driven by Janet F. Van De Loo, 31, route 3, Kaukauna, made a left turn toward Bluemound and entered its path.

Appleton firemen were called to the Kay W. Plamann residence, 906 S. Matthias St., after an electric imitation fireplace overheated and reportedly caught fire. No damage estimate was given.

A lit cigarette was listed as the probable cause of a fire which destroyed the front seat of a station wagon owned by Frank & Pat's Pizza Place in the 300 block of N. Appleton Street about 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The truck was parked in front of the residence of the driver, Michael Rogers, 317 N. Appleton St.

the black race. More black folks are messed up on weekends from drink and drugs than ever will be wiped out by sickle cell anemia, he said.

"A plot, a trick" was how the social activist referred to the emphasis placed on sickle cell anemia, a disease afflicting mainly members of the black race.

"More black kids are gonna die from lead poisoning this year than from sickle cell anemia," he charged. Development of a vaccine — through federal funding — to combat the illness might result in sterilization of blacks like the government's experiments 35 years ago with blacks infected with venereal disease.

The scare tactics parents and the government use to counteract the spread of drugs won't ever work, Gregory claimed, because they're based on ignorance.

"We got to start dealin' with the problem at the grade school level," he said. Not with scare tactics, but with educational films and informed people.

He claimed that hard drugs aren't where the real problem lies.

"It's the pharmaceutical companies with their speed and pills and their lobbyists in Washington who have to be exposed."

"We're really out of it if we believe the drugs a doctor prescribes are any different from the dope a junkie peddles. Drugs is drugs."

The only way to combat the problems, fears and ignorance plaguing the nation is to be informed, Gregory said. "It depends on where you are and what means you have to accomplish anything once you're hip, once you're aware," Gregory said. "Share stuff with your friends when you see things happening."

Charge against Lorge's nephew is dismissed

SHAWANO, Wis. (AP) — A judge dismissed a charge against a Clintonville motorist Monday after the young man appeared in Shawano County Court with his uncle, State Sen. Gerald Lorge.

Lorge, a Republican from Bear Creek, served as defense attorney for Daniel J. Lorge, 24, who was charged with unsafe deviation from a traffic lane concerning a June 10 auto accident.

Judge Orville S. Luckenbach dismissed the charge after listening to testimony from the younger Lorge and his girl friend.

The state presented its case Sept. 13. Luckenbach said neither side had established who was at fault in the collision.

Crews worked on the system Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and expected to complete the project on Monday, but the arrival of cold weather forced a closing of the school Monday.

Today's Woman . . .

... is a working woman. Contrary to the portrayal on television commercials, today's woman is not likely to be discussing "white" wash over the back fence or waiting for someone to ring the doorbell with her perfume and bath oil. Nearly half of today's women are working, and those in the home are scarcely sitting around manicuring their fingernails. They are less restricted, more enlightened and more involved ... in clubs, civic affairs, campaigns, social projects and the like. Obviously, today's woman has little time to spend watching TV, listening to the radio or reading magazines. Today, she relies more than ever on the medium which she can peruse at her own time and at her own convenience ... the daily newspaper. As to working women away from home, an independent source—W. R. Simmons—shows working women spend roughly half as much time watching TV during the day as when not working and 10% less time at night than formerly. No wonder the newspaper is the advertising medium which provides the maximum influence, most consistently, in her buying decisions.

Sadat-Kissinger meeting called step toward Middle East peace

CAIRO (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt met for more than three hours today, and Kissinger told newsmen: "We are moving toward peace."

Sadat repeated Kissinger's comment and added: "I agree with him."

U.S. officials said Kissinger, in his conversations in Washington last week with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy, detected willingness to use the "good offices" of the United States to smooth out cease-fire problems and to approach peace talks.

Sadat has vowed publicly he will not bargain with the Jewish state. Kissinger, hoping to act as a catalyst, in the Egyptian president and his American guest posed for photographers on the lawn of the Tahrir Palace, in suburban Heliopolis, then settled down to talk privately in a third-floor library.

tends to find out whether the Egyptian leader really is adamant.

The principal immediate issues for discussion are Israel's demands for a prisoner exchange and the lifting of the Egyptian blockade at the mouth of the Red Sea, and Egypt's insistence that Israel give up the territory it occupied after the first cease-fire order Oct. 22.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said today that the only guarantee for the success of Kissinger's peace mission is the immediate implementation of the U.N. resolutions calling for Israeli withdrawal.

U.S. willingness to exercise pressure on Israel to go back to the lines it held on Oct. 22 as a prelude to complete withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory will be the test of American good faith, the paper said.

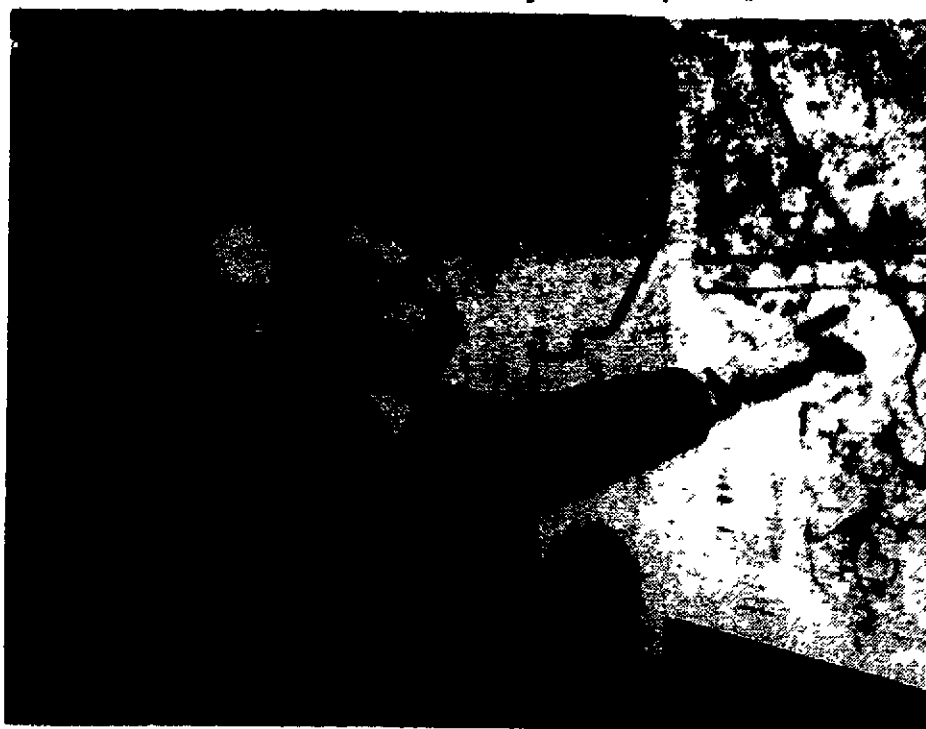

Kissinger will convey Sadat's views to the Israelis. And while playing the middle man between Egypt and Israel, he is confident that the Soviet Union or another government will use its influence to enlist Syria, the other major combatant in the October war, should a negotiating process between Israel and Egypt develop.

Kissinger came to Cairo after meetings in Rabat with King Hassan of Morocco and in Tunis with President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia. On Thursday he sees King Hussein of Jordan in Amman and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia in Riyadh.

Hussein returned to Amman from Damascus early today after a 24-hour round of visits to President Hafez Assad of Syria, King Faisal, Sheikh Sabah Salim al-Sabah of Kuwait and Sheikh Zaid bin Sultan, the president of the United Arab Emirates.

Hussein's prime minister, Zaid al-Rifai, told newsmen that the king and his hosts discussed "all the steps that must be taken to face all consequences in this delicate period."

Israeli Premier Golda Meir had planned to report today to her parliament on her talks with Kissinger and President Nixon last week. But she postponed her speech until Monday to await word from the American secretary on his talks with the Arab leaders.

Anti-GOP activities described

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee is turning to its probe of campaign finances after hearing evidence that violence was aimed at Republicans last year and that President Nixon's medical files were rifled.

Committee lawyers, meanwhile, were instructed to contact the President's legal staff in a formal attempt to negotiate a question-and-answer session between Nixon and the seven-man committee.

The campaign financing phase is the committee's third and final investigation. Hearings are scheduled to end before Thanksgiving.

The new investigation centers in part on allegations that government grants and contracts were used as inducements to procure large campaign contributions or to reward Nixon supporters.

The first scheduled witness was William Marumoto, a former White House talent seeker who once headed a White House task force pushing programs for Spanish-speaking Americans.

Marumoto has been cited in published reports as being the White House contact man who allegedly sought a $50,000 Nixon campaign contribution from Miami builder John Priestes, also scheduled to testify.

Priestes reportedly has been a central figure in a federal investigation revolving around a $300,000 expense fund allegedly set up for Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., a member of the Watergate committee.

tories came in normally Democratic Cleveland. GOP Mayor Ralph Perk swept to a 2-to-1 victory over his last-minute opponent, City Council Clerk Mercedes Cotner.

The day's two major statewide elections, in Virginia and New Jersey, presented contrasting outcomes.

In Virginia, Godwin became the second straight Republican gubernatorial victor. During the campaign, he stressed his opposition to school busing and denounced Howell as a leftist who would be under the control of out-of-state "labor bosses."

Though running as an independent, Howell had help from Democrats both from within and outside the state.

The 58-year-old Godwin will succeed moderate Republican Gov. Linwood Holton, ineligible to seek re-election.

Returns from 1,811 of the state's 1,832 precincts gave the GOP candidate 513,546 to 504,053 for Howell, who said he would not concede until an official canvass is made.

At the same time, the state elected moderate Republican John Dalton as lieutenant governor and re-elected moderate Democrat Andrew Miller as attorney general.

In New Jersey, Byrne's victory capped a campaign that saw the Republican party split sharply after Sandman unseated moderate GOP Gov. William T. Cahill in a primary in which he stressed corruption in the state administration.

Cahill later endorsed Sandman but did little to help him, while liberal GOP Sen. Clifford P. Case sat out the race completely.

When the returns came in, Byrne swept even heavily Republican areas in his first bid for elective office. He promised "a new beginning" to cheering supporters and said "We have won a chance to show the nation that in New Jersey the rule of law guides our action."

Returns from 5,009 of the state's 5,374 districts gave Byrne 1,306,924, Sandman 620,913.

In New York, Beame swept all five boroughs and piled up a total greater than that of his three rivals, Republican State Sen. John J. Marchi, Assemblyman Albert H. Blumenthal, a Democrat running on the Liberal ticket; and Rep. Mario Biaggi, a Democrat running on the Conservative line.

In other elections Tuesday:

—In Stamford, Conn., Democrat Frederick P. Lenz Jr. upset two-term Republican Mayor Julius M. Wilensky.

—In Miami, Fla., Democrat Maurice Ferre, a Puerto Rican millionaire, won a majority in the mayor's race over six rivals.

—In Pittsburgh, Pa., Mayor Peter Flaherty, a Democrat, had both major parties' nominations.

—In Houston, Tex., the nonpartisan mayor's race appeared headed for a Dec. 4 runoff between attorney Fred Hofheinz and over six rivals.

—In Pittsburgh, Pa., Mayor Peter Flaherty, a Democrat, had both major parties' nominations.

—In Houston, Tex., the non-partisan mayor's race appeared headed for a Dec. 4 runoff between attorney Fred Hofheinz and Dick Gottlieb, a city councilman and former television personality.

—Black mayors were elected in Raleigh, N.C., where Clarence E. Lightner defeated G. Wesley Williams, a white, and in Grand Rapids, Mich., where Lyman Parks defeated former Mayor Robert Bolens, both nonpartisan elections.

Trust suits against TV networks being pressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is pursuing major antitrust suits against the three commercial television networks despite fears that the public may question its motives.

CBS, NBC and ABC lost the first round in the 18-month battle when a federal judge last week denied their motion to dismiss or delay the case. The order cleared the way for government attorneys to begin the lengthy process of obtaining and examining network records.

The government contends that the networks have illegally monopolized the production of TV entertainment programs and seeks a court order prohibiting the networks from producing their own shows.

The lawsuits do not concern television news, public affairs, documentaries and sports programs.

The government suits claim that the networks have shut off competition in the production of entertainment programs by producing many themselves, and by retaining ownership interests in programs they buy from independent producers.

The FCC has prohibited the networks from holding financial interests in independently-produced programs, but the Justice Department wants to go further and ban in-house production of entertainment programs.

Questions about the motives of the court action were renewed by the disclosure of White House memos proposing pressure tactics against the networks and other news media the administration considered unfair.

However, Justice Department sources say that President Nixon's well-known antipathy toward the networks actually delayed the suits.

The antitrust division had been preparing the cases since the mid-1950s but two attorneys general, William P. Rogers in the late 1950s and Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach in 1964, decided not to file the suits.

After Nixon took office, Richard W. McLaren was installed as assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division. At some point, he recommended to then-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell that the suits be filed.

Sources said that Mitchell demurred for fear that the action "would be seen as an attempt to muzzle the press."

Art Buchwald UFOs looking for new markets?

WASHINGTON — I happen to be one of those people who believes that the unidentified flying objects which have been reported seen whizzing around the United States are for real. But, like so many people, I have no idea what they want from the United States at this point in time.

I sought out some of the most learned men in this country to find out if they had any theories.

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum of the Washington Observatory told me, "This is just speculation, of course, but I wouldn't be surprised if they're trying to make a wheat deal with the United States. They saw what a good contract the Russians made with us and they figure they could do the same thing."

"But why would they need wheat?" I asked.

"If you will look through this telescope you'll see that there is not too much growing out there. You have to assume that whoever they are, they have to import most of their wheat. They probably were buying their wheat from another planet until they got word that they could get our wheat much cheaper."

Dr. Fitzhugh Feelinghouse of the Society for the Preservation of High Sulphur Content in Fuel disagreed. "I am under the impression they want to buy oil from us. We have to assume that they're from outer space and can make it all the way here, they are a highly industrialized society. Therefore, they must be short on fuel. I am almost certain they've come to discuss the feasibility of building a pipeline to their planet."

"But why the United States?" I

Vandals remove manhole covers

KAUKAUNA — Vandals caused unnecessary expense for the city between 8:45 and 10 p.m. Saturday by removing 24 manhole and catch basin covers at various northside locations.

Police put barricades around the first few openings, but when more were discovered city crews had to be called in to locate the discarded covers and replace them.

Covers were removed on Oviatt, Blackwell, Ducharme, George, Division, Draper, Seymour and Lincoln streets. The city was not only concerned about cost involved in calling in off-duty crews but also with the danger to pedestrians or cyclists who could have been injured by the pranks.

Past international director to induct 20 Lions at Hortonville

HORTONVILLE — Edward S. Eick, Hilton, past director of Lions International, will induct 20 new members into the Lions Club Thursday.

The dinner-meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. at the Chrystal Chandelier. Committees for the year will be appointed, according to Dr. Keith Breyer, president. The Leo Club and formation of a Lionette group also will be discussed.

Kimberly schools set parent conferences

KIMBERLY — All public school classes, except kindergarten, will be dismissed Friday for parent-teacher conferences. Conferences for parents of kindergarten pupils will be set later.

No hot lunch will be served Friday. Parents of pupils attending Westside and Kimberly elementary schools have been assigned times for conferences, and parents of students at the junior or senior high schools are to report between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Teachers at the junior high school will be at tables in the gymnasium. A similar plan will be used at the high school with teachers in the school commons.

The Parent-Teacher Organization of the school system Friday will conduct a bake sale at all schools. Report cards will be issued before the conferences.

Ford washes dishes

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald F. Ford, whose dishwashing duties at home were recently disclosed, says the job can be "a bit helpful" for all husbands.

"I think it helps in my household," Ford told newsmen here Monday. "I can't cook, so I have to make some contribution."

Ford, a Michigan Republican who is now House minority leader, said he learned to wash dishes "at a very early age in order to get through high school and college."

"Probably. But if their oil companies are like ours, they've discouraged the use of other fuels. I imagine even in outer space you can't like the oil companies."

Jeremy Saitherwaite, a political scientist at the Institute of Paranoia, is very skeptical about the UFOs coming from another galaxy. "I think Nixon is trying to get our minds off his domestic troubles by whipping up a flying saucer scare."

"But how could he swing it? Surely you can't launch a flying saucer from somewhere in the United States without someone knowing about it."

"Why do you think he sent those three astronauts up to Skylab for 59 days?"

"You mean they were sent up there to launch the flying saucers from space?"

"You better believe it," he said.

"Wait a minute. The two Mississippians who were captured described the creatures in the UFO as being green, with no eyes, and a stub in the middle of their faces which could have been a nose. How could they look like that?"

Saitherwaite replied, "Have you ever heard of Nixon's make-up man from the 1960 campaign?"

The final expert I spoke to was Prof. Charles Simolli, a sociologist, who said, "The most interesting thing is that most of the UFO sightings have been in the South.

"What are you driving at?" I asked. "Has it ever occurred to you that all these poor creatures from outer space are trying to do is bus their kids to a good school?"

Prepare comedy at Green Bay

GREEN BAY — "The Marriage-Go-Round," a comedy about the ordeals of monogamy, which played to New York audiences for 16 months, will be presented by Green Bay Community Theater Thursday through Sunday this week and next.

GBCT playhouse is at 122 N. Chestnut St. Brian T. Schmidlin and Pat Miller will have the roles in which Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert starred during the Broadway run, portraying a companionable and loving couple whose marriage of 25 years is exposed to a tough test when a siren turns up to tempt the husband to sire a perfect baby.

Debbie Pepper will be seen as the glamorous Swedish miss who administers this test and James DeLorme will appear as a romantically-inclined professor at the college where the comedy is set.

Schmidlin was featured in CT's "The Owl and the Pussycat" and "Invitation to a March" and appeared in the Music Theater production of "Funny Girl."

Miller was last seen as the mild-mannered murderess in "Ladies in Retirement" at the Playhouse. Prior roles include the leads in "Mary, Mary," "The Impossible Years" and "Never Too Late."

A CT newcomer, Pepper makes an auspicious debut as the shapely Viking. She appeared in Music Theater's "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," as Eliza Dolittle in "My Fair Lady" at Premontre High School and in "Unto Us the Living" for Community Youth Theater.

New York Post critic Richard Watts Jr. wrote about Leslie Stevens' comedy, "Mr. Stevens has a gift for urbane and graceful high comedy lines and he uses it to admirable advantage ... it has the sly air of being just a bit devilish in its contemplation of d'amour."

Curtain time for the comedy is 8:17 p.m. nightly except Saturday, Nov. 17, when performances are set at 5:30 and 9 p.m. Tickets may be reserved at the Lane Bryant store, 110 N. Washington St. Reserved tickets will be held at the door until 20 minutes before curtain time.

Directing the play is Mary Gage.

Fine sequel to movie

7:30-9 Channels 9-11 — Wednesday Movie Of The Week has a fine sequel to last season's popular "All My Darling Daughters' Anniversary." Robert Young, as the judge, is about to break the news to his four daughters that he and Ruth Hussey (who looks super) are going to get married. All kinds of things prevent the announcement, but all is light-hearted and happy here.

7-7:30 Channel 5 — Adam-12 has a good episode, dealing with a rookie cop who is so blasé about training methods that he isn't always as observant as he should be. Cases involve an oddball bank robbery attempt and a bomb threat in a supermarket.

7:30-9 Channel 5 — A computer is stolen in Wednesday Mystery Movie: Banacek and Anne Baxter plays the very wealthy hypochondriac who wants it found so it can diagnose all her illnesses. George Peppard and Christine Belford, as usual, compete for the clues and of course you know who wins.

8-9 Channels 2-7 — A sexpot is murdered on Cannon and the suspect (Peter White) hires our hero (William Conrad) to find out who really did the lady in. He finds plenty of men, but it's the one no one knows about — the Fourth Man — who is the killer.

9-10 Channel 5 — David Huffman, an exciting young talent, stars in a moving, sensitive Love Story. He plays a paraplegic who falls in love with Pamela Franklin, who is about to marry Martin Sheen. Does she feel love or pity?

9-10 Channels 2-7 — Kojak (Telly Savalas) is on a case involving an attempted hit of a Mafia boss (Art Metrano). He sees the case to its conclusion which satisfies everyone including the commissioner, but himself. So he investigates further.

9-10 Channels 9-11 — Owen Marshall, Counselor-At-Law goes to a small town at the request of a friend of his son. A young woman the man cares about has been committed to a mental hospital; by parents who feel that her promiscuity is a sign of mental illness. Some strong points about mental institutions are made in Marshall's courtroom summation.

Airliner passenger sucked out window was wearing seatbelt

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A National Transportation Safety Board investigator says a man sucked through the window of a National Airlines DC10 jetliner at 39,000 feet altitude was wearing his seatbelt.

"This man had his seatbelt on," said Guy Moshier of Los Angeles, who heads the NTSB's probe into an apparent engine explosion and passenger cabin decompression incident Saturday. He added, however, that, "It was possibly loose."

National Airlines identified the missing passenger as F.G. Gardner of Beaumont, Tex. He was a Bethlehem Steel employee en route to Singapore for a job assignment, his wife, Mary, said in a telephone interview.

A search continued today in a rugged southwest New Mexico mountain area for the body and aircraft debris, state police said.

October temperatures, precipitation top normal

October weather in Appleton featured above normal temperatures and precipitation, according to J. C. Kurtyka, weather observer at Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Precipitation totaled 3.51 inches, 1.56 inches above normal. The largest daily amount of 0.82 inches fell on Oct. 9 and 28.

The month's mean temperature was 55.4 degrees, 5.2 degrees above normal.

Kurtyka said. The top temperature of 78 fell on Oct. 10 and 11. The minimum of 33 degrees occurred Oct. 17.

Heating degree days in Appleton totaled 304 for October, compared with 586 for the same month in 1972 and a normal of 460.

Wind during the month averaged 9.3 miles per hour, prevailing from the southwest. There were seven days in the month when the wind was recorded faster than 35 m.p.h.

Kurtyka said that Appleton experienced thunderstorms on three days of the month and that there were 12 clear, 10 partly cloudy and 9 cloudy days.

Looking ahead, Kurtyka says that November normals for Appleton include a mean temperature of 34.8 degrees and 2.14 inches of precipitation. The daily mean temperature usually decreases from 45 degrees at the beginning of the month to 26 at the end. Extremes are 72 degrees and minus-7. Hours of daylight will decrease one hour and seven minutes by month's end, to a total of 10 hours, six minutes on the last day.

The U.S. Weather Bureau calls for near normal temperatures and above normal precipitation during November.

Astronomers report first photo of bright comet coming soon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A Mt. Palomar telescope has made what officials believe is the first photo showing the developing flaming head and tail of the comet Kohoutek, due soon to deliver earth its brightest heavenly display since Haley's comet.

The photograph was taken by a 48-inch telescope in the early morning hours of Oct. 31 by the Rev. Martin McCarthy, a Vatican Observatory staff astronomer and a guest of the Hale Observatories.

The comet will be visible to the naked eye starting at the end of November or early December.

Segal quits at Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Erich Segal, author of the highly successful book "Love Story," has resigned as a Yale University associate professor of classics.

Segal's resignation, effective last June 30, was revealed in a list released by the school over the weekend.

Segal failed to gain tenure at Yale after a controversy 3½ years ago. He had been offered a senior lectureship in 1972 as a move considered a compromise allowing him to continue outside activities precipitated by his book's success without the added duties of a tenured position.

Festive Feast

Lillian Mackesy

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

Traditional is the word for Thanksgiving and it's a good idea to keep it that way. Some things should become lifetime memories and there's no better holiday than the true All-American feast that had its start way back in 1621 when the lucky Pilgrim families who made it and the visiting native Americans mis-named Indians sat down together at the festive and ate foods from the fruits, cereals and game of the land they called home.

Stick to the familiar menu pattern— each family has evolved its own over the years — only vary its preparation a little. Roast the big bird, but make it enormous enough to serve four meals to create a memorable Thanksgiving weekend. Or roast two small turkeys, each with a different stuffing, glaze and trimmings. Make a holiday pie using butternut or acorn squash although pumpkin or sweet potatoes will do as well, if preferred. Another recipe that's delicious yet old-new is for deviled squash. Whatever the menu, plan it ahead of time with every little thing down to the spices on hand and fresh.

Turkey for Four Days

HOLIDAY TURKEY

16-pound ready-to-cook turkey
Salt and pepper
Harvest Stuffing
1 can (13 3/4 oz.) chicken broth
1 teaspoon garlic powder

Turkey Gravy
Preheat oven to 325 degrees.
Rinse turkey, drain and pat dry. Remove giblets. Sprinkle turkey inside and out with salt and pepper. Fill neck and body cavities with about 2/3 recipe for Harvest Stuffing. (Place remaining stuffing in greased 1-1/2 quart casserole, cover and refrigerate for second day.) Skewer neck skin to back. Fasten legs either by tying or tucking under skin band. Twist wings akimbo under turkey. Place turkey, breast side up, in a foil lined deep roasting pan. Mix chicken broth and garlic powder. Spoon some of this mixture over turkey. Roast in 325-degree oven 4 1/2 to 5 hours, basting with chicken broth occasionally, or until drumstick and thigh move easily and flesh feels soft when pressed with fingers. Remove turkey from oven and let stand approximately 20 minutes before carving. Carve only one side of turkey and serve with stuffing and gravy.

Refrigerate remaining turkey and any leftover stuffing.

HARVEST STUFFING

1-1/2 cups butter or margarine
1 large onion, chopped
2 cups chopped celery

1 loaf (1 lb.) bread, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
2 red apples, cored and chopped
8 ounces walnuts, coarsely chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
12 teaspoons poultry seasoning

In large skillet, heat butter. Sauté onion and celery until golden and tender-crisp. Pour mixture into large bowl. Add remaining ingredients and stir to blend well.

TURKEY GRAVY

Pan juices from turkey
1/2 to 2/3 cup all-purpose flour
1 can (13 3/4 oz.) chicken broth
Salt, pepper and paprika

Pour pan juices left after roasting turkey into a large saucepan (use about 3 cups). With a wire whisk or rotary egg beater, beat in flour and chicken broth. Season to taste with salt and pepper and paprika. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gravy thickens and bubbles. Recipe makes about 5 cups.

SECOND DAY

Cut enough slices from leftover cooked turkey to make 6 servings. Place the slices in a skillet. Mix one 13 3/4 ounce can chicken broth with 1 teaspoon salt. Pour about third of broth over turkey. Cover and simmer gently for 20 minutes or until piping hot. In large saucepan, mix remaining stuffing with another third of broth. Cover and heat over low heat, stirring occasionally, for 20 minutes or until piping hot. In saucepan, stir the remaining broth into leftover gravy and heat slowly, stirring occasionally, until hot.

TURKEY RISOTTO

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 garlic clove, chopped
1 large onion, chopped
2 cups converted rice
2 cans (13 3/4 oz. each) chicken broth
1 can (16 oz.) stewed tomatoes
1 jar (4 1/2 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 pkg. frozen Italian green beans
2 cups diced cooked turkey

Salt
In Dutch oven, heat butter and sauté garlic and onion until golden. Stir in rice and continue cooking and stirring until rice is lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients except salt and simmer, stirring occasionally, until liquid is almost absorbed and rice is tender, about 20 minutes. Season to taste with salt. Recipe makes 6 servings.

If desired, omit beans. When rice is tender, stir in 2 cups leftover cooked vegetables. Simmer another 5 minutes or until vegetables are hot.

HOT TURKEY SANDWICH WITH CHEESE SAUCE

3 cups chopped cooked turkey
1/2 cup finely chopped celery and leaves
1 cup mayonnaise
12 slices white bread
3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine

1 can (13 3/4 oz.) chicken broth
2 cups shredded American cheese
1/4 cup flour

Salt
In bowl, combine turkey, celery, and mayonnaise; blend well. Spread bread with butter. Place slices, buttered-side down in baking pan. Spread slices with turkey mixture. Top with remaining bread slices placing them buttered-side up. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until bread is lightly browned.

Meanwhile, in saucepan, heat chicken broth. Mix cheese and flour and sprinkle mixture into chicken broth. Cook and stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Add salt to taste. Remove sandwiches to serving platter. Spoon cheese sauce over each.

DEVILED BUTTERNUT SQUASH

1 medium butternut squash
2 4 1/2 ounce cans deviled ham
1 cup prepared stuffing mix
1/2 cup crushed pineapple, drained

3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons margarine
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Cut squash in half lengthwise, clean out seeds. Place squash skin side up in a baking dish. Pour in water to 1/2 inch. Bake 30 minutes; turn over and continue baking for another 30 minutes. Hollow out insides of squash, leaving skin intact. Mash squash in bowl; combine with remaining ingredients. Mix well and return mixture to the skins. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Recipe makes 4 servings.

TWIN TURKEYS

Make two stuffings and two sauces for glazing as desired. Stuff each turkey with different stuffing just before placing them into the oven. Sprinkle turkeys inside and out with salt and pepper. Stuff turkeys and sew or skewer opening. Place turkeys on a rack side by side in a shallow roasting pan. If turkeys become too brown, cover with foil tents. Roast turkeys at 250 degrees. Thirty minutes before turkeys are ready spoon over half of each of the glazes. Remove from oven and place turkeys on a large platter. Spoon remaining glazes over turkeys again. Garnish with parsley sprigs and green grapes.

CRANBERRY-MAPLE GLAZE

1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon maple flavoring
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
In saucepan, mix butter, maple

Ann-Margret, 'feather freak'

BY ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

Bird search

A model at the spring collection show Monday in New York shows a black lace dress in an above-the-ankle style by Donald Brooks. At lower right, wearing a white cowboy hat, is actress Ann-Margret, who said she came looking for feathers. "I'm a feather freak," she said. "Feathers and cashmere — anything that's soft and cuddly." (AP Wirephoto)

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Ann-Margret went to the Donald Brooks spring fashion show in search of feathers.

"I'm a feather freak. Feathers and cashmere. Anything that's soft and cuddly," she said. She was wearing false eyelashes, white cowboy hat, tinted glasses, baby blue pants suit, knuckle-to-knuckle diamond ring and twin-heart necklace.

She's seen a picture in a magazine of a Brooks feather creation, and she wanted it.

She watched as the day clothes were paraded by: two-piece dresses with the well-known Brooks tucking, navy and white unlined coats, tweed suits with wrap skirts.

"Spring is the pleated skirt and crepe suit," boomed the announcer.

So far, no feathers. Brooks endorsed the full look on top with full sleeves, dropped shoulders and generously cut smocks.

Spring for Brooks was also a white linen two-piece dress and white jersey wrap dress, just below the knee, like most of the collection.

Prices were about $185-$400. Black lace evening dresses were topped with lace pom-pom hats, which made models look like French poodles.

Spring evening dresses were long, narrow tubes of matt jersey, in black, in white. Brooks liked tiers of pleated ruffles: in evening "bed jacket" wraps and long, one-shouldered ruffle-ruffle-ruffles.

Under one off-the-shoulder pink lace dress were — a few feathers.

Feathers! There were a couple of black and white feather boas.

And finally — a black jersey dress with a full-length removable pink feather skirt! The whole crowd was amused at it.

So was Ann-Margret. But it wasn't the feather creation she was looking for.

"I think it was over a nightgown," she said, taking off her large diamond ring and putting it in her purse, before she went out on the street.

London's registers ringing

LONDON (AP) — The bells are already ringing for the marriage next week of Queen Elizabeth II's daughter, Princess Anne, but the sound is coming from Britain's cash registers.

The Commemorative Collectors' Society calculates that the marriage of the 23-year-old princess to Capt. Mark Phillips is worth more than $15.5 million to the souvenir industry.

The romance's commercial spinoff makes the event "the most extensively exploited royal wedding since that of the Duke of York and Princess Mary of Teck in 1893," said Steven Jackson, the society's secretary.

That royal couple became King George V and Queen Mary, the great grandparents of Princess Anne.

Jackson's society has 1,500 members and advises on the investment merits of souvenirs. He said it has listed more than 80 of the new royal wedding items that it believes have artistic worth and may appreciate in value. Most are in pottery, porcelain, crystal or precious metals.

The most expensive item on the list is an 18-carat gold jewel box lined in velvet and carrying the initials A and M within a border of foliage and lovers' knots. Only two are being made, and each will cost the equivalent of $2,388. Another expensive buy are gold goblets at $1,164 apiece.

The society estimates that the government will earn more than $300,000 in sales taxes from the souvenir plates, trays, medallions, beakers, mugs and loving cups.

"The wedding coincides with a period of social affluence and a lively interest in the acquisitive habit," he said.

The marriage takes place Nov. 14 in Westminster Abbey, and 1,500 guests have been invited.

Interesting side dish
New on the holiday scene is this combination of apple slices, sweet potatoes and pitted prunes baked in a casserole. It's one of those dishes that seems bursting with nutrients with a delicious flavor besides.

1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup syrup from sweet potatoes or apple juice
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Toasted coconut (optional)
Preheat oven to 350 degrees.
Drain sweet potatoes, arrange a layer on bottom of 2-quart casserole. Cover with half of the apple slices and prunes. Top with second layer of sweet potatoes, apples and prunes. Melt butter in small saucepan. Add sugar, syrup and vanilla. Bring to a boil; pour over sweet potatoes. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees 20 minutes. Uncover and continue to bake 20 to 25 minutes, basting occasionally. Sprinkle with toasted coconut if desired. Ann Landers Deposit salary, then go home

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy 16. I need to hear from an adult if I am wrong about this.

I've had a part-time job after school for quite a while. I earn about $50 a week. I have a savings account and am going to help put myself through college.

I work hard at my job and enjoy it. I also enjoy seeing my little savings account grow and draw interest. But lately it hasn't been growing much because my dad borrows small amounts and never pays me back. It seems he always needs $10 or $20 "for a few days." He now owes me $80.

We are not poor. The $30 he borrowed yesterday was for a piece of photography equipment. How can I say no to my dad?

I need some help on this one.—Not Chase Manhattan

Dear Not Chase: The best solution is to get to the bank on payday. Keep just enough money at home for your bare expenses. If you don't have it, you can't lend it, pal.

Dear Ann Landers: Six years ago I became involved with my boss. After a lot of gossip his wife divorced him. I thought surely he would then marry me but he didn't. To my surprise he married a woman I'd never heard of. He had been using me as a decoy.

My health collapsed and I was hospitalized for three months. Two years later I met and married a marvelous man. He knew all about my past history and said it didn't bother him and he never wanted me to mention it again. We now have two young children and are extremely happy.

Three months ago the ex-boss-former-lover dropped in on me at 4 p.m. with two dozen red roses. I nearly fainted. It seems his marriage fell apart last year and he can't get me off his mind. I ordered him to leave me alone.

He has been sending me letters and gifts and he telephones every week at least once. I have told my husband everything. He has faith in me but how long will it last if this continues? I need your help.—Victim Of An Unwelcome Ghost

Dear Vic: I assume you have sent back all the gifts. If not—do so at once. Have your telephone number changed to an unlisted one. If the Unwelcome Ghost shows up in person again, tell him you will call the police if he doesn't stop harassing you. Then do it.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 17-year-old daughter is a serious-minded girl who is determined to go to college even though we are in dire financial straits. For two summers she has worked at her uncle's resort. This past summer she decided to take a job as a sitter for some friends of ours because they live within walking distance of a wonderful library and a fine museum.

For nine weeks that girl stayed on their place and took care of three children (the youngest two years of age) while both parents traveled for three weeks. The rest of the time they worked together in a business. She did all the laundry, housework and cooking. They paid her $20 a week and room and board. We feel they took advantage of her. What do you think?—Chapel Hill, N.C.

Dear N.C.: You call that "sitting"? I call it a combination cook, housekeeper, laundress and child-tender. Your daughter has a lot to learn that she won't find in the library. I hope she makes a smarter deal next year.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze And You—For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654. (Copyright 1973)

That finesse must be sent in right direction

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Look at the spade suit in today's hand. How would you plan to take the finesse in this suit?

South wins the first club trick and sees that he needs three spade tricks to make game and rubber. Each of the other suits will produce only two tricks.

Opening lead — ♣ 2

If South needed only two spade tricks, he could well afford to lead the queen of spades from his hand for a finesse. This is the wrong play when he needs three spade tricks.

The trouble with leading the queen is that the king is sure to be played. If West plays the king (assuming that he holds this card), dummy must win with the ace. Now South has only one other top card, the jack. He must hope for a 3-3 break.

South is no better off if he leads the queen and loses to East. South will later take tricks with the ace and jack, but again he is dependent on a 3-3 break for his third trick in the suit.

LEAD TOWARD SOUTH

The right play is to take the ace of spades to begin with and then lead a low spade toward the South hand. If East has the king, as happens to be the case, he may take it then, allowing South to win the queen and jack later. If East plays low, South takes the queen and gets to dummy in order to lead another spade through East's king.

This play is not, of course, sure fire. West may have the king of spades, and South will then lose the queen or jack to West. The recommended play is, however, the best way to try for three tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S-Q J 6 3 H-A 9 3 D-K Q 4 C-A K 9. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club. You intend to make a jump rebid in no-trump at your next turn to show that you have about 19 or 20 points. You would bid a good suit if you had one, but in this case your object is to make it easy for partner to respond. (Copyright 1973)

Peplinskis mark 50th anniversary

AMHERST JUNCTION — Mr. and Mrs. Alex Peplinski celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Oct. 27 with a Mass of Thanksgiving at St. James Catholic Church. Attendees for the original service, Mrs. Eric Sroda and Leon Peplinski, also participated in the ceremony.

The Mass was followed by a reception, dinner and dance given by the children at the Tomorrow River Supper Club in Amherst.

The Peplinskis, who have been retired since 1963, are the former owners of Pep's, which is now the Tomorrow River Supper Club.

They are the parents of seven children; Sister M. Jeanette and Sister M. Clairann, Green Bay; Mrs. Albert Pierce, Racine; Alex, Wisconsin Rapids; Mrs. Robert Brzezinski, Wausau; Robert, Big Bend, and Mrs. Paul Horvath, Stevens Point. They have 15 grandchildren.

Mexico lists policy on population

The Mexican government has announced a far-reaching policy aimed at reducing the high population growth, currently a swift 3.5 per cent increase annually, through family planning education.

Purpose of the new plan is to get population growth under control rather than leaving it on its own, which has been official policy since early in the century.

At the same time, it was pointed out, birth control as a policy has been rejected. The project envisions family planning through education.

President Luis Echeverria ordered preparation of a legislative proposal — the New General Law on Population — according to an announcement by Interior Minister Mario Moya Palencia.

For the past 50 years, the official policy has been "To govern is to populate," a result of the bloody 1910 Revolution when a million and a half Mexicans died.

There were vast regions of the country without a single inhabitant. The government wanted those regions inhabited.

Today, however, the explosive growth in population is beginning to "dilute economic development," it was pointed out.

The Mexican growth rate is among the highest in the world and hinders uniform growth, since public works rarely catch up with the needs of the people.

Moya Palencia explained that the new law will promote a reduction in population growth, not through coercion but rather through education.

Instead of campaigning, the government will conduct family planning programs.

Moya Palencia said that Mexico rejects a "neocolonialist theory" which states that, instead of seeking development, less fortunate countries should control their birth rate.

"It is not instead of development but rather as a part of development that the law will operate in the new policy on demographic growth," he said.

Mexico has a population of 56 million. By 1980 this figure will grow to 70 million according to studies. The nation's population will reach 135 million at the turn of the century.

The new policy is short-term, it was pointed out, for the next 15 years. It will be presented to Congress shortly.

Professor from UW recognized

Dr. Lois Ann M. Anderson, an ethnomusicologist specializing in African Music, has been named Wisconsin's Outstanding Young Woman of the Year for 1973.

Miss Anderson, daughter of Margaret Anderson, Brainerd, Minn., along with the winners in each of the 49 other states, is now being considered for one of 1973's Ten Outstanding Young Women of America Awards. The 10 national winners will be announced Nov. 28 at ceremonies in Washington, D.C.

Nominated by the Alumni Association of the College of St. Scholastica, Miss Anderson's complete biography will appear in the 1973 awards volume of Outstanding Young Women of America.

Dr. Anderson is presently an associate professor of Music at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Appetizing salad for hearty meals

A lettuce wedge topped with a tantalizing dressing makes an excellent salad for a hearty meal. The dressing is prepared in a bowl, then is covered and refrigerated until serving time. Mix together 1 cup dairy sour cream; 1/4 cup chili sauce; 1/4 cup chopped sweet pickle (or pickle relish); 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1/2 teaspoon dill weed.

A REVOLUTIONARY OFFER FROM SENTRY!

SENTRY A never-tried-before plan...that makes it easier than ever before for you to buy!

Give them this marvelously written, fully illustrated and bound

VOLUME 1...only 25¢

Illustrated World Encyclopedia

THIS HANDSOME, FACT-FILLED VOLUME IS YOUR FAMILY'S INTRODUCTION TO ILLUSTRATED WORLD ENCYCLOPEDIA

We invite you to enroll in our money-saving plan and take home this remarkable first volume of Illustrated World Encyclopedia for only 25¢...and make it a permanent part of your youngster's home reference library.

Compare this single volume (valued at $2.98) with other encyclopedias—especially those costing a great deal more. See for yourself what an extraordinary value it is.

More important, see what a valuable aid it can be for 7 to 14 year old children as they use it to assist them with homework, and for independent study on their own.

Should you then decide at any time...for any reason...that you don't wish to receive additional volumes, you may cancel your subscription at no expense to you. But you keep Volume 1 no matter what you decide!

DON'T MISS THIS OPPORTUNITY to get the 21-volume ILLUSTRATED WORLD ENCYCLOPEDIA directly by mail for less than the cost of any other major reference library!

Simply fill in the 25¢ Certificate below and pick up Volume 1 at your store.

Take this first volume home...examine it...compare it with other encyclopedia sets. See why ILLUSTRATED WORLD is actually rated above encyclopedias costing much more.

When you agree upon enrollment that ILLUSTRATED WORLD ENCYCLOPEDIA is exactly what your children need, you will continue to receive additional volumes and pay for them on our easy book-a-month plan.

If you do decide to own the complete set, your children will be entitled to a FREE 5-year membership in the famous Library Research Service—a professional service that is helping thousands of students achieve the highest grades. And you will be able to keep the set up to date by adding the Illustrated World Book-of-the-Year which will be offered to you annually at a special subscriber's price.

But, if at any point in time before you've finished paying for your set of encyclopedias, you're still not convinced it's the finest set available for 7-14 year old youngsters—and a fantastic value—you can return to the publisher Volumes 2-21 at his expense—keep Volume 1 as your 25¢ gift...and the matter will be closed.

No calls, no nuisance, no nothing!

GET YOUR INTRODUCTORY VOLUME NOW!

Just bring in the Certificate below and you will immediately be given Volume 1 for only 25¢. The rest is up to you.

THE GREAT $100.00 MISUNDERSTANDING

...or why an encyclopedia does not have to be extremely high-priced to be exceptionally high caliber.

Of the three rated sets of encyclopedias recommended for children in the elementary grades, ILLUSTRATED WORLD ENCYCLOPEDIA is by far the least expensive...the most value for your money! There isn't a better value in a complete reference library available anywhere. And for very sensible reasons.

ILLUSTRATED WORLD ENCYCLOPEDIA is not sold door-to-door. That means no salesmen's commissions to pay...no high-pressure gimmicks...no finance charges. That is why we do not have to charge more for ILLUSTRATED WORLD ENCYCLOPEDIA...and why it is such an outstanding value!

The first volume, valued at $2.98, is given to you at the store for only 25¢, virtually as a gift, for enrolling in our unique book-a-month plan. Volumes 2 and 3 are automatically mailed to you...one volume each succeeding month. You decide at home—at your leisure—whether or not you want to continue and get the full set. If your answer is yes, you simply pay $2.98 for each volume plus 49¢ for postage and handling—then you receive all the remaining Volumes 4-21 the very next month...all shipped directly from the publisher minus all of the costs connected with door-to-door selling. Should you change your mind at any time before you complete your payments, you may return to the publisher all the volumes at his expense.

IT'S ALL HERE!

High prices make little difference in ghettos

BY ALONZO CANNADY
Associated Press Writer
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — While the price of just about everything seems to be rising, few residents of Newark's predominantly black Central Ward admit to having trouble coping. Most say they're used to it.

"When you on the bottom, you can't go down no further," said an elderly welfare recipient outside a supermarket in the ward.

The current talk of inflationary spirals and cost of living increases doesn't much change the substance of the ward's supermarket conversation; high prices have always been on people's minds.

"I have to tell you the truth, I don't really see that much of a change in prices," said Pearl Kendrick, a widow with two children who is on welfare.

"I never did eat much beef and stuff, so the meat price increase didn't affect me," she said.

Mrs. Kendrick receives $111 a month, $44 of it used to purchase $64 worth of food stamps.

"Some people don't see how I can make it with that money, but when you don't have no choice you find a way," she said.

Mrs. Kendrick lives in a rundown apartment building with a 13-year-old daughter and a 16-year-old son. She's been living there for nearly seven years and she said she's even grown to like it.

"I know it sounds crazy," she said. Her rent is paid by the welfare department, so she takes rent increases with a shrug.

"To tell the truth, I don't really know how much the rent is in this place," she said. "Really, though, the rent is ridiculous for this dump. It has gone up twice already this year, from $145 to $175."

Mrs. Kendrick pointed to her modestly stylish garments and said, "I do have a little trouble finding clothes that are cheap enough. But I have a small sewing machine, and I buy a lot of material, which is still pretty cheap."

Viola Baukum, 79, is also weathering the price storm.

"They give me more money for food stamps than they used to, so I don't feel nothing different," she said.

Mrs. Baukum is on welfare and is living in a senior citizen center on Lincoln Street in the ward. She said she is not a big meat eater either.

"When I was suffering from a bad heart and arthritis, the doctor told me to cut down on my meat and I followed his orders," she said.

She uses $36.00 worth of food stamps a month and her living expenses are low.

"Aint no difference between now and three years ago as far as I can see it," Mrs. Baukum observed.

Ronald Gatson, who lives with his wife and two children in one of the ward's better homes, said he can't see the reason for the "panic."

His shopping basket filled with vegetables, he said, "white people are getting upset about something we've had to live with for years. Food has always been high in ghetto food stores, and that's a well-known fact."

The contention is strongly disputed by supermarket officials, however.

"The stories circulating that we charge higher prices in ghetto stores are just not true," said a top official of the Foodtown Supermarket Co-Op who wished to remain anonymous.

"Our co-op has 110 stores in New Jersey and New York, and all of them follow the same format when it comes to pricing."

Gatson said he and his wife were both working and that, although things are difficult now, he doesn't notice any extreme difference.

"I guess when you're struggling constantly, you don't have the time to look up to see how things are going," he said.

After migrating to Newark from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in 1970, Gatson worked in construction. He left that job after six months for a job as a plasterer. Dissatisfied with that, he set off again looking for a job that would support his family.

"I've changed jobs about seven times in the last two years looking for something that pays well," he said. "I don't want my wife to work, but we have no choice."

His wife, Linda, who works in an office in nearby Elizabeth, said she doesn't mind working and feels it's necessary.

"There's no way we could make it if both of us weren't working," Mrs. Gatson said.

She added though, "This is not some new thing. We were hurting for a long time before the housewives' beef boycott."

"Sometimes it sickens me the way people parade on television and protest high prices. There were no parades and demonstrations last year when people out here got real sick because of eating rotten meat."

Courts

The cases of two men arrested in a mid-October drug raid in Appleton were set for trial Monday by Circuit Court Judge Gordon Myse.

A Nov. 26 trial was scheduled for Gregory L. Southard, 19, 1322 S. Mason St., accused of selling $3 worth of marijuana to a county narcotics agent on Sept. 4.

A Dec. 10 trial was set for Wally Satorius, 18, 509 W. Atlantic St., charged with selling $15 worth of marijuana to the same agent on Sept. 24.

A marijuana possession charge against David Anholzer, 21, 357 N. Roger St., Kimberly, was dismissed Monday by Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Anholzer and another Kimberly man, James R. Vander Velden, 22, 135 S. Sidney St., had been arrested by Appleton police on E. Wisconsin Avenue early Nov. 13, 1972. Vander Velden received one year's probation for the charge during April, at which time Anholzer's case was continued to this month.

No further trouble developed involving Anholzer, so the charge was dismissed.

Sentencing has been set for Thursday for Roger Kahler, 16, 1614 E. Randall Ave., convicted Monday of being armed while intoxicated.

Kahler pled guilty to the charge, which was amended from endangering the safety of another person by reckless use of a firearm. The plea was accepted by Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

The defendant was arrested after a Sept. 20 incident at his home, after he reportedly fired several shots from a .22-caliber revolver in the backyard of his residence. The incident was reported to police by a neighbor.

Prisoner who helped bleeding jail guard rewarded with release

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A prisoner in the Allegheny County Jail, who rescued a guard from another inmate who was holding a piece of broken glass at his throat, has been rewarded with his release to attend college on a football scholarship.

Cornell R. Johnston, a 6-foot-6, 260-pounder, jumped the other prisoner last April 22, forcing him to release the guard who was already bleeding from cuts on his throat, officials said.

"With the problems we are having in our prisons, it is clear that we probably need reinforcement of the kind of behavior Johnston exhibited," said U.S. District Court Judge Ralph F. Scalera.

Scalera suspended the remainder of Johnston's 15-year sentence Monday so he could accept a football scholarship from Kentucky State University.

State has black teacher imbalance

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Associated Press
WASHINGTON — Wisconsin schools must add 1,100 black teachers to "bring about equity and parity" for minorities, according to a top official of the National Education Association. That number of new black teachers is needed to bring the ratio of black teachers to black pupils to the national teacher-pupil ratio, according to Samuel B. Ethridge, director of the NEA's teacher rights program. The figures are drawn from a national study by Ethridge which indicates about 211,000 more minority teachers must be hired for the country's public schools to bring the minority educator-minority pupil ratio to the national teacher-pupil ratio of 1 to 22.5.

Job chances investigated in youth opportunity day

The Fox Cities Area Labor Management Council will sponsor a youth opportunity day Nov. 15. The day is designed to give students information on possible job opportunities in this area. They will spend an hour at each student-selected business, touring the facility and learning about it in a discussion session.

OSHKOSH — The music department of the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh, is offering its annual scholarships to high school seniors in the upper half of their graduating class who plan to major in music. Applications are available from Dr. James D. Koh, music department, UW-O. Auditions will be Feb. 2, 1974 in all areas of applied music.

Appleton High School-East — Ron Odgaard, printing teacher, has been appointed editor and photographer for the bulletin of the Fox River Valley Club of Printing House Craftsmen, Inc. The bulletin is called "Foxcrafter," and received a third place award from the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen.

Madison Junior High — Elsie Johnson, counselor, has been re-elected to a three-year term as a member of the executive committee of the East Central Wisconsin Personnel and Guidance Association. The association, serves professional workers in the fields of guidance, counseling and personnel.

Madison — Bruce McKenzie has been elected school mayor and will head the student council activities. Fran

Ethridge said that far better conditions exist in the South in relation to that black teacher-pupil ratio than exist elsewhere in the country. Nationally, said Ethridge, school systems need to add about 116,000 black teachers; 84,500 Spanish speaking; 7,400 American Indians; and 3,000 Asian Americans. More than 20 per cent of the nation's public school students come from those groups. Because blacks represent the largest minority in the nation, Ethridge concentrated his remarks on that group. Wisconsin, with a 1-to-47 black teacher-black pupil ratio, ranked 32nd in the nation in terms of the parity Ethridge said should be sought. All of the 17 Southern states were found to have a better black teacher black pupil ratio than Wisconsin. Mississippi and Louisiana, for instance — long strongholds of school segregation — headed the list of 1972 figures with the most favorable ratio of 1-to-28. Ethridge also praised some Southern states for rapid improvements between 1970 — when an earlier study was made — and 1972. During that same period, the Wisconsin level improved from 1-to-53 to 1-to-47. In a similar study of cities with more than 25,000 black students enrolled in public schools, East Baton Rouge, La. was found to have the best ratio in the country, at 1-to-26, while Boston had the worst, at 1-to-88.

Plan agency schedules priorities session

KAUKAUNA — The East-Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission will conduct one in its series of public meetings to help develop program priorities at 7 p.m. Thursday at the high school cafeteria. The sessions are being conducted at several locations in the agency's 10, member counties.

I-57 design concepts strongly endorsed

MANITOWOC — Final design concepts for proposed Interstate 57 through Manitowoc County were given strong endorsement at a public hearing here Tuesday that attracted more than 300 persons. About 33 persons offered oral testimony and they favored the project by a 2-1 margin.

Representatives from industry, business and area governments voiced solid support for the I-route. The portion through Manitowoc County is approximately 33 miles long and will cost about $35.5 million. Most of the opposition came from farmers in southern Manitowoc County and portions of adjoining Sheboygan County whose property would be adversely affected by the highway construction.

There are two and sometimes three alternate routes proposed for Manitowoc County. Manitowoc officials generally favored the most easterly route adjacent to the city.

The alternate routes were developed, officials said, to avoid extensive relocation of homes, farm buildings and business places.

"For too long the lakeshore area in Manitowoc County has had roads that do not measure up to the standards and demands of interstate commerce or for business or pleasure automobile driving. This has created a real hardship for our existing industries to secure equipment and necessary movements of their products," Manitowoc Mayor Anthony Dufek said.

Several farmers cited the loss of valuable farm land to the highway project in the face of growing national and worldwide food shortages.

Attorney Francis Bouda from the Village of Cleveland, a leading spokesman for the opposition group, called upon state highway officials to reconsider construction of an expressway, in place of the Interstate, between Sheboygan and Green Bay.

Bouda said the expressway could be built along the existing U.S. 141 roadbed and could save many millions of dollars. He said the expressway would eliminate the need for 12 interchanges at a cost of $500,000 apiece, 30 to 40 overpasses at a cost of $250,000 apiece and some 2,000 acres of farmland with a value of $500 an acre. The last in a series of three hearings will be held 7 p.m. Thursday at Denmark High School. The first was conducted at Sheboygan last Thursday.

Fatal crash leads to arrest for 12 burglaries

Evidence found at the scene of an Oct. 10 traffic fatality north of Kaukauna has figured in the arrest of an 18-year-old rural Seymour man for 12 burglaries, most of them in the Freedom area. The man, Rodney B. Peirson, route 1, Seymour, was charged with the 12 burglary counts when he appeared Tuesday before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. A $10,000 signature bond was set and the case continued to Thursday. An arrest warrant was to be issued today for another man wanted in connection with the burglaries.

Police said a safe containing more than $800 and reported stolen the previous day from Freedom High School was among the items found in the trunk of one of the autos involved in the two-car crash.

The driver of that car was Gary Wisneski, 19, route 1, Kaukauna, and Peirson was a passenger in the vehicle. Wisneski sustained a shoulder separation, while Peirson suffered face and knee cuts and lost several teeth.

The second driver, Randy J. Vander Heiden, 16, route 2, Kaukauna, was killed in the crash, which took place about 7:15 p.m. at the intersection of Farrell and Greiner roads.

Peirson was charged with three burglaries at Freedom High School, one at the grade school, and four others in the Freedom area. Two other charges stemmed from break-ins at Center Valley and one each were from Oneida and Little Chute.

Police said the burglaries took place between June 26 and Oct. 9, and that the missing items included a large number of tools, more than $1,000, dynamite, beer, cigarettes and an electric calculator. Nothing was reported missing in three of the break-ins, although vandalism was incurred at two of those sites.

Fears over Nixon abroad

There has been a shifting of allegiances among European countries toward the Arab nations and Israel since the outbreak of the most recent Middle Eastern war. At least part of the change can be attributed to doubts over beleaguered President Nixon's ability to lead.

Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger is currently conferring with officials of other North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations on a number of issues, but specifically the apparent lack of support among those nations for the United States effort to reach a cease-fire in the Middle East. At issue especially is the failure of West Germany to forward arms to Israel — arms which came from the United States.

Meanwhile French President Pompidou has called a meeting of the leaders of the nine European Economic Community nations on the same topic. Monsieur Pompidou's wrath, however, is over what he considers the failure of the United States to consult Western Europe about a cease-fire. It was, he told the French Cabinet, "planned and put into effect without the participation of Europe in any form" and was a "dangerous" way to operate.

Part of the trouble is Europe's even greater reliance than that of the United States upon Arab oil. Before the latest eruption of hostilities, France probably was alone in its backing of Arab interests. But the former strong supporters of Israel, the Netherlands and West Germany, appear to be having second thoughts. This contributed to Bonn's failure to send on the military equipment.

One reason for France's development of its own nuclear power was to avoid ever being held hostage by that of the United States. It could at least start its own nuclear war if the United States abandoned it. To avoid this fear among other nations, United States officials must take them into their confidence. Cooperation is a two-way street. President Nixon, a secretive person at best, has used the surprise effect of acting on his own long before his current problems. He seriously alienated Japanese trust by his unannounced resumption of relations with mainland China, for instance.

But today the failure to consult raises new fears. The suggestion that the alert of American troops was for the President's personal political benefit is a terrifying possibility to those nations which rely upon the military strength of the United States. There has also been the feeling that President Nixon is not concerned with European problems — or really those of others in any case — in reaching a Middle East agreement.

Doubts over President Nixon's ability to govern reach much farther than Capitol Hill in Washington.

Parties and donors

David Adamany, the University of Wisconsin teacher and researcher who has specialized in studies of political party and campaign financing in America, has produced a recommendation for a severe tightening of the rules about solicitation of campaign money, its use, and the amount of permissible spending to influence the electorate.

Because it contains some novel propositions, including a plan for state matching of contributions to candidates, the plan is not likely to be embraced quickly in spite of the quickening realization that existing Wisconsin statutory controls are worthless for the most part.

Now Mr. Adamany is preparing a series of supplementary reports, providing foundation material for members of the state legislature and others who must be persuaded of the need for thorough and thoughtful revision of the laws nominally controlling. Surely some of the revelations of profligate spending and unorthodox solicitation that have emerged from the Watergate inquiry and related Washington developments must make any sober American who values his vote and his citizenship deeply concerned.

The leader of Gov. Lucey's task force on political financing reform has most recently brought out a report showing that most persons have never contributed to a politician or a party, and that of those who do, most are of above average means and higher than ordinary educational attainment.

Such findings are interesting, but it is not altogether clear that they are relevant or especially surprising. A study would show that giving for private purposes is also more common among persons of above average means and it is evident upon the slightest examination that participation in the political process in most other ways tends to be dominated by citizens who are among the best informed, have had more than average educational advantages, and who in many instances are involved because they can afford some private expense investment in politics. A cross section of a party caucus, even in a small district, or a state party convention, would show the same contrast between the comparatively well-schooled and the educationally underprivileged, and between the poor and the persons who are financially able.

Mr. Adamany proposes to use public tax dollars to subsidize parties and candidates as a means to democratize political financing. It may come to that. But it seems more likely that the mass of Americans who ignored the voluntary political party contribution option on their federal income tax returns last year are not likely to be pressing for action to extract such support under force of law. Perhaps some day such a bold innovation will be acceptable and accepted. For now, cleaning up the useless and out-dated pretenses of spending controls ought to be the first order of business.

Future for fatties

Fat people have to take a lot of criticism, from their doctors on down. But they could be the hope of the future for long-term space exploration.

Anyway, that's the opinion of Dr. Ralph A. Nelson, a nutritionist at the Mayo Clinic's department of physiology and biophysics. Dr. Nelson has conducted studies of hibernating bears, which have furnished some answers of benefit to human kidney patients.

Not only is fat one of the best sources of concentrated energy but the metabolism of the fat of the hibernating bear produces required water. And while all this efficiency is going on, the bear does not excrete any wastes.

Dr. Nelson carries these circumstances over to long space flights. Fat astronauts could be fed a sparse protein diet to keep muscles in tone and gradually use the high calorie content of fat cells, just like a bear.

At least it provides an excuse for taking that second helping. One can say he is in training for the space program.

Sen. Johnson might seek court seat

MADISON — Politics watchers believe they see signs of the emergence of a more than usually interesting and competitive judicial election in the spring.

There is now at least a 50-50 chance that Justice Horace Wilkie, now the man with second highest seniority on the State Supreme Court, will have as challenger Sen. Ray Johnson, the country lawyer from northwestern Wisconsin who has risen quickly in rank and power in the state Senate where he is now the floorleader of the Republican majority.

Justice Wilkie has not yet said he will run for re-election to the seat he has held since he was appointed 13 years ago by Gov. Gaylord Nelson. But there is little doubt that he will do so. He is 56, which is a long distance from required retirement age. Because Chief Justice E. Harold Hallows will be obliged to retire soon, the rule of seniority will bring him the gavel of the chief justice of the court if he is re-elected next April.

Many avenues open

Partly because of circumstance but also because of considerable aptitude and a generally favorable impression about his energy and ability created during a relatively brief legislative career, there has been some favorable speculation about the 37-year-old Johnson involving a variety of political career alternative opportunities.

The press speculation has mentioned mostly candidacy possibilities in partisan politics, ranging from attorney general, if the Republicans must recruit a new nominee for that place, to congressman, the governorship, and re-election to the Senate.

The state judicial ballot is nonpartisan. Therefore a bid for a court seat, even if it failed, would not foreclose other opportunities later in the year — especially in the currently unsettled state of the Republican party. Indeed, some of Johnson's friends can plausibly argue that a good campaign for a statewide judgeship, even if it should fail, would be a valuable prelude for a place on the Republican state ticket in the fall.

Undertaking to displace a sitting judge is not a task to be regarded lightly. Only a handful of state court members have been refused re-election in modern times. But it has happened. And some of the members of the court have had uncomfortably close contests, suggesting that the security of incumbency is not as great as in earlier years.

Indeed, the last time Justice Wilkie ran — soon after his appointment from a seat in the Senate interestingly enough, the decision was uncomfortably narrow. The challenger in 1964, moreover, had not achieved the recognition in the political community that Johnson has won as a result of his rapid rise in the legislature's leadership councils.

Johnson has some other assets as a potential challenger. His name will undoubtedly attract some ethnic group interest, as analysts see it. While it is not likely that an effective appeal to voters can be made on the basis of a judge's record on cases in which he has been involved, there may be other timely opportunities for Johnson. Already he has had suggestions to oppose the court reorganization plan before the legislature, which will give him a forum in the Senate if he chooses to use it.

Plucked from Senate

There will be a disposition to suppose that Johnson's major identification as a partisan in the legislature will be a handicap in a nonpartisan judicial contest. Yet, as it happens, he could probably neutralize such resistance by recalling that Wilkie was not elected to the court, but was plucked from the Senate where he had been a leading Democratic partisan, and named to his seat by a Democratic governor.

If Johnson challenges Justice Wilkie, it will hinge as directly on financial resources as any other factor. Lawyers, judges and many others find the fact distasteful. But communication with the electorate requires money, for a judicial office as well as for any others.

An incumbent has the advantage, as the establishment candidate in effect. The challenger, therefore, must move all consider a campaign budget. The impression prevails that Johnson is doing precisely that as he looks upon January 1 or thereabouts as the deadline for a decision.

"WHEN YOU HAVE A TROUBLEMAKER, PROMOTE HIM." (Old Army adage)

How to define profit difficult

"Profit" is perhaps one of the trickiest words in the language, because it seems so simple to define. Profit (or sometimes loss) is the bottom line of the financial report; it is what you have left over when you have paid all your expenses and taxes.

We are beginning to learn, however, that this is an over-simplified and distorted meaning of the word. For instance, since the advent of air travel, American railroads have generally not shown a profit. And, if they cannot be profitable, we suppose they should be junked.

But what about the "profit" to the country and to the travelers in a swift, efficient and comprehensive public transit system between cities? What about fewer cars on the road, less gasoline consumed, less public monies spent on insatiable highway construction? Where does all this show up on the balance sheet of the country?

French, German, and Italian railways had losses plus subsidies of some $5 billion last year. Yet anyone who has ever ridden on a French, German or Italian train cannot but marvel at the differences between them and their American counterparts. They are clean, punctual and attractive; they fill a genuine need; and, most of all, they are heavily patronized by travelers who cannot rely on the airlines.

The French, German and Italian governments don't expect their railroads to make a "profit" in the narrow sense of the word, any more than we expect our schools to make a profit. They provide an essential service for which the country is richer in other terms, and the "profit" is real, though intangible.

We Americans pride ourselves on being "pragmatists," but we are far from pragmatic in our philosophy of government and society. If we were, we would say that whatever works best is best, regardless of whether we call it "private" or "subsidy" or "nationalized" or "profit-making."

Some enterprises thrive best on private competition, and should show a profit or go out of business. Others, just as necessary, cannot show a profit in the narrow ledger sense of the word. Schools can't, hospitals can't, postal service can't, public transportation can't (in most cases), and we should subsidize, or nationalize, those that can't for the larger profit of pupils, patients, travelers, and the country as a whole.

Communism, in Russia for instance, has already learned that it can survive and grow only if it retreats from its rigid ideology and admits something of the "free market" into its Marxian economic structure. Capitalism has still to learn that it, too, can continue to flourish only if the earlier concept of "profit" is expanded to include those amenities of life that do not show up on the annual report or the quarterly dividend.

Federal powers not separate

There are few areas in which I feel competent to pull rank, particularly on the President of the United States, but American constitutional law is one of them. Not since Franklin D. Roosevelt tangled with the "Nine Old Men" has so much nonsense about the intention of the Framers passed as legal tender.

Mr. Nixon keeps talking about the "co-equal" branches of the government and the "separation of powers," but all you have to do is read the Constitution with minimal care to realize that the three branches are "co-dependent" and that powers, far from being separated, are merged.

Some prime examples Where, for example, is "legislative power" located? Obviously, the two houses of Congress have a substantial chunk of it. However, what is the Presidential veto if not an instrument of legislative power? In concrete terms it gives him the same legislative weight as two-thirds of each house of Congress — that is, a two-thirds vote is required to overrule him. Then there is the Supreme Court's power (not stipulated in the Constitution, but in my judgment taken for granted by the authors) to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional. If that isn't legislative power, what is it?

Moving to the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, we find a Chief Executive who is hemmed in, who is dependent, for example, on the Senate for approval of all his top officials. As far as inferior offices are concerned, Congress has put him in a cage called Civil Service. The last time I checked, the President could only fire about a thousand people summarily. And in the background are the courts which — as Harry Truman learned when he seized the steel industry during the Korean War — can move in and declare a Presidential decision unconstitutional.

Section III of the Constitution guaranteed the independence of the judiciary, but the only tribunal expressly established was the Supreme Court. The existence of inferior Federal courts depends upon Congressional action reaching back to the Judiciary Act of 1790. Congress could, if it chose, abolish the system tomorrow.

The legislature also has control over the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and its size. In the wake of the Civil War when Congress was at daggers drawn with President Andrew Johnson, a bill was passed cutting back the number of justices and depriving the Court of authority to accept habeas corpus challenges to the Reconstruction Acts.

In other words, the Constitution created three distinct agencies — the legislative, executive, and judicial — and gave each of them a hammer-lock of sorts over the others. Thus the view that the President is the incarnation of "executive power" has to be tempered by the recognition that both Congress and the Judiciary are equipped to throw a tackle on him. (At one point in the brawl between Congress and Andrew Johnson, the former passed a "Tenure of Office" statute that barred the President from firing, without Senate approval, any official appointed with-Senatorial consent — it was not declared unconstitutional until 1926!)

More broadly, executive, legislative, and judicial power are scattered throughout the government. The Internal Revenue Service, for example, is an executive agency, but it exercises judicial power in hearing appeals from taxpayers and its decisions can be further reviewed in the regular courts.

What we have, in short, is a system of checks and balances from which no agency is immune and President Nixon's fondness for the veto should suggest his low view of the virginal precepts of the "separation of powers."

Appleton Post, Nov. 7, 1873.

For some days a place of questionable repute has been known to exist in the second story of Nick Wirth's brick building on College Avenue. Several times the inmates of easy virtue received notice from authorities that their establishment would be cleansed as far as legal measures could do it, if they did not observe the injunctions pronounced and forsake their iniquitous calling.

But they postponed the day of recognizing these official decrees, and according to subsequent events, to their peril!

It happened on Sunday night last a number of men at work on the government dam at this place visited this establishment in an intoxicated condition, and as the inmates did not seem inclined to receive them, they forced the doors. The scene which followed was lively in the extreme. The inmates were maltreated severely, the furniture was badly broken, and for an hour or two the worst kind of confusion prevailed.

The final result was that the invaders were subjected to a fine for their lawless conduct, and the inmates of the house gathered their robes about them and sought more congenial accommodations elsewhere.

Courts

A Nov. 21 preliminary hearing was set Tuesday in the case of Joseph Arnoldussen, 34, 1753 N. Ullman St., charged with the transfer of encumbered property.

Arnoldussen is accused of failing to make payments totaling $900 on an all-purpose merchandiser he purchased from an area company on April 3, 1971. The payments reportedly were not made between July 10, 1971 and Oct. 14, 1973.

The defendant was released on a $1,000 signature bond ordered by Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Robert Gurholt, 27, route 4, Waupaca, was charged with disorderly conduct, relating to an Oct. 26 argument over car repairs at the Esquire Body Shop, 2220 W. Wisconsin Ave., Appleton, when he appeared Tuesday before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Schaefer continued the case to Thursday.

Kenneth Samson, 31, Bear Creek, was charged with false imprisonment, relating to a late Saturday or early Sunday incident outside a Bear Creek tavern, when he appeared Tuesday before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

According to information filed with the complaint, Samson and an unidentified man forced Anthony Garcia, 42, also of Bear Creek, from a tavern and kept him locked in the trunk of a car for about two hours before Samson let him out.

Schaefer provided that Samson be released on a $1,000 signature bond pending his next court appearance on Thursday.

A Nov. 13 pretrial conference was set Tuesday in the case of Bruce R. Werner, 20, 414 E. Taft Ave., charged with disorderly conduct.

Werner appeared before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 and was accused of going to the residence of Werner's ex-wife at 804 S. Memorial Drive on Sept. 29 and letting the air out of two of her car's tires.

A Nov. 14 trial was scheduled Tuesday for David L. Brunette, 27, 917 W. Lorain St., charged with disorderly conduct.

Brunette is accused of struggling with a city policeman at a northside tavern on Oct. 13. The defendant entered a guilty plea, which was withdrawn by Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. Schaefer then set the trial date.

A Feb. 7, 1974 trial was scheduled Tuesday for John DeBruin, 18, route 3, Seymour, charged with battery after a fight Sept. 14 at Seymour High School.

DeBruin is accused of starting a fight with William J. Krahn, 15, also of route 3, Seymour. Krahn reportedly required stitches for mouth cuts received in the fight.

The trial date was set after DeBruin entered a not guilty plea before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Michael Geise, 18, 1409 N. McDonald St., was placed on the Volunteers in Probation program for one year after he was found guilty Tuesday of disorderly conduct by Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

The defendant was accused of swearing at a county investigator outside the Arnold Abel residence at Mayflower Drive and Rock Road in the Town of Ellington on Sept. 27.

A 25-year-old Appleton man was placed on probation for one year and ordered to spend the first 30 days in the county jail while also seeking psychiatric care after he was found guilty Tuesday of disorderly conduct, relating to a Sept. 29 window peeping incident.

Michael R. Roth, 45 Woodmere Court, entered a no contest plea to the charge before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

The incident reportedly took place outside the Edward Green residence, 1818 E. College Ave.

John Bruecker, 30, route 1, Black Creek, was charged Tuesday with disorderly conduct relating to an Oct. 21 incident outside the Nichols Ballroom, Town of Nichols, when he appeared Tuesday before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Bruecker reportedly had been bothering his ex-wife, who was working as a bartender, and later struggled with a man who was attempting to escort him from the ballroom.

Schaefer continued the case to Friday.

Gary J. Davidson, 26, 1103 N. Durkee St., was fined $50 after he was found guilty Tuesday of shoplifting items valued together at $36.93 from the Appleton K mart store on Oct. 27.

Davidson was accused of taking an air freshener, an ash tray, a scented candle, assorted magnetic hooks, three cassette tapes, a pair of men's boots and an ironing board cover.

He entered a guilty plea before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Two trucking companies forfeited bonds Tuesday in excess of $200 for recent overload violations at the Wrightstown Scale on U.S. 41.

Orioles' Palmer cited

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Palmer, the right-handed ace of the Baltimore Orioles, was named today the American League's Cy Young Award winner for 1973.

The Orioles' bird of beauty won in a walk over an illustrious group of pitchers, including California strikeout whiz Nolan Ryan and Oakland ace Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

The Baseball Writers Association of America, noting Palmer's 22-9 won-lost record and league-leading earned run average of 2.40, gave Palmer 14 first-place votes and six for second for a total of 88 points. Points were awarded on the basis of five for a first-place vote, three for second and one for third.

"I'm really thrilled," said Palmer. "It's nice to know that you're recognized as the best pitcher in the league. Every year I've been close and this year, I finally made it."

Ryan, also a 20-game winner, established an all-time major league strikeout record this past season with 383 and pitched two no-hitters. But despite the accomplishments, the hard-throwing Angels' star finished 26 points shy of Palmer in second place.

Ryan's total of 62 points were fashioned on nine first-place votes, three for second and eight for third. Twenty-four members of the BBWAA—two from each of the league's 12 cities—participated in the voting.

Hunter was mentioned on more ballots than any player—22—but still fell well below Palmer's runaway total. Hunter, who had the gaudiest record of the three top Cy Young players with 21-5, had 52 points. The writers gave the Oakland control pitcher the only other first-place vote, as well as 13 for second and 8 for third.

Detroit's John Hiller, the only relief pitcher named among the nine pitchers receiving votes, was a distant fourth with six points. Hiller, who saved a record 38 games and won 10 more, was awarded a vote for second place and

A native of Kenosha, Andersen also coached at Wilmet, Kohler, Sheboygan Falls and Sheboygan South High Schools and at Lakeland College.

Engen wins FVA coaching award

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent sports editor

One has the feeling that Appleton-West's Paul Engen would rather regard his latest "coach of the year" honor as a group award than as an individual citation.

Engen was voted his second coaching honor in three years by the Fox Valley Sportswriters Association recently. He edged Kaukauna's Ken Roloff by a narrow margin. Picked for third place, Engen's team won the Fox Valley Association title—the Terrors' first in 10 years. Roloff's team, picked for fourth, finished second, a scant half-game behind AHS-W.

Engen laid the bulk of the credit for West's 1973 success upon his players and his coaching aides. Key factors cited were: (1) Coachability of the certain amount of apathy toward the sport at the school. As an example, he pointed out that a number of players reported out of shape to the opening drills. Engen added that a sense of pride has helped eliminate this apathy and that the number of people in the football program has increased.

West's title-winning team was one of the smaller ones, from a physical standpoint, in the FVA. Its defense allowed fewer points than any other team. Offensively, Engen stressed a patient, ball-control type of game.

Engen, who also coached for three years at Abraham High School, Minnesota, is the father of a son (Brent, 11) and a daughter (Jacqueline, 10). His wife, Marcia, teaches at Franklin School.

players. (2) Determination which everyone showed, especially in the face of such adversities as injuries. (3) "Total team effort on the part of all squad members." He especially lauded the players who saw little game action but played key roles during weekday practices as part of the "scout" team.

"Our coaching staff has played an important part in building the current continuity of our program," Engen pointed out. He noted that John Kading (varsity) Harland Gruber (JV head coach) and Hank Sukow (JV) have been with him all during his 5-year stint at West. Gary Klug (varsity) has assisted for three years, and Don Knaack (JV) for one.

Engen had no "5-year plan" when he came to West (replacing veteran mentor Ade Dillon) from Winona State College, where he was freshman coach. But he did have a definite time-table in mind. "I felt that at the end of three years we should be respectable and we should be able to make a fight for the top spot." Though the early going was rough (the Terrors were 1-4-1 in his

New-look Lakers test Bucks

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The way Coach Bill Sharman told it, his Los Angeles Lakers simply aren't ready to take on a team of such high powered quality as the Milwaukee Bucks.

The Bucks, however, think Sharman is trying to put them on.

"I just don't think we're playing well enough now to beat the top teams in the league," said Sharman, whose revamped Lakers meet the Bucks here tonight in what could well be a preview of next spring's National Basketball Association playoffs.

"I'm pleased with the progress we're making, but we have to improve in a lot of areas to be a contender," Sharman told a Bucks' news conference by telephone hookup from Cleveland before the Lakers' game there Tuesday night.

The Bucks' 11-1 start and traditional rivalry with Los Angeles are responsible for such unusual interest in an early season game. Moreover, most of the Bucks' victories have been at expense of the league's lesser lights, and the Los Angeles is expected to provide a more accurate barometer of their strength.

It will be Wisconsin fans' first look at the Lakers without massive Wilt Chamberlain and Jim McMillian, one of the NBA's top young forwards. The Lakers traded McMillian to Buffalo for 6-foot-10 Elmore Smith to replace Chamberlain, who defected to the American Basketball Association.

McMillian's spot eventually will be filled by Connie Hawkins, the brilliant but at times lackadaisical showman obtained last week from Phoenix for Keith Erickson. Bill Bridges and Happy Hairston will start at forwards until Hawkins learns Sharman's system, while high scoring Jerry West and Gail Goodrich remain at guards.

Smith did not make the trip to Cleveland because of an injury, but Sharman was hopeful he would play tonight.

"You can't replace people like Wilt, McMillian and Erickson and be a winner again overnight," Sharman said. "We're in a learning process. It takes a year or two of playing together to smooth things out enough so you can be a contender."

However, Bucks' Coach Larry Costello accused Sharman of "trying to lull us to sleep."

"I think Sharman is a fantastic coach and I still think Los Angeles is a strong

Packers surprisingly lively at initial practice of week

By LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — It may be hard to believe, in the light of recent events, but there is the possibility — just the possibility — that the Packers have been prematurely obituarized.

At any rate, the corpse which appeared on the South Onelda Street practice field Tuesday was lively in the extreme.

It was the first gathering of the green and gold since Sunday's 31-17 jolt from the Bears, who quite clearly had convinced the faithful they had left our heroes for dead.

Yet, rather than the apathy and gloom which might have been expected, there was a surprising amount of noise and hustle from beginning to end of a 90-minute session, staged in bone-chilling cold.

The exhibition of verve and vitality was in marked contrast to the two previous Tuesdays, following consecutive disasters in Los Angeles, when the Packers appeared listless and lethargic.

Though it is much too early to determine what if anything it may portend for Sunday's Lambeau Field exercise against the St. Louis Cardinals, this unexpected show of animation was rooted in a more positive approach than has recently been evident.

Surprisingly enough, it appeared to stem from a look at the film of Sunday's disappointment, which the players viewed in meetings which preceded the practice.

"We had a good first half against the Bears and I think we got the feeling we're coming out of it," Ken Bowman explained. "I think everybody is starting to get some confidence back."

"It's true we had a bad second half, but we did that to ourselves. They didn't stop us. It's tough to start out first-and-25. I think we did that on four or five occasions in the second half."

"I think, after realizing this and what we accomplished in the first half, that we feel we have reason to hope. It may be too little too late," the veteran center admitted, obviously pondering the fact that the Packers now are two games off the "wild card" pace with six to play, "but I think the guys are starting to get a lot more confidence back."

Tight end Mike Donohoe struck a similar theme. "Maybe we had good fire today because the film did show some good things. Not a lot of good things," he conceded with a faintly apologetic smile, "but there were some."

"Last week, in contrast, was depressing after that game in Detroit. There wasn't much redeeming to be seen in that film."

Quarterback Scott Hunter, still sporting a prominent mouse under his right eye, a souvenir of Sunday's combat, put it another way.

"We felt it was time to break out of our shell, he said. "We decided to have a fun week, get ready to play Sunday and have some fun Sunday, too. There's no use to tiptoe around."

"We can get ready for the game by jumping around and patting each other on the back."

"It's a sort of group feeling. Nobody talked it up — we all seemed to burst out at the same time today."

Offensive tackle Malcolm Snider, elaborating on this theme, asserted, "You can't hang your head. You've got to believe we're better than we've shown. You can't hang your head — it just doesn't do any good."

"I think what happened today is an attitude of optimism — that things have got to get better."

"What we do on Tuesday doesn't mean anything, of course. But at least the fire we had today is a good, positive sign."

Defensive Captain Jim Carter was the apparent catalyst in the incipient revival, taking it upon himself to "talk it up" on the field and be quick to compliment a teammate whenever he made a good play or exhibited hustle.

"I think everybody wants to get his head back up and get going," Carter said. "There's no point in dragging around. At least, that's the way I felt."

PACKER PATTERN — Coach Dan Devine officially set the record straight on quarterback Jerry Tagge, who was getting considerable work in practice, following Tuesday's workout.

"Jerry is not in my doghouse," he assured. "In fact, we work closely together every day. We sit at the same table and work together on this year and the future."

"There's nobody in the league as young as he is, I might add, who is playing. Dan Pastorini, Jim Plunkett and Archie Manning, who are starting, all are a year older than he is."

"I think Jerry has a good future. My opinion of him hasn't changed. I've always felt he was going to be a good quarterback in the NFL. I still do."

On the subject of another quarterback, Jim Del Galzo, Devine said that the ex-Dolphin's availability for Sunday's contest remains uncertain at this point.

"Del Galzo makes a fast recovery, which leads me to believe he's a very tough kid," he said. "I don't know that he's quite ready to play, though, but I don't know that. If he improves as much as he has since he hurt his shoulder in Detroit, he could play."

Devine reported that he may reinstate veteran Bob Brown at defensive right tackle, which would find Alden Roche returning to right end. The latter started at Brown's spot against the Bears, with sophomore Dave Purefory moving in at right end.

Field goals have impact

NEW YORK (AP) — Field goal. It's worth only half a touchdown—and to some of the more vocal critics, it's worthless and boring.

The three-pointer has become a more noticeable part of the weekly wars in the National Football League—and more important, too. It seems that more games than ever are being decided by the placekicking specialists. But does that mean the game is losing its value as entertainment? Not necessarily.

The field goal—watching a ball arc lazily toward the distant uprights—may not be the most exciting thing in the game, especially when compared to the crash of a fullback exploding through the line for big yardage or a bullet thrown between converging defenders and into the outstretched hands of a wide receiver.

It may not be thrill-packed, but it certainly doesn't lack impact. It's not a part of the game to be outlawed or shunted aside. After all, three points is three points and by putting a string of them together, a team can trudge off the field with a victory it would otherwise have failed to achieve.

The Atlanta Falcons, for example, would be all but out of the playoff picture were it not for Nick Mick-Mayer's big toe. The Falcons didn't score a touchdown at home last Sunday. Los Angeles did. But Mike-Mayer kicked five field goals, the last one with less than a minute to play, and the Falcons came away with a 15-13 victory that put them within one game of the first-place Rams in their divisional race.

"Were you there Sunday? Did you find it boring?" Mike-Mayer asks rhetorically. "I don't think anyone there did, so it doesn't necessarily mean it takes away from the game. I don't think it does." Neither did the Atlanta fans. Not one of them booed when he trotted onto the field and put the ball through the uprights.

Jan Stenerud of the Kansas City Chiefs puts it in even better perspective. "The field goal is a reward for a drive, for getting down the field," he says. "I know that field goals may not be exciting unless there is a last-minute one that wins the game. But if you didn't have field goals, I don't think you'd find punting much more entertaining."

And of course, there's George Blanda of Oakland. When he began playing pro football, some of today's young stars weren't even born yet. He's kicked 304 field goals in his career—and he can't kick about that.

"The field goal is still an exciting play, although I guess it depends on where and when you're kicking," says the Raiders' 46-year-old specialist, in his 24th pro season.

"When I kicked that field goal from 49 yards a few weeks ago to put us ahead of Denver with 36 seconds left, it was sure exciting to me. Then when Jim Turner kicked one with three seconds left to tie it, I know those Broncos fans were even more excited."

The NFL isn't rushing to change field-goal kicking rules for the sake of change. And it says most of the "improvements" suggested by the critics, just wouldn't work.

The one most often promoted is one which would return the ball to the line of scrimmage after a miss. If, for example, Washington drove to Denver's 39-yard line, then tried a 46-yard field goal which sailed wide, Denver would get the ball on its own 39, not the 20 as it would now.

No good, counters Blanda. "If a team is stopped around the 40 and doesn't try a field goal, what happens? They punt and some guy makes a fair catch. There's nothing exciting about that." In other words, if there's anything less exciting than a kick worth three points, it's an unreturnable one worth none.

Grading the value of the field goal based on distance—two points for one inside the 20-yard line, three points from the 20 to the 30, four for the 30 to the 40, etc.—is unwieldy, the NFL says.

"It would penalize teams capable of driving closer to touchdown territory and would encourage more kicks from greater distances," a league spokesman said.

"If they decide they ought to do something," says Chester Marcol of the Green Bay Packers, "maybe the best thing would be to move the goal posts back to the end line the way it is in college and high school. That way you'd have to drive to the 30 just to kick a 47-yard field goal."

Crippled Cards regroup

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, hit hard again by injury, have named 5-foot-11 rookie Dwayne Crump to start Sunday in a National Football League game against the Green Bay Packers.

Cardinals' Coach Don Coryell said Tuesday that Crump, the club's sixth-round draft choice, will start at right cornerback in place of injured Roger Wehrli.

Wehrli, who was injured in the second half of a 17-17 tie with the Denver Broncos, is expected to miss three or four games with strained right knee ligaments.

Other Cardinals whose physical status is questionable for the game in Green Bay include offensive tackle Ernie McMillan, wide receiver Mel Gray, safety Jim Tobert and linebackers Pete Barnes, Jeff Staggs and Jack LeVeck.

The Cardinals finished the Denver game with three able linebackers and four able defensive backs after Wehrli and Tolbert were sidelined and linebacker Mark Arneson was banished for a personal foul.

Cavaliers trip Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Fitch was lost for words at half-time. Here his Cleveland Cavaliers were winning for a change, and he didn't know what to say.
"I've never been more uncomfortable," said Fitch.
Silence was golden—and so were the Cavaliers as they went on to a 115-96 National Basketball Association victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Tuesday night.
It was only the Cavs' third victory in 13 decisions this season—and it came against one of the best teams in the league.
"This is just beautiful," said Fitch. "I'm very pleased. I feel good, but the guys feel better."
The contest was the only one in the NBA Tuesday night. In the American Basketball Association, the Memphis Tams beat the Indiana Pacers 102-96 and the Denver Rockets trimmed the San Diego Conquistadors 110-104.

Austin Carr scored 20 points and shut off Laker star Jerry West in the Cleveland victory. The Cavaliers took a 40-16 lead in the first period as scored 10 points and held West to but two.
Cleveland all but put away Los Angeles at the half with a 66-42 advantage. West wound up with 21 points, but many of them came after the game was out of reach for the Lakers.
Cleveland's Bobby Smith led all scorers with 22.
Connie Hawkins of the Lakers wasn't surprised the Cavalier showing.
"They always gave us a tough time when I came in here before," said the former Phoenix player.
West: "They were just making everything they threw up there. Long shots, close shots and they were even making their foul shots."

UCLA kicker reinstated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Pepper Rodgers of UCLA says everything is settled in the furor over what kicker Efron Herrera says was an intentional miss on an extra point try last Saturday during a 62-13 rout of Washington.
"I'm satisfied, and Efron has satisfied his teammates," said Rodgers, who earlier ordered Herrera to apologize to members of the Bruin football team.
"Things were said in anger. You have to know Efron to understand it all. He was upset and extremely emotional," Rodgers said Tuesday night announcing his decision to allow Herrera to play this weekend at Oregon.
"I took all that into consideration and conferred with all our seniors. I was satisfied Efron is sorry. He's always been a good guy and nothing like this has ever happened before."
The Guadalajara, Mexico-born Herrera said he missed the extra point try because he was upset over a decision by coaches to skip a field goal try in favor of going for a first down on the fourth and short yardage play.

Included in the nine honor berths was Steve Rasseke who was the only player selected on both offense and defense. Rasseke, 6-0, 193, had five votes as a guard and was the only unanimous (six votes) selection on defense where he was named as a linebacker.
Other unanimous selections were Joel Floros, Ripon, quarterback; Greg Wiggs, Ripon, running back; Barry Mossak, Omro, running back; Tom Yana, Omro, offensive tackle; Steve Weiske, Ripon, offensive tackle, and Jim Fahley, Winneconne, tight end.
Named to the squad from New London were Bill Rohan, running back; Randy Kaepnick, split end; Jerry Sexton, defensive end, and Randy Kelley, interior line.
Named from Hortonville were Vince Leeman, interior line; Don Briggs, linebacker, and Rob Reader, defensive back.
Stew Quimby, offensive guard, was the only first team pick from Waupaca. Dennis Thums, linebacker, and Phil Tritt, defensive back, were also honored from Omro.

Ron Climie's five goals spur Edmonton

By FRANK BROWN
Associate Press Sports Writer
The Edmonton Oilers are hot. They've won nine of their last 10 games and seven in a row while taking first place in the World Hockey Association's West Division.
Ron Climie's hot, too. He burned New York Golden Blades' goaltender Joe Junkin five times Tuesday night, helping the Oilers to an 8-0 shutout.
Four of Climie's goals came in a fight-marred third period—three in just 3:42—to put the game out of reach for the Oilers.
When all the scraps were settled, Edmonton's Jack Norris picked up his first shutout of the season, stopping 31 shots.

In other WHA action Tuesday night, the Chicago Cougars edged the Los Angeles Sharks 5-4 in overtime and the Quebec Nordiques tied the Winnipeg Jets 2-2.
In the only National Hockey League game, the Vancouver Canucks topped the Buffalo Sabres 3-2.
Cougars 5, Sharks 4
The easiest goal of Joe Hardy's life gave the Chicago Cougars their 5-4 overtime victory over the Los Angeles Sharks. "It was the only shot I had all night. Rosy (Rosaire) Palement got off a good shot, (Sharks goalie Paul) Hoganson saved it and the puck came to me. I'll never get an easier one," Hardy said.

Chicago's Duke Harris sent the game into overtime with 4:45 remaining in regulation play. Two goals by Marc Tardif and singles by Steve Sutherland and Gary Veneruzzo had given Los Angeles a 4-3 lead.
Jets 2, Nordiques
Jeannot Gilbert netted a bouncing puck from a scramble in front of the Winnipeg net, pushing the Quebec Nordiques into a 2-2 tie with the Jets.
It was the second time the Nordiques had come from behind. Norm Beaudin gave the Jets a 1-0 first period lead, but Pierre Guite got credit for the tying goal when Winnipeg defenseman Dan Spring deflected his centering pass into his own net.

Dick Ritger wins title

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Ritger started out with an open frame, then stayed clean the rest of the way Tuesday night to win his third title of the year as the four-day, $30,000 Detroit Open Bowling Tournament came to a close.

Ritger, from Hartford, Wis., picked up first-place prize money of $5,000 in defeating Larry Laub of San Francisco, 204-180 in the championship game.

In running his 1973 earnings to over $48,000 and capturing his 13th pro crown, the 34-year-old Ritger went into the championship flight as the top seed.

He didn't see action until Laub, who qualified fifth after 42 preliminary tests, had disposed of three straight opponents.

Ritger, who became only the sixth bowler in the Professional Bowlers Association history to win as many as 13 titles, left the 4-7-9 split in the first frame, failed to convert it and quickly fell 11 pins behind as Laub marked in his first two attempts.

Laub maintained his lead until midway in the game, but when Ritger tossed three straight strikes, the issue was decided.

Laub, who earned $2,800 as runner-up, began with a 232-189 triumph over Tom Hudson, Akron, Ohio. In the next match, Laub edged Art Trask of Miami, Fla., 191-177. In the evenings' highest-scoring match, the West Coaster then downed Jim Godmam, Lorraine, Ohio, 258-215.

Secretariat makes public farewell

NEW YORK (AP) — "Oh, you beautiful thing," said Helen Tweedy. "You champ," bellowed a horse player. "Secretariat, we'll miss you," proclaimed a bedsheet banner.

Secretariat, whom jockey Ron Turcotte once called "the people's horse," made his public farewell Tuesday with a parade through the stretch at Aqueduct between the third and fourth races.

"There'll never be another like him," said trainer Lucien Laurin of the handsome 3-year-old colt who caught the public's imagination with his brilliant performance en route to winning the Triple Crown and seemed to hold the public's affection even in defeat.

"We also were proud of him in moments of defeat," said Mrs. Tweedy, operator of Meadow Stable.

Secretariat now will go to stud at Claiborne Farm in Paris, Ky., under terms of a $6.06 million syndicate. And he goes with earnings of $1,316,808, fourth on the all-time list for thoroughbreds, built on a record of 16 victories, three seconds, a third and a fourth in 31 starts. His three biggest victories were the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

The crowd of 32,000 on a cold, windy day began applauding and cheering when groom Eddie Sweet and exercise boy Charlie Davis, who was riding pony Billy Silver, led Secretariat into the paddock shortly before the start of the third race.

Many fans busied themselves snapping pictures during ceremonies in which Mrs. Tweedy, Laurin and Turcotte were presented mementos from the New York Racing Association. The fans received Secretariat key rings.

"We loved every moment of it," said Mrs. Tweedy, who said the date of Secretariat's shipment to Kentucky had been decided but will not be made public until later.

But she admitted that, "there's a certain sense of relief" that Secretariat's racing career is finished. "There was a great deal of responsibility, a great deal of pressure."

VanderVelden cited by Titans

OSHKOSH — Tim Vander Velden, senior running back from Kimberly, has been named offensive player of the week by the UW - Oshkosh football coaching staff.

Vander Velden moved into third place in the school's all-time rushing records by gaining 161 yards against Superior.

He has gained 778 yards this season and has a career total of 1,981. Ron Cardo is the leading rusher with 2,706 and Brian Burbey is second with 2,250.

Defensive safety John Netzer, Oshkosh, gained the defensive player honor.

Name Jordan top defender

DALLAS (AP) — It was after the 30-16 loss to Philadelphia two weeks ago, and Dallas Coach Tom Landry was under severe fire about the performance of the Cowboys' defense.

"There was a bright spot," Landry said. "You might not have noticed it, but Lee Roy Jordan played the greatest game a Dallas linebacker has ever had. He made 21 tackles, and 14 of them were unassisted."

What does the 11-year veteran do for an encore?

The next week, the former All-American from Alabama intercepts three passes in a 38-10 victory over Cincinnati — the greatest game a Dallas linebacker has ever had on pass defense. It earned him The Associated Press National Football League Defensive Player of the Week honor.

Jordan decided to set an example last Sunday for his teammates after he gave them a fiery speech earlier in the week during a meeting.

"We had a team meeting and talked about what hard work and hustle would do for this club," Jordan said. "If anybody didn't want it that way, they could go somewhere else."

He has been the team's inspirational leader in Dallas' two trips to the Super Bowl.

Jordan intercepted three passes on three consecutive Bengals' possessions and ran one back 31 yards for a touchdown.

The 221-pound Jordan never has made All-Pro at middle linebacker.

He makes up for his lack of size with aggressiveness bordering on meanness.

Judo, handball classes scheduled for today

Judo and handball classes will begin today at Appleton West High School. Both classes are sponsored by the city recreation department.

The judo classes will be held every Wednesday during the winter. Instructions will be given to men and women by Jan Mallman. The class will meet in the small gym.

Oilers' Dickey honored

NEW YORK (AP) — A year ago, the doctors were saying Lynn Dickey would never play another professional football game. But then, a week ago, that's what the experts were saying about the Houston Oilers.

Well, Lynn Dickey is alive and well in the Houston backfield and the Oilers ... well, they're alive, anyway.

The 24-year-old three-year veteran from Kansas State, who missed the entire 1972 National Football League season with a hip injury, one which some doctors said had ended his career, made his first start of 1973 on Sunday against Baltimore. And he made it big.

Dickey completed 22 of 32 passes for 340 yards and three touchdowns, including the last-minute game-winner to culminate a cool, precise 85-yard drive that hoisted Houston to a 31-27 triumph over the Colts, the Oilers' first victory this year that ended an 18-game nosedive.

For his outstanding comeback performance, Dickey was chosen today The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

He had played sporadically in his first year. Then, in a 1972 exhibition game, he suffered a fractured and dislocated left hip and some nerve damage.

"Last year around this time I told my wife, Sherry, I hoped that after all the work I put in to get better, I'd have something to show for it. This is it ... I think everybody proved something to themselves in this game."

Antigo retains No. 1 rating in AP grid poll

MILWAUKEE (AP) — For a second successive year, Antigo has been crowned Wisconsin high school football champion.

The Red Robins, who closed their season by beating Wisconsin Rapids 30-8 last weekend for a 21st consecutive victory, received 14 of 19 first-place votes and amassed 174 points in this week's final Associated Press poll of member sportswriters.

Mosinee, whose 37-game winning streak is the state's longest, retained its No. 1 spot in the final poll for schools of 400-800 enrollment.

Marathon was top-ranked in the final Class C poll a week ago.

"I'm very happy about it, of course, although I didn't know what to expect at the start of the season," Antigo coach Gordon Schofield said.

"We only had three starters back, Jeff Lund, our quarterback; Red Duffek, a linebacker, and Craig Avery, a defensive back," Schofield said.

Antigo hasn't lost since Lund, a senior, became the starting quarterback late in his sophomore season.

Mosinee had held a one-point lead over Black River Falls a week ago, but Falls dropped to fifth in the final poll after losing 28-21 to Wisconsin Dells.

Ripon climbed from third place to second, 20 points behind Mosinee.

South Milwaukee, which gained a tie for the Milwaukee Suburban title last week, joined Sun Prairie and Milwaukee Marquette as newcomers to the Class A top 10.

There was only minor juggling in the Class B first 10, although Wisconsin Dells climbed back to the 10th spot after an absence of a few weeks.

3 unanimous 'volley' picks

Kaukauna's Dennis Flanagan, Rick Johnson, Appleton West, and Neenah's Ben Luebke were unanimous choices on the All-Fox Valley Association volleyball first team selected by league coaches recently.

Flanagan, a 6-2 senior, was co-captain and most valuable player for the Ghosts. The three-year letter winner was a member of the first team last season.

Johnson co-captained the Terrors' squad in '73. He was the team's most valuable player.

Luebke, a 5-11 senior, has earned two letters as a member of the Rockets' volleyball unit.

Other members of the first team are Kimberly's Chuck Ruys and Ken Zoromski of Neenah.

State girls tourney set

NEENAH — Eight survivors from an initial field of 281 schools will compete in the first WIAA State Girls Volleyball Tournament in the Armstrong Fieldhouse Saturday.

Shawano, which won the Kimberly Sectional last weekend, will meet Beaver Dam in its first match.

Other first round pairings are Antigo vs. West Allis Hale, Barron vs. Wauwatosa East and Durand vs. Madison Memorial.

The tourney will be a single elimination affair with the best of two of three series in each round.

Also planned is a consolation series involving first round losers and a third place playoff for losers in the semi finals.

Play will begin at 10 a.m. with matches on four different courts. There will be a break of from 20 to 30 minutes between matches.

Sectional winners were determined last weekend involving eight schools at each of eight sites.

Admission will be $1 for students and $1.50 for adults for the entire tourney. Karen Dix is tournament director.

North Stars trade Harris

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota North Stars have traded captain Ted Harris to the Detroit Red Wings for Gary Bergman, another veteran left defenseman.

Bergman was to be in uniform tonight when the North Stars face the Los Angeles Kings in a National Hockey League game at Metropolitan Sports Center.

"Bergman wheels with the puck pretty good," North Stars' General Manager Wren Blair said when the trade was announced Tuesday. "That should help us romp out of our end He has strong credentials, such as being voted Detroit's most valuable defenseman for the last three years and his performance with Team Canada against the Russians last year."

Harris appeared somewhat shaken by the announcement, but said it had to be taken in stride.

"It's all part of the game," Harris said. "Things like this happen to everybody at some time, and I guess this was my time. It always is tougher to make a move after the season has started, but there's never a good time for something like this."

Harris, 37, was acquired by the North Stars from Montreal before the 1970-71 season.

Bergman 35, who was outspoken in his criticism of Detroit's front office this season, said he was anxious to rejoin his former coach, Jack Gordon.

Bergman has 55 goals and 218 assists in his 10-year National Hockey League career, all with Detroit. Harris has 29 goals and 146 assists in his nine years with the NHL.

Ensley requests higher pay for assistants to end turnover

The Outagamie County Board Personnel Committee was informally asked Tuesday to study the feasibility of putting assistant district attorneys under contract to the county in an attempt to reduce the turnover in those positions.
The proposal was made after Supv. Fred Rehfeldt, chairman of the Outagamie County Board's Judiciary and Enforcement Committee, relayed a request to the coordinating committee from Dist. Atty. John Ensley for higher pay for his assistants.
"The assistants are leaving rapidly," Rehfeldt said. He added that Ensley feels the salaries should be increased considerably after assistants have served a year. Rehfeldt said Ensley feels the salaries should start at $10,000 and $14,000 for the two assistants, and should go to $14,500 and $17,000 after a year. The two current county-paid assistants receive $10,400 and $14,500.
"Assistant district attorneys are political hacks the same as the undersheriff," Supv. Marvin Babbitt, personnel committee chairman, said. "They serve at the pleasure of the district attorney."
He said they should be under contract to the county so they can't be fired by the district attorney. "Unless they are permanent employees of the county, they shouldn't be in the salary schedule."
Babbitt noted that any plan to put the assistants under contract would run into the state statute that gives the district attorney the right to appoint his assistants.
In other action Tuesday the coordinating committee will submit a resolution to the full board asking that all communities along the proposed Tri-County Expressway route reserve the right of way at least until 1976.

Highway Committee Chairman George Kroes said 1976 is the earliest that the county can expect state financial assistance in buying property.

Kroes also reported that a meeting has been scheduled for next month with Calumet County officials regarding its portion of the freeway. "I feel they will cooperate," Kroes said.

Woman killed in crash identified

OSHKOSH — A woman killed as she walked on U.S. 45 south of here Sunday night has been identified as Brenda S. Weisenberger, 30, formerly of Los Angeles County, Calif.
Officials have been trying since the 11:15 p.m. Sunday accident to learn her identity. It was learned that she had moved to Oshkosh a short time ago and used the name Coco Quest on an employment application.
Mrs. Weisenberger had been divorced from her husband in California and used several names since then. She was hit by a vehicle as she walked on the roadway. The driver of the vehicle left the scene, but a suspect was apprehended Monday. The man was released from custody Monday pending further investigation. He has not been charged.

Presto Products reports rise in sales, earnings

Increases in sales and earnings have been reported by Presto Products, Inc., 1843 W. Reeve St., producer of private label packaging for consumer plastic wrap and bag products.
For the quarter ended Sept. 30, sales totaled $7,655,046 compared with $5,530,884 the same quarter a year ago, an increase of 38 per cent.
Earnings for the quarter were $565,357 compared with $481,301, an increase of 15 per cent. New pricing has made it possible for profit margins to return to earlier levels, John E. Lynch, president, said.
The firm hiked prices in June to recover increases in raw materials, labor, freight and other costs. They were effected in late August and September, thus resulting in temporary lower profit margins for the fourth quarter.
Net sales for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 were $24,662,100 compared with $17,935,067 for the same period last year, representing a 37 per cent increase. Net income was $1,885,018 compared with $1,401,856, a 34 per cent hike.
Earnings per share on a fully diluted basis amounted to $1.16 compared with 97 cents.
In other reporting, the firm said that major expansion continues with the BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Almost three decades after the end of World War II, at least 126 Maryland residents are seeking indemnification from West Germany as alleged victims of the Nazis.

Hundreds of Nazi victims in the state have collected a total of almost $6 million in lump-sum indemnification payments, and at least 388 are receiving monthly pensions totaling almost $500,000 a year from the West German government.
Ingeberg Weisenberger — an executive of the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society, which furnished the figures — said all claims had to be in by April 1, 1958, but thousands of cases still are being processed in the courts.
Mrs. Weisenberger, who fled Germany in the early 1930s, said the basic claim in most of the cases is deprivation of liberty.

Congressional Record: knowledge and nonsense at $209 a page

BY TIM WYNGAARD

WASHINGTON — When it costs $209 a page, and you can get it free, there's usually a catch at the bargain basement door — even if it isn't worth reading.

That's the Congressional Record, a compendium of knowledge — and ignorance — that comes out each morning. Congress is in session, filled with the details of the previous day's debate, votes, and speeches that often existed only in the minds of stagestruck solons.

The Record, a telephone book-sized, fine print-filled volume, arrives pristinely upon Congressional staff desks, in lobbyists' offices, and in dingy press rooms each morning.

By noon it generally is smudged and bedraggled, as valuable information dealing with votes cast and changed; bills passed, tabled, killed and left in limbo; and parliamentary piousness performed on the floor is contemplated for deeper meanings.

Congress and Congress-watchers couldn't get along without it.

But it is the back of the book, often ranging over half of the total contents of the Record, that provides the unadulterated enjoyment for cold winter nights.

In the "Extensions of Remarks" section can be found the gems of Congressional wisdom and concern, foisted upon the taxpayers at a cost of $209 a page to publish.

It is back there in the "extensions" that Congressmen appease local editors, high school students, bank presidents and local businessmen — and themselves — with laudatory tributes that elsewhere in society would bring a deep blush of shame at least.

Newspaper clippings about heroic dogs, scare stories about burglars and the need for privately-owned firearms, demands for mandatory sterilization of pets in cities, and calls for an end to private ownership of handguns rub elbows.

And here are gathered the noble speeches given in home districts by Congressmen, reprinted at public expense to allow cheap purchase of reprinted copies for mass mailings.

Here are gathered the tributes to the local "mother of the year" and the prize-winning local pigs in the latest 4-H contests.

Consider these gems submitted — at $209 a page — by Wisconsin lawmakers:

Would Congress have known, for example, that we have marked the centennial of the Waupaca County fair, had freshman Rep. Harold V.

Froehlich (R-8th) not submitted two thirds of a page on the celebration?

Or could the American taxpayer have kept abreast of Rep. Les Aspin's fight against military spending had the 1st District Democrat not first submitted a never-given speech about the subject and then reprinted an article from a Washington newspaper (which sells for a dime) recounting much of the same information Aspin had already exposed — at $209 a page?

Or consider Rep. Henry Reuss (D-5th), who submitted three newspaper editorials from major journals recounting the fight by Clement Zablocki, the Democrat from the neighboring 5th District, to limit the President's war powers.

Modestly, Zablocki reprinted only one of those editorials about himself — just two pages away from Reuss's tribute to him.

The intelligent reader will rush right out and request his local Congressman to put him on his free mailing list for the Record. Each office has only 68 subscriptions to give away, so write in soon.

The speeches supposedly given on the floor are often altered before publication — and many of those printed never were uttered at all — but the reading at the back of the book is fine.

So even if it is worthless, at $209 a page — and with another taxpaid $1 a copy in postage costs — for free it's a bargain not to be missed by its 30,000 subscribers.

Veterans Day activities set

LITTLE CHUTE — The American Legion will observe Veterans Day Sunday beginning at 6 a.m., when volunteers will put out flags throughout the business district and the Community Bridge.

An 11 a.m. memorial service will be at the village hall, after which the hall will be opened and refreshments served the remainder of the day.

At 6 p.m. a country style dinner will be served at the hall, followed by a dance from 8 p.m. to midnight. Dinner tickets are $2.50 a person and are available at several local business places or from Maurice Van Gompel, Leo Lamers and Dick Schanke.

Remodeling, planning on Bethany agenda

WAUPACA — There will be a report on the present remodeling plan and a progress report on the long-range planning for Bethany Home at the annual meeting at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Bethany Chapel.

President Marvin Hintz, Marion, said that five individuals will be elected to the board of directors and a two year replacement made for the Rev. Norman G. Omdt, Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, Neenah, who has left the area.

Completing two three-year terms on the board, and not eligible for re-election, are Neal Johnson, Stevens Point,

Commission to seek applicants for police chief

KIMBERLY — The Village Board Monday authorized the police and fire commission to advertise for a new police chief to replace Donald Schmeck, who resigned last week under fire.

Five other members of the police department had filed grievances against the chief with the commission and threatened to resign if Schmeck were not removed from his position or if he did not resign.

Eighteen applications for a position on the street crew were received and referred to the maintenance committee for study and recommendation.

Clerk Kathryn Lochschmidt was instructed to seek quotations for gasoline for village vehicles in 1974, although board members admitted they don't anticipate much chance of securing bids in light of the fuel situation.

Approval was given for the purchase of a small tractor with a snowblower and mower attachment for use at the municipal complex and parks. Board members named Harold Corey as a permanent employee with the street department effective Saturday. He had been hired last year under the Emergency Employment Act.

Mrs. Eugene Van Zeeland was named to the library board to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Giles Hietpas, who resigned last month. The term runs to May, 1975.

and the Rev. Richard C. Schroeder, New London.

Board members completing three year terms are Mrs. Herbert DeBruin, Appleton; Arthur Barber, Scandinavia, and George Brownlow, Wild Rose.

Continuing on the board of directors are Hintz; Robert Stange, Waupaca; the Rev. Edmond Baumgarten, Weyauwega; Lyle Gruetzmacher, Hortonville; the Rev. Arthur Reesnes, Scandinavia; Everett Lee, Appleton; the Rev. Merle Ries, Wautoma; Gerald Schultz, Waupaca, and Ervin Thorson, Larsen.

Bethany Home, a certified home of the American Lutheran Church, is a licensed skilled nursing home and is now serving 113 residents in need of nursing or retirement services or both, according to Robert Larson, administrator.

This past fiscal year the home was 98 per cent occupied.

The voting delegates from 28 congregations of the American Lutheran Church elect the board of directors, who are responsible for the operation of the home.

Lunch will be served by the Men's Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran Church, Marion.

Petri's proposal would keep bank customer's finance record private

State Sen. Thomas E. Petri's concern about frequent infringement of individual rights of privacy has prompted him to introduce legislation prohibiting banks and other financial institutions from disclosing financial records unless permission is obtained from the bank customer.

"In this day of computerized information banks and government agencies that have often over-stepped their investigative mandates, legislation to restrict access to personal financial records without prior authorization is urgently needed," said the Second District senator from Fond du Lac.

Petri's legislation would exempt regulatory bodies like the Commissioners of Banking and Savings & Loans, which may need financial records to fulfill their regulatory functions.

Israeli withdrawal supported by Iran

TEHERAN — Proof of U. S. "credibility" in pressing Israel to withdraw from its Arab territories in Egypt and Syria captured in 1967 would modify and possibly cancel anti-American production cutbacks by the oil-rich Arab states, the Shah of Iran suggested in an exclusive interview here.

Iran itself, the second-largest Middle East oil producer, did not join the production cutback.

As the leader of 32 million non-Arab Moslems with intimate ties to Washington and correct relations with Moscow, the Shah is by far the most important independent power on the edge of the explosive Middle East.

Wants gulf kept open
More to the point, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi is determined to replace the British as guarantor of the most vital waterway in the world today, the Persian Gulf. Without Persian Gulf passage of uncountable oil tankers, the entire economies of Japan and Western Europe would strangle for lack of oil.

Consequently, the Shah, handsome at 54 with the sleek assurance of total authority and 32 years in power, is to be carefully listened to.

"The United States has always supported the principle of the inadmissibility of acquiring land by force," he told us in the gold-chased office of his Niavaran Palace high in the hills overlooking his capital. "Israel has no choice but to leave the Arab lands it captured in 1967."

But what if that doesn't happen? The Shah, choosing his words carefully, said that Israel could never alone handle a situation in which the Arabs' ally, the Soviet Union, chose to use its power. Only the U.S. could do that.

"But for what reason?" he asked rhetorically. "One cannot expect the United States to risk destruction of itself and the whole world because Israel wants to stay in Sinai."

Against U.S.-Soviet move
The Shah also came down hard against U.S.-Soviet participation in any United Nations force eventually established to guarantee Israel's security behind the old, pre-1967 lines. The two great powers should avoid personal involvement, he told us.

"It might seem practical," he said, "but it is not right for the great powers to take responsibility everywhere. That prevents other countries from doing what they should be doing. It creates a situation where other countries simply choose up sides between the great powers and become satellites."

The Shah declined to discuss actual U.S. policy in the Middle East today: the times are too sensitive, he said. But the general feeling was expressed forcibly to us by lesser government officials. It is that Washington's Middle East policy is so muddled that it cannot really be defined.

Starting with the Eisenhower administration's inexplicable withdrawal of the offer to sell arms to Egypt in 1955 and continuing to the present, knowledgeable Iranians call that policy self-destructive at incalculable cost to the U.S. They hope the change implicit in the ceasefire is real and that Israel, with ironclad guarantees, will pull out of Arab land.

Yet, the Shah does not agree that all-out U.S. support of Israel and the consequent Arab appeal for aid to Moscow explain the Soviet Union's growing presence in the Eastern Mediterranean and in Iraq, which has a long border with Iran.

Moscow given leverage
To the contrary, the Shah noted ancient Russian aims for warm-water outlets and recalled that German Kaiser Wilhelm nurtured the dream of a railroad from Berlin to Baghdad and Persian Gulf ports. But the Arab-Israeli struggle has simply handed Moscow greater leverage.

Given obvious and historic Iranian fear of a strong, unified Arab world, the Shah's call for U.S. muscle in dealing with Israel is significant. Iran has close but informal relations with Israel and most politicians here regard a healthy Israel as a vital counterweight to anti-Iranian hostility from such radical Arab states as Iraq.

This Israeli connection, never publicly discussed, is important to Iran. But that calls for a secure Israel on pre-1967 borders, not an Israel whose presence on the Suez Canal enables the Arabs to surmount their intense rivalries; not an Israel, in short, that drives the Arabs close to the very unity which someday might prove dangerous to the Shah of Iran and his country.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson Antiacne liquid soap will not cause cancer

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What about the liquid soap. Hisoxer for teen-agers with acne? I have heard it caused skin cancer. —Mrs. W.J.H.

No, not true. The soap contains hexachlorophene which has germ-killing properties, but it was discovered that if absorbed through the skin in considerable quantities, it could be harmful. Cancer, however, is not involved.

The outstandingly harmful cases involved tiny babies being washed all over, or patients treated for serious burns —much skin had been destroyed, and more of the chemical was absorbed.

Because of this danger, the Food and Drug Administration restricted its use sharply. It remains available by prescription, and properly used it can be helpful.

It was brought out at a recent session of the American Academy of Dermatology that the germ that must be controlled in acne is not the common staphylococcus which used to get the blame, but rather a specific germ that flourishes in the pores of the skin. (Staph ordinarily is found on the surface of the skin.)

Therefore, germicides applied to the surface of the skin do not reach that particular acne germ, and an antibiotic, tetracycline, given by mouth, is used. You'll find tetracycline included in my booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." The booklet is available by mail — send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Post-Crescent.

The tetracycline need not be given in large doses, but should be used for a prolonged time.

This, of course, does not obviate the necessity for keeping the surface of the skin clean. Very thorough rinsing afterward will prevent any possibility of danger from the hexachlorophene if you are using that —but this careful rinsing is part of the care of acne whether you use that, or any other germicidal soap, or any type of soap.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I saw an ad about vitamin E. It said it could cure acne, pimples, scars and many other things. I have always wanted a clear complexion. I was wondering if this vitamin E is safe to use and if it worked. —Miss T.D.W.

It's safe to use, but sheer common sense will tell you that it isn't going to cure everything under the sun and guarantee you a clear complexion. It has a few valid uses, but the outrageous claims being made for it are going to leave a lot of people disillusioned.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Three weeks or so ago I noticed some floating specks and single lines when I looked around, especially when I looked into light.

After a thorough examination, an eye specialist said my eyes were in good condition. Do you think my problem is being caused by a physical condition which I don't know about? And do you think these specks will ever leave? —Mrs. W.R.

Didn't your doctor call them floaters? Floaters are quite common, and usually entirely harmless, as we get older. Since you've had your eyes examined,

After four wars, car crash Bill Mauldin's closest death brush

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist Bill Mauldin has been through four wars, but he says the closest he ever came to getting killed was in Albuquerque.

Mauldin and his wife and son were involved in a five-vehicle accident Saturday night that capped a high-speed chase involving several police cars.

Police said they were pursuing a man sought for questioning in a narcotics case.

Mauldin said he suffered back and kidney injuries when the auto carrying him was struck from behind by a police car. He said two police vehicles, the car in which he was riding, a truck-trailer and the car being chased were involved in the wreck.

Police said the man they sought fled on foot after the collision.

now is the time to forget about the floaters. Or anyway ignore them.

Whether they leave is a matter of chance. Often they do; sometimes they don't. But don't worry about them. You were wise to have a prompt examination, though.

Note to Mrs. A.T.: Whether you have orgasm or not has absolutely nothing to do with whether you become pregnant.

Never take a chance on diabetes. For better understanding of this disease, write to Thosteson in care of The Post Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — the Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use ZIP code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Electricity shortage seen by Love

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans may be forced to drive their automobiles slower, and some could find themselves shivering in the dark because of the fuel shortage, federal officials say.

In a magazine interview published Sunday, White House energy chief John A. Love held out the possibility that residents in some parts of the country could find themselves short of electricity this winter.

"If the Arab boycott continues for an extended period, and the American people do not take steps to conserve energy, then additional government action will be necessary or we will, in fact, have blackouts or brownouts," Love told U.S. News & World Report.

Love said the areas of greatest concern were the East Coast, particularly New York City and New England, and the upper Midwest.

Speaking at a truckers convention in Miami Beach, Federal Highways Administrator Norbert Tiemann said his agency was considering asking that vehicle speed limits on federal roads be reduced as a fuel-conservation step.

U.S. officials, however, have stopped well short of calling for the nation to follow the example of the Netherlands, where a ban on Sunday driving has taken effect because of an oil embargo imposed on the Dutch by eight Arab countries. The United States also is on the Arabs' embargo list.

Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist critical of press at White House

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Bob Woodward, who shared a Pulitzer Prize for a series of Washington Post articles detailing the Watergate affair, has hurled a barb at the White House press corps.

Woodward, coauthor of the investigative reports with Carl Bernstein, called White House newsmen "no more than sophisticated stenographers" with "an obscene affection for the official version of events."

"The Watergate has demonstrated that they were being lied to. And so these reporters have adopted what I would only characterize as a superficial toughness. They go to press conferences and think they're being great investigators by asking the President questions like, 'Don't you think you should resign?'" Woodward said.

He spoke Sunday to members of the Liberal party of the Yale Political Union.

Bach is flying again, this time in airplanes

COOK, Neb. (AP) — Production has begun in Nebraska on "Nothing by Chance," a feature-length documentary film, based on a book by Richard Bach. Bach is also the author of "Jonathan Livingston Seagull."

According to Hugh Downs, whose Raylin Productions is co-producing with Bach's Creature Enterprises, "Bach is creating the script as it happens each day" and appearing as a central character in the film. Downs is narrating.

The story is about barnstorming with antique airplanes, including a look at the men who fly them.

Home for Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Early discharge of some servicemen will be allowed for the Christmas season this year, the Pentagon has announced.

Officials said the early discharges will be available to persons whose active duty tours are due to end during or shortly after the holiday season.

Liberal leave policies will also be observed during the holiday season, something that occurs every year, spokesmen said.

Food price guess probably too low

Food prices may surge upward another 10 per cent in the next six months, the President's chief economic adviser, Herbert Stein, predicted a few months ago—by far, the most pessimistic forecast Stein ever has made in public about prices.

What do you think that means? A price spiral of 20 per cent, double Stein's projection? A price increase of a more moderate 5 per cent, half his estimate? Or do you fear the inflation in food is raging to such a degree that the increases may average out to 30 or even 40 per cent in the six-month span?

One thing is sure: If recent history is any guide whatsoever, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, will be wrong.

Not once in his forecasts on prices has he been on target—even with all the massive amounts of revealing data at his disposal, even with all the experts in various departments of the federal government eager to offer their considered judgments, even with his own impressive background as an economist.

Worse, all the errors, on food prices particularly, have been underestimates rather than exaggerations.

As we move into the annual forecasting season, it may help you to keep your perspective if you maintain a healthy skepticism about the figures tossed at you.

Consider this fascinating collection of predictions published this past March by the Dept. of Agriculture's Economic Research Service.

"Food prices likely will average around 6 per cent higher than in 1972."

"Per capita food consumption...is expected to set a new record in 1973."

"At this time, there is little or no hope that any broad based price decreases will occur this year. The only exceptions are the expected decline in pork prices in the second half of the year and likely declines in poultry prices after the first quarter."

The Agriculture Dept.'s forecasting score: 0.

Here's how the food situation actually shaped up (as though you needed any reminder):

Instead of averaging 6 per cent higher, food-at-home prices at latest reporting date were running 23 per cent ahead of late summer, 1972.

Instead of setting a new record, per capita food consumption (which actually means food production) is now running lower than last year and further declines are being predicted for 1974 as well.

And instead of declining, pork prices rose a hefty 25 per cent between the first and third quarters and the prices of poultry skyrocketed more than 61 per cent.

In addition, throughout 1973, as food prices have spiraled up and up, official predictions have followed in the wake of the increases. By May, Stein had hiked the official food price forecast to 10.5 per cent, nearly double the March estimate.

By August, the Dept. of Agriculture upped its forecast of retail prices for foods from U.S. farms to an "average 18 to 22 per cent above 1972."

By October Stein had gone on record with the prediction "that the worst of the big 1973 inflation is behind us," but he left himself a lot of room for errors by saying that an increase in food prices of 10 per cent during the next six months was "in the ball park."

A cold analysis would suggest that the worst of the inflation probably is behind us—although the pace of increases in prices will continue for a long time far above the rates we considered tolerable in the early 1960s.

First, the pace in midsummer—an annual rate of more than 25 per cent!—simply could not continue without the whole economy blowing apart.

Second, the bulge following the price freeze of June-July was a special factor that won't be repeated.

Third, production of foodstuffs should be high enough to control future price spurts and farmers will be planting substantially larger acreages of wheat and feed grains—which will be converted into larger supplies of flour, meat, milk and eggs.

Fourth, the economy is starting to slow, consumers are resisting price hikes, some tapering-off is inevitable.

So Stein may indeed be in the ball park this time. But I'll wager, just on the record, that he doesn't score a run.

Snowstorms, zero cold zap parts of nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow from autumn storms piled up to a foot or more in the northern Rockies and the eastern Great Lakes region today, and zero cold added an extra sting to the weather in parts of the West.

Five inches of fresh snow fell before dawn in Montana and New York state. The snow pack reached 14 inches at Syracuse, N.Y., and 9 inches at Rome, N.Y.

In Montana, the accumulation reached 13 inches at Livingston, 12 at Great Falls and 9 at Missoula. Mullan, Idaho, had 10 inches.

Temperatures tumbled below zero across northern Montana hours before daybreak.

The wintry blast spread into North Dakota with light snow at Grand Forks, freezing drizzle at Bismarck and 2 inches of snow on the runways at Minot Air Force Base.

Rapid City, S.D., was whitened with a 3-inch snowfall and farther east at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 4 inches of snow piled up.

Some snow lingered in parts of Washington and Oregon.

Fair skies dominated the Southwest and Southeast, but drizzle and fog crept from the Texas and southern Louisiana coasts northward over Oklahoma and Kansas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -4 at Cut Bank, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Voters go Democratic in off-year elections

AP Political Writer

Democrats scored strongly in off-year elections with a recordbreaking statewide victory in New Jersey and municipal triumphs in New York, Philadelphia, Minneapolis and Detroit in the first national balloting since the Watergate scandal erupted.

In Virginia, conservative Republican Mills E. Godwin Jr., once the state's Democratic governor, eked out a narrow victory over liberal Lt. Gov. Henry E. Howell Jr., running as an independent in a race with no Democratic candidate.

Elsewhere, however, Republicans won few important races in the scattered off-year balloting Tuesday, a year after President Nixon's re-election landslide.

One of the GOP's potential 1976 candidates, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, suffered a setback on a constitutional amendment proposal. His plan to limit future state spending and taxation trailed by more than 300,000 votes with 90 per cent of the ballots counted and Reagan conceded defeat for the plan.

"The Republican party has taken a smashing defeat across the nation," said Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. of New Jersey, who suffered one of the GOP's biggest setbacks in that state's gubernatorial race.

Democrat Brendan T. Byrne, a 49-year-old former judge and prosecutor, whipped Sandman by a margin of 2-to-1 and led his party to control of both houses of the state legislature for only the third time in the 20th Century.

Democratic State Sen. Joseph Merlino said the victory was a signal to the nation that voters will punish the Republican party until it decides to "dump" President Nixon.

Although Watergate was a campaign issue in few places, leaders of both parties saw its influence in the returns.

In Kentucky, Democratic Gov. Wendell Ford said the returns showed the scandal hurt all politicians "but it has hurt the Republicans the most." Democrats retained control of the state legislature as well as the mayor's office in Louisville, where 37-year-old physician Harvey Sloane won.

In Minneapolis, Democrat Al Mondale, a 33-year-old former alderman, upset two-term independent Mayor Charles Stenvig. Mrs. Gladys Bruehl, a Republican who finished a distant third, said it wasn't a Republican year. "A great deal of Watergate has carried over here," she added.

In Philadelphia, Democrat F. Emmett Fitzpatrick stunned two-term Republican Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter after a campaign in which a major issue was Specter's role as 1972 state campaign manager for President Nixon.

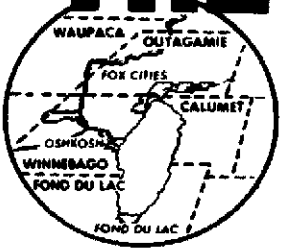

In New York City, diminutive Democrat Abraham D. Beame led a citywide party sweep as he captured the mayoralty held for the past eight years by John V. Lindsay. The 67-year-old Beame will be the city's first Jewish mayor.

In Detroit, state Sen. Coleman Young, one of Michigan's top Democrats, became the city's first black mayor. He defeated former police chief John Nichols in a non-partisan election.

Wholesale index dips as farm prices fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another sharp decline in the cost of farm products pushed wholesale prices down for the second straight month in October, the government said today in a report promising consumers some relief from high grocery bills.

But, despite the decline, the Labor Department's Wholesale Price Index report disclosed a still highly inflationary economy. Wholesale prices of industrial commodities, mainly higher prices for fuels, went up a sharp 1.1 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Wholesale prices declined three-tenths of one per cent after seasonal adjustment in October, with a 3.3 per cent fall-off recorded in prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds.

Before any adjustment in the figures, the government said there was a five-tenths of one per cent decline in over-all wholesale prices and a 3.9 per cent drop in prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds.

It was the first time since late 1971 that whole prices have gone down two months in a row. In September, they fell a sharp 1.5 per cent.

And the report showed that wholesale prices have gone up 18.3 per cent at an annual rate in the past three months. Wholesale prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds have risen at an annual rate of 43.5 per cent in the same span.

Not all of the declines will be felt at the retail level, but government economists feel the sharp decreases should result in some lowering of retail food products.

The department said the drop in prices of farm products occurred mainly in livestock and oil seeds, live poultry, eggs, grains, and fresh fruit.

But wholesale prices of consumer finished foods rose nine-tenths of one per cent in October, with increases recorded for fresh and dried vegetables, eggs, milk, cereal and bakery products. These are prices for goods that are ready for the consumer.

Higher prices for fuels accounted for more than a third of the increases in wholesale prices of industrial commodities, which went up because of higher prices for refined petroleum products, electric power, liquefied petroleum gas, coal and metals. Clothing prices also were up substantially.

Just how long the sudden drop-off in wholesale prices will last is open to question. Even Nixon administration economists aren't expecting it to endure, saying that food prices should start going up again this winter as consumers' demands picks up.

Despite the over-all decrease in the prices of farm products, there were some important increases. Prices of milk and fresh and dried vegetables at the farm went up, along with fats and oils, cereal and bakery products, dairy products and other categories of food.

The price index rose to 139.5 of its 1967 average, meaning that it cost $13.95 for the same amount of wholesale goods that $10 would have bought in 1967.

From October 1972, wholesale prices are 16.3 per cent higher, with industrial commodities up 9.1 per cent over the 12 months, and farm products up 35.3 per cent.

Dollar up in Europe

LONDON (AP) — The American dollar moved up sharply on European exchanges today amid growing fears of widespread oil shortages.

Dealers said there was a rush to exchange European currencies for greenbacks and trading was very active.

The dollar jumped five pfennigs in early trading in Frankfurt, more than four centimes in Paris and almost one Swiss centime in Zurich. The dollar value of the British pound sterling dropped one cent.

Only in Amsterdam was the American money weaker, going for 2.62 guilders, a drop of nearly half a Dutch cent.

As usual, the rise in the dollar was accompanied by a drop in the price of gold. It edged down 25 cents to $97.75 an ounce in Zurich and 65 cents in London to $97.35.

Nixon preparing energy policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is proposing a new energy policy which sources say will include a request for broad authority to increase domestic petroleum production and to decrease consumption.

Specific measures were not revealed but Nixon was known to be considering such steps as imposing a nationwide highway speed limit of 50 miles per hour and ordering power plants to burn coal instead of oil or gas.

The White House has said Nixon's new energy policy, which was to be unfolded today at a morning briefing with congressional leaders and in an evening broadcast to the nation, would probably include proposed legislation.

An energy source said the legislation would likely seek specific new powers Nixon feels he needs to cope with the growing national fuel shortage.

Strike review begins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A special panel empowered to impose binding arbitration starts a review today of a contract dispute which sparked the first full-scale strike by firemen in New York City's history.

The five-hour walkout ended Tuesday when city officials and leaders of the 10,900-member Uniformed Firefighters Association, who had defied a court no-strike order, agreed to submit the dispute to a three-man impasse panel.

Fire Chief John T. O'Hagan termed the strike "almost totally effective" and said it had placed the city "in a condition of imminent peril."

The head of the firemen's union, Richard J. Vizzini, said he called his men back to duty because of "the gravity of the situation and because of the responsibility and dedication of fire fighters."

In Milwaukee, Wis., a work slowdown by firemen moved into a fourth day today with their 1,000-member union declining to make a formal response to a court restraining order.

New Yorkers were unable to read election results in one of their two morning papers, The Daily News, as a strike by the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild went into its third day. Also affecting the city and metropolitan area was a continuing walkout by some 30,000 nonmedical workers at 48 voluntary hospitals and nursing homes.

Across the nation, a strike by flight attendants kept Trans World Airlines fully grounded and air travelers were reported encountering difficulty in switching to alternate carriers on some heavily traveled routes.

During the short-lived firemen's strike in New York, civilian volunteers lugged fire hoses and broke windows in smoke-filled buildings at several large blazes, assisting undermanned fire crews.

Fire officials said strikers had intimidated firemen in at least six firehouses and had lain in front of fire engines until they were forcibly removed by police.

The city moved to punish the firemen for walking out in violation of a state law which prohibits strikes by public employees.

Under the agreement signed by city and UFA officials, the impasse panel is to issue its binding decision no later than 6 p.m. Saturday. The firemen's union has been demanding a $2,000 hike over the current $14,300 annual base pay.

In Milwaukee, the number of firefighters staying home with "red flu" continued to grow despite a Circuit Court restraining order. But city officials said fire protection remained adequate because of substitute manpower supplied by National Guard units.

The strike shutting down TWA flights was called by the 5,000-member Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Association, a unit of the Transport Workers Union.

Seats on competing airlines were reported in short supply between New York and Chicago as well as New York and Los Angeles. Flights between New York and Denver, Las Vegas, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and other cities also were tight, according to airline officials.

The Daily News, the nation's most widely read paper with a 2.1 million circulation, was forced to halt publication as craft union members refused to cross picket lines mounted Monday by guild strikers.

Worth polling?

An early snowfall in central New York failed to keep this Syracuse resident away from the polls, as she mails a letter in a snow-covered post box near her polling place. Nearly seven inches of the white stuff was dropped overnight Monday and six inches more was expected Tuesday during the general election. (AP wirephoto)

Neenah man dies in crash

A 22-year-old Neenah man was killed just after midnight today when his car slammed into an abutment on U.S. 41 at the overpass of Outagamie County Trunk OO west of Appleton. Dead is Michael V. Huss, 1069 Holly Court. According to Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, the victim died at the scene from apparent massive internal chest injuries, although an autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death. Police said Huss was alone in his car and driving north on 41. A witness driving behind the auto told authorities that the Huss car swerved first to the right and then to the left before angling back off the right side of the pavement. The car struck a guard rail and the abutment, and Huss was trapped in the wreckage. Firemen from the Town of Grand Chute were summoned to cut away the vehicle so the body could be removed. Kemps withheld a traffic fatality ruling pending further investigation into the circumstances surrounding the crash. Huss was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Huss, 806 W. Capitol Drive, Appleton. He was a graduate of Appleton High School-West and was a Vietnam war veteran, having served in the Army. He had been employed by the Badger Globe division of Kimberly-Clark Corp. in Neenah since his release from the service.

Clintonville negotiators meet tonight

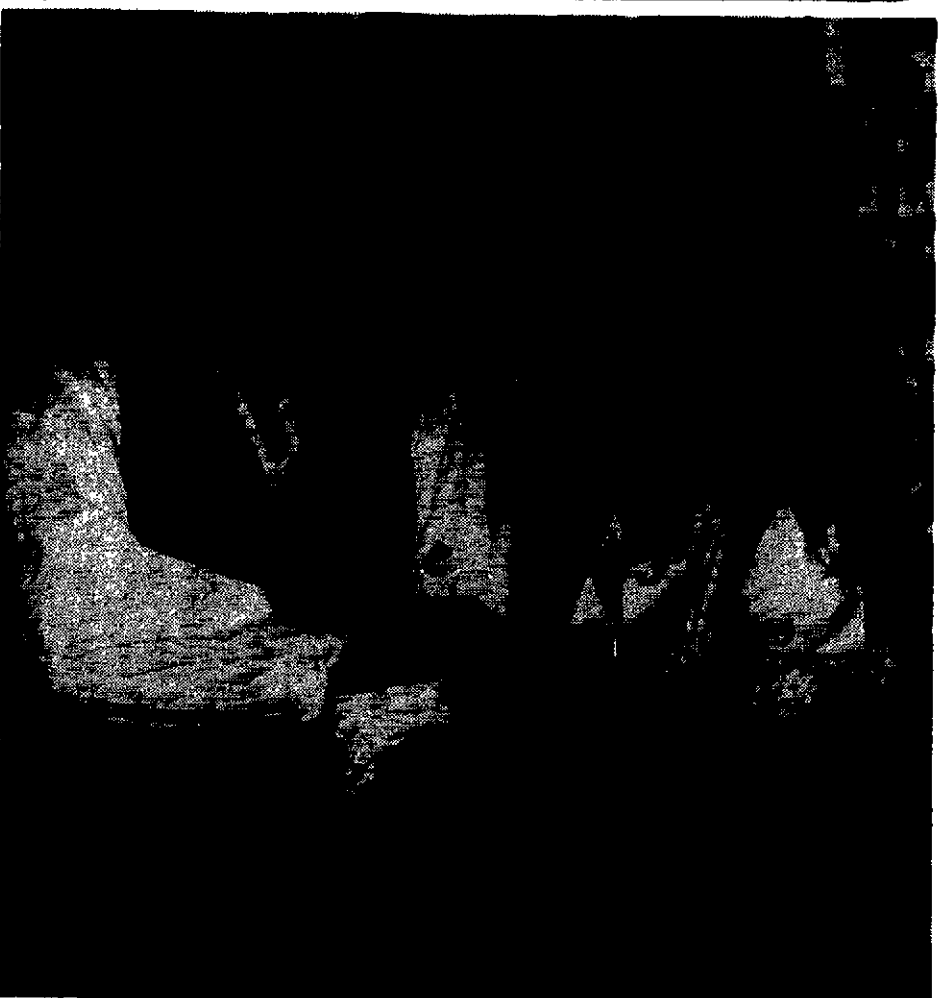

CLINTONVILLE — The negotiating committees headed by Joseph Peeters for the district board of education and Craig Hodne for the Clintonville Education Association will meet in another session this evening at Long-fellow school. A board proposal concerning monetary items of the contract was not accepted by the CEA membership at a meeting last week, according to Hodne. (Hodne explained the board gave the teachers a lump sum monetary package. The CEA negotiating committee then met by itself and worked out the most "equitable distribution" of that lump sum among the teachers.) Peeters said money from other areas of the school budget were needed in order to make up the currently proposed monetary package and that this reducing of other budget expenditures had to be done in order for the district to remain within the $55 per pupil ceiling imposed by the state. General government, protection show increases in '74 budget

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent staff writer

General government and protection of persons and property are two of the 15 broad categories into which the Outagamie County budget is divided. Combined, the two represent 43 individual departments or line items. The two also represent almost every office in the courthouse proper and the jail building. General government includes all of the courts, the district attorney, county clerk, treasurer and county board among its 29 items. That budget is $1.2 million, a 10 per cent increase over what was budgeted for this year. Protection of persons and property includes all areas of the sheriff's department, emergency government, conservation bureaus and the register of deeds among its 13 items. This budget is $830,180, an increase of about $4,500. However, neither group of budgets reflects any salary increases that may be negotiated between the county and the unions for next year. Six items account for almost the entire increase in general government. The county board's budget is up $9,000, reflecting the growing number of committee meetings held each year. This does not take into account, however, any increase in per diem for the supervisors. A proposal to increase that per diem from $15 for a half day meeting and $22 for a full day to $18 and $32, respectively, still must be acted on. The district attorney's budget is up $16,000, representing the addition of a third assistant and a secretary. There is $10,405 in state and federal aids toward the salaries. The corporation counsel's budget is up $11,000, reflecting the change in responsibilities. Formerly, the corporation counsel did work for the

Brillion association plans development of athletic field at park

BY JANICE JOHNSON
Post-Crescent correspondent

BRILLION — Representatives of the Athletic Association announced plans for developing an athletic field in Horn Park when they appeared before the board of education this week. Association members sought information on plans for the school's present football and baseball fields. They may be needed for parking space when the gymnasium addition is completed. Concern was expressed that care be taken to avoid duplication of expensive items such as lighting. Association spokesmen noted that there is a possibility the Horn Park project would be funded privately. Present preliminary plans include a slow pitch diamond, lights, a football field and a concession stand, facilities for hockey and ice skating also are being considered. Board Chairman Donald VandeYacht said there have been no definite commitments by the board in regard to future recreational plans. He said that in the event the field is moved, as was previously discussed, the present lighting system would need to be reworked and the expense would social services department and it paid half of his salary. Now his entire office cost is charged against general government. Courthouse maintenance is up $40,000 over this year's budget. However, the 1973 budget is expected to be overrun by about $20,000. This is the result of the jail building being occupied during the year and the new budget reflects the added cost. Indigent defense counsel costs are projected to increase $28,000 as a result of going to full-time public defenders. However, the part-time program which had been operating was expected to overrun its budget by $10,000. There also is a $21,568 state grant to offset

'One hope for Lisa's killer'

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent staff writer

FOND DU LAC — "Turn yourself in," the Rev. Paul Plotter pleaded Tuesday morning as he stood over Lisa French's small white casket. Maybe Lisa's killer was one of the hundreds of mourners sitting among the school children and the Girl Scouts in Immanuel Trinity Lutheran Church, Plotter guessed. "We plead with you, for your own sake, to turn yourself in. Confess, seek psychiatric help. Therein is your only hope." Plotter waited. Police with cameras waited. At the church and at Estabrooks Cemetery. But the little girl's killer is still loose, many believe in Fond du Lac. "The alternative," Plotter addressed the killer, "is to be tormented by your conscience day and night... until you enter into the Godforsakenness and damnation of hell." If the person who molested and strangled Lisa French last Thursday heard Plotter's plea, he remained silent.

Waupaca wards may be realigned

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent staff writer

WAUPACA — The city council approved a study committee Tuesday to look into the possible realignment of its five wards and provide better representation on a one man-one vote principle. Mayor Ray Roe explained to the aldermen that Waupaca County is now in the process of redistricting and will have facts and figures available that will make the city's reapportionment easier and without cost. "The County has to have its job complete by Jan. 1, 1974, under the new law, and it will be looking at the inequities of the two supervisory districts in the city which now have two supervisors each," Roe said. "The new law eliminates double district supervisors and under the rule that each supervisor must represent 1,220 people, the city will be entitled to 3.75 supervisors. "In the reapportionment of the city with a 1970 census population of 4,342 people, it may be necessary for the county to include a part or parts of outlying towns," he continued. "While the state has not said that aldermanic wards have to be equal, the time is not far distant, and the time to start looking and working on the project may be now," he speculated. Ald. Vernon Johnson (5th) commented, "We have been aware for some time that realignment is needed. We were aware of this years ago when the second ward was partially divided and the fifth ward created. "When one looks at the votes in the last election, it shows that one ward in the city had one-third as many votes as the largest ward," Ald. LaVern Hanke (4th) pointed out. Mayor Roe illustrated the chaos which will exist at the polls after the county has redistricted in the city. "A voter will be asked what ward are you from? And then will be asked what supervisory district are you from?" he cited. "It is an opportune time for the city to redistrict and if we have it complete by Jan. 1, there will be no confusion when it is time for aldermen to take out their nomination papers." Ald. LaVern Hanke was named chairman of the committee to bring in recommendations for redistricting to the Dec. 4 council meeting. Serving with him will be Alds. Vernon Johnson and George Johnson (1st). Council unanimously approved a set of guidelines for employees in the department of public works. This set of rules and regulations will be used until the city has approved a set of guidelines for all city employees. This brought up a discussion about the establishment of a personnel committee, which has been proposed several times in past years. In the past the major objection to such a proposal has been that no committee dealing with personnel matters should have power over the

CLINTONVILLE — A total 1974 budget of $1.698 million was adopted Tuesday by the City Council. Of the total, $1.131 million will be raised through taxes on local real estate and personal property. The council set a net tax rate of $30.31 per $1,000 valuation, compared with the 1973 rate of $36.68. Property in the city is assessed at about 70 per cent of market value. Taxes on a house that would sell for $20,000 would be about $425. The budget represents total spending for municipal government, the city's share of the school district expenditures and state, county and vocational school taxes. The city's 1973 assessment is $30.8 million, down $336,930 from the previous year. The total budget for 1974 is $165,263 less than what was budgeted for 1973. The total city spending in the new budget, according to Clerk-Comptroller Lloyd Eggleston, is set at $849,936. Receipts other than taxes total $566,823.04, leaving city purpose taxes at $283,113.85. Other taxes to be collected are school taxes, including Bear Creek school debt retirement and vocational school of $848,623 — a decrease of $147,442 from this year; state taxes of $8,672 — an increase of $249, and county taxes of $190,919 — a decrease of $31,704. In Eggleston's comparison of the distribution of tax money for 1973-74, he shows the city's tax for 1974 is 25.02 per cent of the total rate, $9.19. The school tax takes 57.33 per cent of the rate, or $21.05. The state tax of 28 cents is up one cent, while the county tax, 16.88 per cent of the total rate, is $8.20, down 95 cents. Although the budget was adopted without change, the public hearing lasted approximately 50 minutes, with aldermen entering into considerable discussion on the park and recreation commission and how its money is allocated. Only one taxpayer attended the hearing but made no comments. The park and recreation budget for 1974 is $55,505, up $885. Ald. Kenneth Suehring (4th) said that there aren't any neighborhood or area parks in his ward even though he had contacted the commission chairman two years ago. One known as the slough area. Suehring said that he was concerned about the $2,000 in the budget the last two years, for the 4th Ward, and with nothing having been done in his ward, Ald. Willis Gensler (2nd) concurred, stating that he thought if money was put in the budget for the 4th Ward it should be used there. Mayor Frank Sinkewicz said that it was difficult to prorate the money on a ward basis. Other aldermen who are members of the commission explained that a program for 1974 is based on a priority list. It was pointed out that Walter A. Olen Park, the former Central Park, needs much attention next year. The park was badly flooded last spring.

Engineers get go-ahead for Stockbridge sewage

BY HAZEL THIEL
Post-Crescent correspondent

STOCKBRIDGE — McMahon Associates, Menasha, engineers for the village, have been authorized by village authorities to draw up plans for sewage extensions and updating sewage plant according to Department of Natural Resources (DNR) orders, it was announced at the village board meeting Monday. James Ecker, president of the sewage board said improvements were expected to cost about $44,000. An application for $30,000 in state and federal funds has been made. Improvements include extending sewage lines 1,500 feet south and 700 feet north; chlorination facilities or another polishing pond; flow control, plant updating, changing controls so that a signal is given if pumps stop and lift. Paul Karls called the estimate "skimpy" and asked why only $30,000 had been asked for in aids. He was informed that this was the maximum allowed and the village was 63rd in line on a priority list. The estimate had been made by engineers. President George Hostettler said he had met with DNR authorities regarding the project and asked that a written resume of the meeting be sent to the board and attorney Wilford Elliott, Chilton. The village has been under orders for several years to install chlorination facilities or another pond and lost an appeal in Dane County Court. When board members questioned the chlorinating process, Ecker said that because of the bottleneck of streams, and lack of expansion room he felt chlorinating was better than building another pond. Hostettler pointed out that according to the comprehensive report, by 1980 Stockbridge will be a center for sewage for the east shore of Lake Winnebago. The board also agreed that the sewage plant operator should attend a six day school. Ecker was asked to make arrangements with him regarding his preference of sessions. In other business, the board delayed action on a bicycle ordinance discussed last month until more study has been made regarding whether or not an age limit should be set for children to ride on sidewalks. Last month the board said that there should be no riding on the sidewalks, but legal counsel has suggested that children under eight years old should be allowed to do so. Karls said he thought the village was "wasting time" on an ordinance and questioned who would be enforcing it. It was pointed out that with an ordinance, bicycles would have to have lights and be safe to ride. However because the ordinance was not planned to go into effect until spring it was decided that was plenty of time for reconsideration. There was considerable discussion regarding the method of assessing and collecting funds for garbage collection. Clerk Carl Reichwald said he had put the cost on the tax roll this year because of the problems and additional work which had been involved in collecting the $25 a year special assessment. Some had refused to pay, and because the majority pay taxes on the installment plan they only wanted to pay half of the special assessment. Special assessment must be paid in full. The board argued that those with high assessed valuation, particularly farmers, who have little garbage, would be paying the biggest share, where the present method of $25 a unit and $50 for schools per year was fair. Reichwald argued that there was too much work involved calling and writing

FOND DU LAC — A New Holstein man, David A. Alten, 19, was arrested on drug charges here Tuesday along with five Fond du Lac men and a Princeton man. The arrests were part of a crackdown involving State Justice Department law officers and officers from Calumet and Fond du Lac Counties as well as New Holstein.

Alten was charged with one count of abetting the sale of LSD. He was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Warrants were issued for arrests of four other persons who still are being sought, according to officials.

The arrests were made after an 11 month investigation by the State Justice Department Division of Criminal Investigation.

Atty. Gen. Robert Warren said Tuesday in Madison that the investigation has not yet been completed and that state agents still are working on drug traffic in the Fox River Valley area.

Those arraigned Tuesday before Fond du Lac County Judge Hazen McEsey were Alten and:

— Lawrence E. Burkhardt, 23, Fond du Lac, charged with one count of selling amphetamines. He was ordered to appear Nov. 29 at a preliminary hearing.

— Gerald C. Cox, 23, Fond du Lac, charged with one count of selling hashish.

— David R. Keonig, 25, Fond du Lac, charged with one count of selling cocaine.

— Howard L. Carlson, 24, Fond du Lac, charged with abetting the sale of hashish.

— Ronald P. Dugenske, 21, Princeton, charged with one count of selling LSD.

— James R. Wettstein, 23, Fond du Lac, charged with one count of selling amphetamines.

Bond for the defendants was set at $1,000 each. Burkhardt, Cox and Keonig have been released on bond. Several of those arrested were granted time to find attorneys prior to arraignment.

Snowmobile races planned

CLINTONVILLE — The Lions and Legion snowmobile race committee met recently at the home of T. D. Ellis, with two matters of business decided — the type of ticket to be printed and prizes to be offered.

Admission tickets will be good for one day's admission to the races which will be Jan. 19 and 20 on the oval track at the Clintonville airport. Tickets will soon be in the hands of Lion and Legion members for distribution.

It is hoped that there will be a queen contest as in the past years. Any young lady interested in selling tickets in the queen contest is asked to contact Peter Fiera at the senior high school.

Present at the meeting were Burr Tolles, Gene Ashenbrenner and Jim Schley for the Legion, and Chris Holm, Allen Mattson and Ellis for the Lions.

Keeping posted

MARION — American Legion Auxiliary, 8 p.m. Monday, city hall. Kathy Nolan, Badger Girls State representative sponsored by the auxiliary, will speak.

Weather halts airport paving

CLINTONVILLE — The project at the municipal airport came to a halt Tuesday because of the low temperature, and paving will cease until spring, reported Basil Arvey, airport manager, at the meeting of the City Council Tuesday night.

Arvey also reported that work was progressing on the city hangar being constructed at the airport and which will be leased to Brennan Air Freight.

In other matters, the council authorized payment of expenses for aldermen and city officials to attend the Small Cities Conference here on Nov. 28. Afternoon registration will be conducted at the Armory and a dinner and program will be held at Bennett's Supper Club.

The council adopted a resolution to temporarily borrow $25,000 from the Dairymen's State Bank and $25,000 from the First National Bank for payment of current expenses on various projects.

Bartender licenses were approved for James H. Salmon, Carl A. Kratzke, Barbara J. Zehren, Phyllis Kettenhoven, James Kettenhoven, Steven R. Paiser, Richard Jobe, Daniel J. Smits and James Stoltz.

The first reading was given of a proposed ordinance on the proper disposal of materials other than garbage for residences or businesses, and a schedule for collection of such material.

Also given its first reading was a proposed ordinance covering a new section on overnight camping in the parks, which is not permitted without permission of the park commission or the city council.

Following the reading of a letter from City Atty. Ralph Lauer regarding the method of handling a number of accounts for which the Clintonville Community Hospital alleges the city is liable the council approved a motion instructing the city clerk to provide the hospital board with the necessary general relief forms according to the city attorney.

A petition from Mr. and Mrs. Rodney L. Borel for reclassification of property east of Bucholtz Park to allow a mobile home was referred to the planning commission.

A letter from Kuehl Motors inquiring about renting a city-owned lot on Anne Street for parking used cars was referred to the safety committee and city attorney for a recommendation.

As recommended by the safety committee, arterial stop signs are to be installed on a trial basis at the following streets Tenth and S. Clinton, Mill and Tenth, Maizie and E. Madison, Fifteenth and River, Beacon Road and Seventh Street, and Paulina and Maizie.

The board approved rehiring Raymond Ecker as village constable, but took no action on the suggestion that the assessor's position be changed from elected to appointed. The village paid for Assessor Clifford Mayer to take extensive training this year as the only one from Calumet County attending an assessor's school at Fox Valley Technical Institute, Appleton.

An application for change in liquor license for the Gobbler's Knob from Kenneth Peterson to Kenneth and Edith Peterson and David Sugden was approved for publication. Action will be taken after the required waiting period.

Jaycettes will assist with tree decorations

NEW LONDON — The local Jaycettes have scheduled two workshops to help residents at St. Joseph Nursing Home make decorations for their Christmas tree.

Mrs. David Kopp, the project chairman, said that five Jaycettes will be present at Nov. 13 and Nov. 27 sessions to demonstrate the craft and to help residents with their decorations.

The club also voted at a recent meeting to purchase artificial lights for the home's tree that is placed in the dining area.

The Jaycee-Jaycette Christmas Caroling has been set for Dec. 16. The groups will sing at St. Joseph and then at Franklin Park Apartments.

St. Norbert coach to talk to school athletes at Shiocton banquet

SHIOCTON — Howard "Chick" Koistad, head football coach at St. Norbert College, will be the speaker at the annual sports banquet at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15 at the high school cafeteria.

The event is to honor the high school and elementary school football teams and girls athletic teams.

Tickets are $2.50 per person and can be purchased from high school football team members or at the high school office.

Parents will be able to arrange for individual conferences with the faculty. The open house is intended to encourage an exchange of information about the high school program.

elected officials of the city. The chairman of several of the council's standing committees are not aldermen, and the debate has centered on this one point.

Aldermen agreed that a set of uniform standards for city employees is needed and the consensus remained that this is the work of the council.

City Attorney Laurie Anderson was instructed to draw up an ordinance to create a personnel committee, if possible by the Dec. 4 council meeting. The makeup of the committee, which may include the chairman of the board of public works, the finance committee, the police and fire commission and the parks and recreation committee, will be resolved when the ordinance is presented.

James Stephens, chairman of the Airport Committee, proposed a resolution which would request the State Aviation Department to make a study of the municipal airport and present its recommendations for needed expansion.

He presented a proposal that land be purchased and easements obtained for the necessary extension of the runway to safely accommodate light twin-engine and prop jet craft.

It also included a possible three-mile rezoning area to protect the city's investment, the purchase and installation of ADF instrument approach and visual approach.

Such an expansion project, which would take a minimum of two years to study and make recommendations, would cost approximately $100,000 to $150,000 at a cost to the city of $15,000 to $18,000. The project would be jointly funded, with the Federal Aviation Agency providing 75 per cent of the total cost, the State Aviation Department, 12.5 per cent and the city 12.5 per cent.

"My committee feels that this expansion is necessary for community growth," Stephens said.

Ald. Edil Hinton (1st) member of the airport committee, commented, "We are either going to be in the airport business or out of it."

Stephens' resolution was not in proper form and an acceptable resolution, including the salient facts, will be prepared for the Dec. 4 council meeting. Passage of that resolution would bind the council to a survey, at no cost, but council action would be required to go ahead with the expansion program when the study and recommendations are in.

"All department budgets are due within the next several days," Ald. Hanke, chairman of the finance committee, announced. "The state requires that the city publish a tax rate for its 1974 budget by Nov. 20, and we are asking for an extension of that time."

Approval was given the board of public works to advertise for two trucks. The police and fire commission now has specifications on the hose drying tower and will advertise for bids.

Cold month could bring fuel pinch

The abnormally cold, early November days may bring on the first noticeable pinch on the Fox Valley's fuel oil, but local suppliers aren't pushing the panic button yet. The month-long projection is for normal temperatures.

While the dealers are not experiencing a shortage, one said the public should not ignore the problem.

"It's as critical as the experts are forecasting, but the public just doesn't believe them," one local dealer said. "They'll find out fast, as soon as the weather turns."

Other dealers were buoyed by above-normal temperatures in October. While they can't shift leftover October supply to November under strict quota allocations set up by oil companies, some say they expect they can buy fuel elsewhere if abnormal cold increases November demands.

Meanwhile, Gov. Patrick J. Lucey and the Wisconsin Office of Emergency Energy Assistance hopes that residents will listen to their pleas for conservation and the elimination of waste of fuels, such as by not heating garages unnecessarily.

But steps at the state level still haven't been taken to determine what the supply to the state will be, where it will come from and how it might be handled. A spokesman for the emergency office said the governor was unhappy the legislature hadn't authorized the Wisconsin Public Service Commission to seek these answers.

The office has recommended a priority allocation system, if the need arises, with hospitals, nursing homes and residences at the top of the list; agricultural operations producing food, second, and essential services, such as fire, police, ambulance, and sewer and water next.

The below normal temperatures this month were topped Monday when the average temperature dropped to 25 degrees, 14 below normal. The temperature was 41 degrees, or one below normal on Nov. 2; 36 or four below normal, Nov. 3; 30 or nine below Nov. 4, and the temperature hit a low of 15 Tuesday and is expected to continue below normal.

Temperatures for the rest of this week are expected to be below normal, ranging from the 20s to the 40s. Normally, the range would be 29 to 48.

Fuel oil dealers evaluate the temperature by determining the heating degree days—that is, the average daily temperature and how far that is below 65 degrees, supposedly the satisfactory heating level.

2 injured as flames gut Appleton home

Two persons were treated and released at St. Elizabeth Hospital after suffering injuries in a fire which gutted a portion of the Edward L. Unmuth residence, 222 E. Spring St., about 4:30 a.m. today.

Unmuth's wife Lorraine, 58, suffered second degree burns to both hands and the bottom of one foot, while a tenant, Richard McDermott, 67, was treated for smoke inhalation.

Firemen said the blaze apparently broke out after a discarded cigarette set fire to a living room couch, located on the first floor of the two-story structure. Mrs. Unmuth was burned while attempting to put out the flames.

Firemen said she had gotten up about 4 a.m. to fix herself a sandwich. Unmuth said she first detected the fire when she saw sparks coming from the living room.

Five units from the Appleton Fire Department were called to the scene. They controlled the fire within 10 minutes, confining the flames to the living room area. They remained at the scene for about 1 1/2 hours.

Unmuth said he, McDermott and another tenant, Adrian Crumb, had been sleeping on the second floor, while Mrs. Unmuth and their son Mark, 11, were on the first floor. Firemen said there was extensive heat, smoke and water damage to the entire home.

Red Cross officials said this morning they are conducting a clothing drive for the Unmuth family. Persons requesting information concerning the types and sizes of clothing desired should contact the office at 110 E. North St.

A motion to leave the collection of the assessment the same as this year was passed, with Karl casting the only no vote. Karl said he voted no because he didn't know how much it would cost for collecting it, after Reichwald, forced into the situation and without voting power on the board, said he would let them know the cost involved after he had collected the assessment.

In other business, the board agreed to continue, with a caucus on the nomination of village officers, rather than change to nomination papers. A new method had been suggested last year when only five persons attended the annual caucus. Trustees whose terms expire are Marvin Gerhartz, Robert Schroeder and Matt Moehn.

Board committees for the coming year were announced: Negotiations: Chairman, Don VandeYacht, Bob Endries and Gaylord Unbehaun; board policy committee: Chairman, Al Volkmar, Fran Thiel and Bob Stanelle. Negotiations will begin after Jan. 1 and no decision has been made whether they will be closed or open sessions. Statistics show that 60 per cent of Wisconsin negotiating sessions are closed, while 40 per cent were conducted openly in varying degrees.

A report on the status of school lunches was presented by Unbehaun. In September, an average of 508 meals per day were served. The October average dropped to 440 after lunch prices were raised. Estimated losses on the program of $51 per day in September have been cut by approximately one-half. It is expected that the losses will decrease still further when the amount of lunches served rises because of cold weather and higher supermarket costs.

The board will continue to review the projected overtime pay of about $26,000 for next year for his investigators and traffic police.

An effort will be made to restore this amount to Spice's budget.

Two offices, register of deeds and abstractor, pay their own way from filing fees. The register of deeds budget is $36,573, while his anticipated revenues are $75,000. The abstract budget is $60,941 with anticipated revenues of $70,000.

lunch program periodically. Although no formal action was taken, the board recommended that white milk be served for four days and chocolate on Fridays only to students in kindergarten through sixth grade during their daily milk break. The district will receive a reimbursement of four cents per one-half pint toward the free milk program. Current prices are 7.53 cents for white and 7.92 cents for chocolate.

Under the new criteria established for Title I Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the district can expect to receive approximately $14,000, or about $1,800 more than last year. The funds are used for the remedial reading program and extended day kindergarten.

Notice was received of special assessments levied on Glenview Avenue for 186 feet of storm sewer at $742 and 188.54 feet of water main at $268. Unbehaun will represent the school at a hearing set for Monday and will seek to have the assessments deferred for a 10-year period as no development in the area is anticipated.

Unbehaun also reported on several bills now pending in the state Legislature that would affect the school systems on mandatory school lunch programs, starting dates, mandatory unemployment compensation and teacher negotiations. Unbehaun, while noting he was not necessarily in opposition to the contents of some of the bills, voiced definite opposition to the trend toward "further erosion of local controls."

Energy conserving guidelines for state buildings criticized

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The state Building Commission gave a chilly reception Tuesday to guidelines for conserving energy in state construction. State Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, set the tone for a two-hour discussion by criticizing the preclusion of air conditioning in the new buildings, even if the energy crisis disappears.

"You might as well cut out heat as air conditioning," Risser complained, contending lack of cooling would hurt employee productivity in hot summer weather.

The guidelines, which were tabled until Nov. 20, will govern the construction of one million square feet of space for state agencies over the next two years.

The buildings would be forbidden from having windows covering more than one-eighth of their outside walls, while insulation inside those walls would have to be three times as great as before.

Energy that could be saved during the first five years of heating the buildings would more than pay for the increased cost of insulation, Paul Brown, secretary to the commission said.

"Undoubtedly, the cost of fuel is going to go up, and that will force us to do these things in a few years anyway, guidelines or not," state engineer Ralph Culbertson said.

rather than expensive energy in the future.

Rep. Cletus Vanderperren, R-Green Bay, said added insulation might be a good idea in case Wisconsin ever has a repeat of the winter of 1936, when Vanderperren said the mercury never exceeded zero for 40 consecutive days.

The commission asked its staff to rewrite the guidelines and make them more flexible by its next meeting.

Lucey fears fuel crisis school closing

MADISON, Wis. — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey will join several other governors today for an "emergency meeting" with President Nixon on the energy crisis, a Lucey aide said Tuesday. News secretary Jeff Smoller said Lucey was invited to the White House as a member of the National Governors' Conference Executive Committee.

The governor has been told that the President's domestic council staff will ask for suggestions on possible national steps to deal with energy shortages, Smoller said.

On Tuesday, after helping open a state Emergency Energy Assistance Office, Lucey said he "wouldn't be surprised if we have to ask every elementary and secondary school in the state to close for January" because of a shortage of fuel oil.

Medical society discriminated in firing salesman

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The State Medical Society was guilty of discrimination last year when it fired a salesman who had suffered a heart disorder, a state hearing examiner ruled Tuesday.

Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations examiner Patrick O. Patterson recommended that the society be ordered to pay $1,353 to Harold F. Kinzie of La Crosse for back sick leave benefits owed him.

The finding must be approved by the department's three-man governing board before it becomes final.

Kinzie was a sales representative for the Medical Society's Wisconsin Physicians Service medical insurance. He was fired in April, 1972, for what the society claimed was inadequate performance.

Patterson ruled after a hearing that the perperance of evidence indicated Kinzie, 57, was fired because he had suffered a heart problem.

The society made no claim that the heart problem made Kinzie unable to efficiently perform his job, Patterson said.

14 convictions on auto dealer code

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Investigators enforcing Wisconsin auto dealers' code have obtained 14 convictions and more than $56,000 in penalties and settlements, the Division of Motor Vehicles said Tuesday.

The investigator force has been on the job nine months, inspecting more than 3,000 auto dealerships for compliance with the new administrative consumer-protection code governing dealers' sales and repairs.

The division said investigators handled 1,093 consumer complaints and that 23 court cases were initiated.

In addition to 14 convictions, three cases were dismissed and six are pending.

of assuring continued housing construction in the face of rising interest rates which are depressing the popularity of mortgages.

Banks and savings and loan associations would participate with the state underwriting at least $2 million in loans by using its borrowing powers.

The subsidy program, which might eventually be worth $40 million, would provide 7 per cent mortgage rates for families with modest income, compared with inflationary rates that have climbed to 9½ per cent on the regular market.

It was not decided what income groups would be eligible for the subsidized loans. Dale Nordeen, a Madison banker, said he "cannot see the state subsidizing people who are earning $15,000 to $16,000 a year."

The state would borrow in bulk amounts at 5½ per cent or less, lending it to individuals at 7 per cent.

"Any increase in housing anywhere helps," authority chairman Lawrence S. Katz said in reply to critics of the program.

The state program, he said, could replace federal funds which were lost when President Nixon cancelled housing subsidy programs.

Nixon is "writing off state housing agencies," he said.

"We cannot sit back and wait for the feds to come back in," he said. "They are not going to come back in for at least three years."

Katz is a Milwaukee bank vice president.

Democratic Rep. Edward Nager of Madison remarked: "I think we are trying to take steps that we cannot afford to take."

GOP leaders seek end to endorsement issue

BY TONY WALTER

Post-Crescent staff writer

WISCONSIN DELLS — State Republican party leaders Tuesday issued a call to delegates to attend a special January 12 convention to discuss the party's threatened endorsement policy and dictated specific instructions that the growing controversy be settled at that time.

The GOP's executive committee completed plans for the unique convention despite the fact that only last month it voted 16-5 to support the present endorsement policy.

State party delegates opened the door to this special convention last May when they passed a resolution requiring the 1974 convention to consider an amendment altering the policy that has existed for more than 40 years.

Republican party bylaws state that convention delegates shall by a majority vote endorse candidates for each of the five statewide constitutional offices as well as U.S. Senator. The Democratic party does not endorse before primary elections.

Several state senators, some of whom have indicated a desire to run for statewide office in 1974, led the anti-endorsement campaign at the 1973 convention.

The "endorsement convention" was the main event at the committee meeting which for only the third time was open to the news media.

While the party's more depressing financial matters were discussed behind closed doors of an executive session, the committee concerned itself primarily with the January convention. But even there a few problems arose. Former State Chairman Ody Fish led a move to relax the convention rules enough to allow amendments with a two-thirds vote but also backed fellow committee members by insisting that a decision, one way or the other, be made on the issue in January.

"I'm afraid of a runaway convention," said Fish with an apparent reference to the possibility of a small number of delegates might show up in January, leaving the endorsement question to be answered by less than a party majority.

Fish, as well as State Chairman David Sullivan and other party leaders, said they would rather see the convention bogged down by amendments than have it controlled by a busy faction of the party minority.

The rules, as adopted by the committee, prohibit the convention from delaying action on endorsement and even go so far as to disallow any suspension of the rules to disregard that rule.

Delegates at the January gathering will first consider removing the present endorsement policy whereby delegates support one party candidate before the primary elections.

If that move is successful, and ranking party leaders doubt it will be, the delegates will then consider a replacement policy allowing the convention to endorse if five of the nine district caucuses favor it.

The more liberal factions of the party support the abolishment of endorsement and argue that a more lively primary fight will bring added attention to GOP candidates.

These same interests point out that a non-endorsement policy in 1970 might have prevented the candidacies of Jack Olson and John Erickson that sunk the party $300,000 into debt.

Endorsement supporters claim that non-endorsement would allow non-Republicans to help choose GOP candidates for the general election, that contributions would be spread too thin because of two campaigns and that bitter primaries could lead to party splits.

The committee also decided that delegates from the 1973 convention be those designated for the January session. Party rules dictate that delegates pay their annual dues 60 days before the convention but all 1973 convention delegates are paid up until the end of the year and therefore qualify for the January session.

It was apparent Tuesday that GOP leaders were most anxious to have the endorsement controversy settled before the annual convention in May.

Resolution of the matter in January would avoid a sticky fight during an election year.

Study of party reforms welcomed

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent staff writer

WISCONSIN DELLS — A rising demand for reform of the structure and methods of the limping Republican party organization of Wisconsin was received with apparent cordiality by the state party executive here Wednesday, but its district leaders concluded that changes in the structure and purpose of the party apparatus will require time.

David Sullivan, new state GOP chairman, said he supports the views of those elements of the party that have demanded change in the organization and viewpoint lately and that he will choose a committee that will provide a forum for such discussion.

He was responding to a series of suggestions for change of management and a broadening of the party's base as typified recently by some prominent Republican state legislators, and several major local party units including that of Dane County.

Sullivan and his supporters on the committee easily turned down a motion of Walter Baltz, of LaCrosse, a district party chief, that the special state delegate convention summoned to Madison in January take up other reform questions as well as the issue of pre-primary endorsement of statewide candidates for office in primary elections.

Conservatives and moderates on the committee joined forces as they explained that issues proposing changes in position and mechanics ought to have statewide discussion and hearings.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pfeiffer, Green Bay, the Wisconsin member of the Republican National Committee and its special reform advisory commission, said that her group has been prepared to spend at least 20 months considering demands for similar changes in the mechanics and operations methods of the Republican party nationally.

Jack Olson, the last Republican nominee for governor and now a vice chairman of the state committee, said county party caucuses should review issues of organization change and funnel them ultimately into a state delegate convention agenda.

Muriel Coleman, head of the Young Republican Federation, said that a truly comprehensive review of reform proposals should include such issues as use of tax money for the funding of campaigns, an idea that is being embraced by leading Democrats.

The top level state party workers spent more than five hours at an opening meeting with only a single oblique reference to the hampers of the Republican national administration generated by the Watergate and related issues.

Rep. John Alberts, of Waukesha, who heads the state Assembly Republican campaign committee, said that some potential and expected contributors of funds are withholding their support and are using Watergate as an "excuse."

Alberts reminded that Republicans have not held the lower house of the legislature since 1960 and said the strategy in recruiting candidates and arranging for their funding next year will involve targeting of districts. His group thus far has designated 23 districts held by Democrats that can be recaptured for the Republicans under such a selective effort, he said.

Democrats now hold firm control of the lower house. Republicans rule the Senate and some powerful men in the party believe that its major effort next year should be to contain that house.

Rail cars again in short supply

BY DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Record freight shipments, spurred by a booming economy and a sharp rise in grain exports, have put a severe strain on the nation's railway freight system, causing some critical car shortages.

While the problem apparently has had no major impact so far on consumers, a number of manufacturers report difficulties in obtaining enough freight cars. Some have been switched to trucks.

Government figures indicate the current shortage involves some 33,000 cars a day, less than 2 per cent of the nation's 1.7 million car fleet but still a significant number.

While all types of freight cars are affected, among the hardest hit are covered hoppers used for transporting grain. Large wheat deals with the Soviet Union and other countries have greatly boosted grain shipments, which are currently running about 32 per cent above last year's levels.

"The worst car shortage in the nation's history came earlier this year with the movement of Russian wheat. Now with new bumper crops it looks like we are on the brink of it again," said a spokesman for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

To meet the crush, railroads have been forced to assign livestock cars and open-topped coal hoppers to grain shippers, causing car shortages elsewhere down the line.

"They used everything possible, even regular boxcars normally used for appliances and furniture," said Bill Goldstein, general manager of the Chicago Shippers Association, a nationwide group which handles bulk shipping for large retail chains. "Still the situation was critical."

Some observers blame part of the problem on the financial conditions of some of the railroads, which prevents them from buying enough new cars. However, the Association of American Railroads, a trade group, says that orders for new and rebuilt cars in the first eight months are more than double 1972 levels.

"Adding more cars to the nation's fleet isn't the total answer," said a spokesman for Burlington Northern. "The whole transportation pipeline is not geared to handle the tremendous amounts of grain we have been pushing into it in the last 15 months."

Grain is only part of the problem. Because of the strong economy, total freight shipments this year are so far running about 9 per cent ahead of last year's records.

Burlington Northern, for example, says it is short on virtually all kinds of cars, while the Penn Central and Chessie System acknowledge a shortage of cars used for shipping steel.

A spokesman for Ford Motor Co. said, "We have been experiencing a shortage of rail cars for the past year. As a result, we've had to turn to other forms of transportation, mainly trucks, and pay a premium for this."

And R.J. Breittinger, traffic and transportation director for Westinghouse Electric, said: "We're being affected, but we're not missing any shipments. We just have to spend a great deal of time finding rail cars to ship with."

Lucey credits state's budget for new jobs

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Patrick Lucey said Monday that new jobs in Wisconsin nearly doubled during the first month after he signed the state's 1973-75 budget into law in July.

The chief executive said in remarks for the Green Bay Rotary Club luncheon that 1,700 new jobs generated by new business development was almost twice the average of the previous eight months.

The Democratic governor said the job increase was one indication that his administration is succeeding in its efforts to achieve "massive property tax relief and aggressive economic development."

In 1973, a Green Bay resident who owned a $25,000 house paid a total of $772 in net city, county and school property taxes, Lucey said.

But in 1974, he added, a Green Bay resident who owns a $25,000 house can expect to pay $700 — a 10 per cent reduction.

"In this period of record inflation, is there any other expense in your daily lives that has stayed the same, much less gone down 10 per cent?" Lucey asked.

The governor said provisions limiting local property tax increases were made part of the budget in an effort to stop the spiraling cost of government.
